Awgwan Flash to come out next week

Second issue to contain ilustrated 'gore' section, other radical changes

More pictures, better copy and funnier jokes are promised students in the second Awgwan Flash by George Frischer, editor, who announced today that the next issue will be out next week.

"We received a great deal of Hosp was a guest. experience from our first issue that will help us a lot in the remaining issues, Frischer said, "so students can look forward to radical changes in Flash."

Addition of a Gore section similar to that of last year's Awgwan is being planned for the next issue. Pictures will be used extensively in this section.

Greatest criticism of the first Flash concerned the size and clearness of the pictures, and that situation has now been remedied, editors said.

Staff appointments are now being made, and the complete staff will be named soon.

Nebraska Scholar available to grad students Friday

The first issue of The Nebraska Scholar, publication edited quarterly by the graduate school, will appear Friday. The publication will be available to students in the graduate school, whom it will especially concern. It will also be mailed to educators over the entire state.

One of the feature articles of the first quarterly issue will be an article by Prof. W. H. Werkmeister of the department of philosophy.

Littler, Pugsley expelled from group for non-attendance at meetings; coalition split recognized

By Bill Palmer

The fires of battle burned high in the Student Council meeting last night as one of the biggest arguments of the year welled up when progressives and liberals led by Chrls Petersen, progressive floor leader, charged the barbs with open backing of the barb candidate for junior class president in the barb newsheet, "The Barb."

Council election rules prohibit any printed, mimeographed, typed, or otherwise published material in behalf of any candidate, except the im> partial announcements of the candidates in the press.

In a speech in which he declared the barb sheet had become the house organ of the barb party, Petersen charged the paper with violating the Associated Women Students' rule that no woman is to be supported by any political faction. "The Barb" stated that the barb party will support 100 percent any candidate, man or woman, endorsed by the Barb Union. Petersen said that this was against a similar board reso-

Phys ed majors build bridge over creek near cabin

A sturdy new bridge now spans Stevens creek which flows past the WAA cabin east of Lincoln. Realizing the need for a means of crossing the creek in order to use the ground on the other side, 14 phys ed majors built the bridge finishing it last weekend. They were directed and helped by Major Cruse and the military department.

Five yards long and made of yellow pine, the bridge greatly improves the surroundings and increases the usefulness of the cabin. Material was paid for by the WAA. The present plan is to build an outdoor fireplace on the bank of the creek opposite the cabin.

Rifle tests close

Intramural matches to choose the best rifie team will close tomorrow. All members are urged to have their scores in by then.

A new score board has been made which will record the scores of the expected 12 matches.

Having 81 percent of its members' pictures taken, the Delta Gamma sorority is coming nearer winning a free Cornhusker than any of the other sororities or fraternities in the present section of the Greek picture-taking contest. With a 39 percent record, Phi Kappa Psi is tied for the lead with Alpha Gamma Rho, leading yesterday, in the group of fraternities competing in the contest. The juniors, having 81 of their pictures taken, are creeping up on the seniors, who are represented by 87 photographs.
