Basketballers start season come Friday

Sodaks open 18-game schedule; three ace veterans returning

By Bill Flory.

With a fancy 18-game schedule before them, the Nebraska basketball team has little time for "bowl fever" and as a result they are busily engaged in preparation for the opener at Vermillion, S. D., Dec. 6.

Under direction of Charles Armstrong and Coach Brown the Huskers are building around veterans Don Fitz, forward, Al Randall, center, Hartman Goetze, forward, and Sidney Held, last year's outstanding sophomore guard. Replacements must be found for Harry Pitcaithley, Frank Tallman, Irvin Yaffee and Bob Therein, all of whom were lost by graduation. Returning letter winners who are gunning for places on the starting five are, Johnny Hay, Lyle King, Chuch Vacanti, Les Livingstone and Max Hubert, a squadman of two years ago.

Promising sophomores

Outstanding sophomores who have been practicing daily include John Fitzgibbon, John Thompson, Wayne Kellogg, Warren Marquis, Bob Bramson, Ted Greene, Stan Huffman, and Max Young.

The squad will leave for the Pacific coast and a game with the University of California on Dec. 26. The next evening they will be hosts of the University of Stanford at Palo Alto. There the team will be endeavoring to set the pace for the football team who has a date with the Stanford football team on the first day of the New Year.

After the affair with Sanford the team heads northward where they will meet the Oregon State college team at Corvallis. Then back to Lincoln and a tussle with the University of Wisconsin the fourth of January. This winds up the non-conference slate and the regular round robin with the Big Six teams starts Jan 7, with Kansas State college.
