

Homecoming, 1940:

Tied in a blazing scarlet band, the homecoming celebration package is slated for delivery today. Hundreds of alumni, still faithful to the scarlet and cream banner, still proud of their alma mater, still enthusiastic about returning for a week end are converging on Lincoln from all over the nation. Why? Because they love Nebraska and this university, because the tradition and memory of their school years still means much to them, because the longing to "come home" and see what the "youngsters" are doing must be satisfied.

Homecoming is probably the most hallowed tradition this university has. When those men who made this school great are honored, when those men who carried on the undergraduate traditions are remembered, when those men who carried the name of this university to all sections of the nation are recognized... that's homecoming.

Undergraduates... treat these alumni with all the respect and honor they deserve. It was they who made this university great, it was they who left it to you to improve and to do the things they could not do.

Tomorrow, at 2 p. m., the treat of the celebration will be served up on Memorial stadium sod when the Jones Boys encounter Mizzou's clawing tigers. We "youngsters" will probably learn a good deal about how to cheer for the team once the alumni get their yelling started. Don't let them outdo you.

And tomorrow evening, when you're entertaining them at parties and dances, let them know they own the town, the university, the state, and everything in them. Kings and Queens for the week end they are.

And all the while, think of just how you want to be treated when it's your turn next year or in the years following. That's the way you should treat the homecomers.

Margaret Hoppert, Betty Shullaw win passes in theater contest

Betty Shullaw, center foreground, and Margaret Hoppert, right background, wearing dark sweater, were the two luckiest coeds on the campus yesterday—they caught the footballs which entitled them to a free entry to the Varsity theatre; Margaret, an A.O.P.I. for herself and her whole sorority, Betty, a barb, for 20 of football coach, and Clarence Swanson, end on the Husker team in '23. The Corn Cob glee club will lead group singing.

Dentists register.

College of dentistry alumni will register Friday morning from 9 to 12 and attend a reunion at 2 p. m. to hear Dr. Edward S. Stasne of the Mayo clinic discuss "Oral Diagnosis." Dental alumnae and their wives will attend a banquet at Hotel Cornhusker Friday evening, and Saturday morning open house will be held at the college of dentistry in Andrews from 9 to 12.

First dinner meeting of the national board of directors of the university alumni association will be held at 6 p. m. tonight in the Union. Among those attending will be Dean Alvin E. Evans of the University of Kentucky law school representing zone 6, J. Reginald Miller of Des Moines and James F. Miller of Kansas City representing zone 1, and W. Harold Otton of Milwaukee representing zone 2. Darrel T. Lane of Washington, D. C., may attend to represent zone 9.

Roy Petsch and Bob Burruss, co-captains for the Missouri game, did the throwing... from the roof of the Varsity theatre.

Attendance at the celebration was so thick that traffic proceeded with difficulty.

Time Is Money on "Double or Nothing"

Walter Compton, affable "emcee" (left) explains to Frank Forrest, featured singer, why time is the essence of the new quiz show, "Double or Nothing," heard on KFOR every Sunday from 5 to 5:30 p. m.

On the program each contestant will be asked a question worth $5. If answered correctly, the guest is then requested to talk on the subject for one minute. As the seconds tick away, Quizzer Compton drops from one to ten silver dollars in a small, individual strong box. These additional prizes are based on the number of times the contestant makes interesting or informative statements. Then Compton asks the participant to answer another question for "Double or Nothing."
