It is DAILY NEBRASKAN tradition
 That when the editor is gone
 His pinch-hitters must stick
 To the subject of Hollyhocks on the mall.
 (The flowers that bloom in the spring are not exactly forbidden either.)
 Well,
 The flowers that bloom in the spring tra-la
 Have nothing to do with the case.

The Nebraskan's on the spot

You see why...

The "Barb" is paid for by a flat appropriation of $250 from the student publications fund, which consists of DAILY NEBRASKAN profits plus Cornhusker profits. Naturally, we feel a bit concerned over what appears in a publication to which we contribute so much.

When the "Barb" was approved, its sponsors promised the publications board and the DAILY editors that the paper was to be used solely for "organizational purposes" and not to ballyhoo the barb party. With great shaking heads they disclaimed any intentions of using the bulleting to do any political bandwagoning. For...

The Student Council ruling on election has it that no material may be printed, mimeographed or...you know the rest...on behalf of any political candidates.

On page one of yesterday's "Barb," over no one's name, under no headline, not in quotes, supposedly leading from the story above, we read:

"because politics is only a means, do not forget that for the present it is an indispensable means. Only thru a united Barb front may the Barb ideal be realized, may class line be erased, and the advantages of the Barb Organization achieved.

"When men like our last year's president, Art Hendrickson, worked five to six hours a day for the Barb cause...is it asking too much for each Barb to take 15 minutes off three times a year to vote?"

If this is not urging support for the Barb candidates what is it? For how else can the barbs support the "Unite Barb Front" except by voting for its candidate?

On page two, one-inch letters in black type ask "What Has Hueftle got?" and the story answers,

"The Barbs have come to rely on Gilbert Hueftle. Whether sustaining a rally with his enthusiasm, or carrying out a job requiring patience, too. People instinctively like 'Gib'...No, there's no doubt but that 'Gib' can be counted on for results."

Now, what unaffiliated student active enough in barb organizations to call himself a "Barb" does not know that "Gib" is the "Barb Front's" candidate for junior class president?

The DAILY, indeed, is willing to give the "Barb" another chance, that is, will wait until next Tuesday, campus election day, to pass judgment on the "Barb's" honorable intentions. Will the Council?

ELECTION AFTERMATH.
 Rallying to a call—"United We Stand"—leaders of democratic and republican organizations will join with other patriotic Americans at a mass meeting in Carnegie hall today in a three-quarter hour broadcast demonstrating American unity.

The programs will be an answer to foreign powers, unaccustomed to such action after a close presidential race. The program will be heard here from 9:15 to 10 p. m. over a part of the CBS network.

Newbold Morris, president of the New York City Council will act as master of ceremonies for the broadcast. Paul Whiteman will conduct the musical portions of the program. Listeners will hear the Carnegie Hall audience open the broadcast with the singing of "America." The concluding number, "God Bless America," will be sung by Irving Berlin, its author.

HIGHLIGHTS.
 Other highlights for today include the "Big Town" broadcast at 7 p. m. over KFAB. The show starring Edward G. Robinson, will be entitled, "Music on Parole."

 At 8 p. m. over KFAB, the "Texaco Star Theater," starring Fred Allen will feature Carla Thompson torch-singing ex-waitress as a special guest from the "Major Bowes Amateur Hour."

Britain—

 The U. S. to try to do. Their answers, in percentages, are given after each statement:

Keep the U. S. out of war...55%
 Help England, even at the risk of getting into the war...45%

This is not what their elders think. A Gallup poll recently pointed out that the majority of Americans believe the British are holding our first line of defense and helping them is more important than merely trying to steer away from the conflict.

Students, however, have repeatedly shown their tendency toward isolationism and their strong desire to avoid another war. For two years the Surveys has been gauging collegiate sentiment the nation over. It has found, for example, that majorities (in October 1939) would not volunteer should the U. S. send troops to help England and her allies, opposed (in October 1939) changing the neutrality law to allow any belligerent to buy American supplies, opposed (in February 1940) compulsory military training, and felt (in February 1940) our most important problem was to keep the country out of war.

These opinions have been tempered somewhat by the impact of recent events such as the fall of France, U. S. conscription, and the spread of the war. An indication of this cooling of opinion is the large group, comprising 45 percent of the students, who at this time approve helping England, even if we eventually have to fight.

Why does the majority of students believe that our efforts should emphasize our keeping out of war? A University of Rochester freshman gives this reason: "We have enough trouble here."

Listen frosh! Remember that no flag, no march

Those freshmen students who were standing on the upper mall around 5 p. m. yesterday with belts, shoes and polished brass, were probably harboring malicious thoughts since the scheduled parade didn't come off. Time-honored custom decrees that when there is no flag flying from Nebraska hall there will be no parade. But the frosh didn't know that.
 According to Colonel Thuis there will be a parade next Tuesday in honor of Armistice day.
