

Bulletin

BARB UNION.
All Barb Union members are to meet at the campus studio Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. to have their Cornhusker picture taken.

PRE-SOCIAL-WORK MAJORS.
Pre-social-work majors will hold their monthly luncheon Tuesday at noon in parlors X and Y of the Union. Miss Elizabeth Dewell will be the guest speaker, and will discuss some phase of child welfare in Nebraska.

BARB UNION.
All Barb Union members are to meet at the campus studio Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. to have their Cornhusker picture taken.

THETA SIGMA PHI.
Theta Sigma Phi will meet in Ellen Smith hall at 5 p. m. today. Plans for a matrix table will be discussed.

NEWMAN CLUB.
Newman club will hold discussion groups today from 4 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 8 p. m. in room 316 of the Union. A special discussion group will be held at Love hall at 7:30 p. m.

Fares--

(Continued from Page 1.)
from Pasadena, you can get by on a one way ticket costing $26.30. Twenty-five or more persons can charter a special bus to the game for about $32 apiece.

And if you have $151.50, you can spend New Year's eve in Omaha and fly to the game. This includes return passage. One way costs $84.20, but you must catch all planes for the coast in Omaha.

According to the most recent reports, there is still no charge if you want to hitch-hike.

Fordham university, celebrating its centennial year, has initiated a centenary fund drive for $1,360,000.

Broadway Collegian

By Joe Whitley

New York City, Dec. 3.—At least two attendants at the River House, Manhattan refuge for Charlie Chaplin, have decided to stop reading stories about how Hitler and Stalin are sneaking all kinds of ungentle folk into this country.

The other night they saw a be-whiskered man come stalking into the lobby, carrying a small black bag and looking as if he might be straight from the steppes. He planted himself in one of the upholstered chairs and announced that he was waiting for Mr. Chaplin, not that it was any of their business. His name? That didn't matter.

While one of them tried to lure him into a discussion of Karl Marx, the other sneaked out and trotted in two gendarmes.

Just as they were about to hustle him off to the bastille, Chaplin rushed up and identified him as Al Hirschfeld, an old friend.

The two attendants have been given a copy each of Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends, etc.," courtesy of the management.

POSTLUDE.

There has been a sharp demand for bouncers since the recent Cornell-Dartmouth affair.

You all know, of course, how the Cornell fathers gallantly returned that extra down as well as the seven points that had been responsible for their brief 7-3 victory.

For that they have been hailed as great sportsmen, but the local bookmakers who lay the green on the line, are unimpressed. Hence the upturn in the bouncer profession.

The other night we were standing in one of these places of evil, wondering how the heck we ever happened to bet on Army to beat Pennsylvania, when in rushed a florid gentleman who had laid two quid on Dartmouth.

"Cornell gave Dartmouth the game," he announced. Then he demanded his gold.

The bookie suggested that he get it from Cornell.

Then came the deluge.

The florid one wasted a perfectly good bottle of Scotch by heaving it.

He, in turn, was flung into the street by the two hired muscle-men.

As they hurtled out of the door they stumbled into a colored citizen carrying a bass violin.

The four bumped a great fat woman who was walking past in the rain and she took her umbrella and boffed them all about, finally sending the quartet scurrying.

Kibitzers swore that it was better than the disputed game.

WITH DIGNITY DEPARTMENT.

A French professor from NYU was standing on the corner of Fifth Avenue and 58th Street the other night, swinging his cane and waiting for a green light.

Came the go signal and he stepped off the curb, only to hop back like Tom Harmon dodging a tackler as a taxi came roaring around the corner and stopped at the hack stand with a great screeching of brakes. And a large grin by the driver.

The professor bowed gravely, stepped in front of the taxi and smashed both headlights with his cane, bowed again, and walked away into the night.

Ag students sweep top honors in Chicago livestock exposition

Students representing Nebraska at the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago swept top honors in one division, and fourth place in team competition. In the individual scoring competition the Nebraskans gained places in three divisions.

In the white corn competition for region six Nebraskans won honors by sweeping first, second and third places. John Ballweg of Spalding was first; Helen McManaman, also of Spalding, second, and W. E. Brady of Champion, placed third.

High honors.

According to a telegram received today from Prof. M. A. Alexander, coach, the university's live stock judging team in competition with 31 other teams won a fourth place.

In individual scoring in the team competition, Marvin Kruse, Nebraska team member from Loretto, placed ninth; Don Baird, Wayne, placed eighth in hog judging, and Oscar Tegtmeier, Buchard, was tenth in judging sheep. Other team members are Milan Ross, Lyons, and Arthur Trimble, Gothenburg.

The Nebraska team was also ranked fourth in judging sheep and fifth in the cattle and horse divisions.

Congratulations Nebraska

We Know You Will Win

Here's a Suggestion for Those Who Will Go to See You Do It...

Take a Kodak or Cine Kodak with You and Bring Home (in stills or movies) a Picture Story of the Victory.

The Parade of Roses will be a gorgeous display to take in natural colors.

Kodaks as Low as $3.95 Cine Kodaks $29.50 up

Eastman Kodak Stores, Inc.

1221 O Street

For the MILITARY BALL
Corsages $1 up
Beautiful Corsages
Gardenias
Roses
Swansonia
Carnation
Sweet Peas
Violets

Your Choice of Flowers Delivered Free

Place Your Order Today
S. S. KRESGE CO.
Phone 2-4134

FLASH!
It's here again

SEE, in the new DECEMBER issue:

- Beautiful Girls.
- Movie of the Month.
- Why Students go to Iowa U.
- Politics Again.
- Campus Quips.
- Hot Flashes

On sale in Sosh and Ag hall Wednesday, Dec. 4

Eye It Buy It
Awgwan FLASH

A Xmas Gift from Mangel's

Pajamas
Gowns
Robes
Hose

All modestly priced

Congratulations To a Truly Great Team!

DAVIS SCHOOL SERVICE

"A Good Teachers Agency"

1918 - 1940

COME IN AND SEE US
643 Stuart Building

MANGEL'S

1225 "O"

Just Say "CHARGE IT"