Everyone is talking about this "T" formation employed by the rampaging Stanford Indians and then shudder again when recalling the licking the Chicago Bears, using the same system, gave the Washington Redskins Sunday to the tune of 73 to 0.

But look at it this way. The Stanford Model T has to buck up against and race a streamlined Nebraska machine that has only backfired once and that to the smoothest job rolling this fall—the Minnesota juggernaut.

Look at it from this angle. The Indians don't have the spare replacements in quality that the Huskers possess. Any machine needs reinforcements and the Scarlet substitutes are above the Cardinal's level.

Here's a little leftover from the Redskin-Bear professional game played last Sunday. The Chicago boys had been booting each extra point by placement after their numerous touchdowns (11 in all) and after each kick the ball didn't return from the crowd behind the goal posts.

On the tenth attempt, a Bear sub raced to Referee "Red" Frie-sell and said:

"Hey, Red, tell those guys not to kick. There aren't any more balls on the bench." So the Bears obligingly switched to a pass play and still made their added point.

Captaining the Husker basketballers in their first home game this winter will be Towering Al Randall, senior center, and former Omaha South cage ace . . .

From the Ka Leo O Hawaii, the University of Hawaii's official student voice (and to whom it may concern): "The basketball team of the Engineer Aces defeated the lowly Hui Alakai quintet by the overwhelming score of 46-0 to pace the Novice A division." . . . And we had our money on the whitewashed Hui Alakains.

Footballer Jack Salyards of Omaha U. has an unusual hobby. . . . He builds model football stadiums. . . . Altho he is a tackle, Iron Mike Enich of Iowa was placed on Grantland Rice's all-midwestern team at guard. . . .

Add humor note: The report is that Arndt Jorgens, New York Yankee backstop understudy to Bill Dickey is retiring. . . . That's a case where the little man who wasn't there becomes invisible. . . .

Professional grid magnates draw 6 Husker footballers

The call of the professional football leagues went to six Nebraska football players when the annual draft session was held in Washington, D. C., Tuesday.

Backs Hermie Rohrig, Harry Hopp and Butch Luther, End Ray Prochaska, Tackle Royal Kahler, and Guard Warren Alfson were the Huskers selected.

The Cleveland Rams drew Luther and Prochaska; the Green Bay Packers, Rohrig; the Detroit Lions, Hopp; the Philadelphia Eagles, Kahler, and the Brooklyn Dodgers, Alfson.

Six more from loop. Other Big Six Stars drafted were Bernie Weiner of Kansas State, Paul Christman and Ray Schultz of Missouri, Harold Lahar and John Martin of Oklahoma, and Hank Wilder of Iowa State.

Mike Enich of Iowa, Johnny Knolla of Creighton, Stanford's Norm Standlee and Hugh Gallarneau and Tommy Harmon and Johnny Kimbrough of Michigan and Texas A. & M., respectively, are others of noteworthy interest to be drawn.

The DAILY NEBRASKAN

Alfson high in poll 80 college sports editors

And still the all-star teams roll in. A poll of 80 college sports editors representing colleges and universities in 37 states, selected recently, compiled nine teams of the better national football players.

Nebraska's Warren Alfson was placed at guard on the second team, Forrest Behm, Husker tackle, was on the eighth team and Eddie Schwartzkopf was at a guard slot on the ninth team.

Gaining honorable mention were Huskers Clarence Herndon at tackle, Bob Burruss at center and Harry Hopp at halfback. As a nominee for consideration, Royal Kahler, Husker tackle, was also mentioned. The first team:

- End.....Dave Rankin, Purdue
Tackle.....Nick Debus, Cornell
Guard.....Bob Seffridge, Tennessee
Center.....Rudy Mucha, Washington
Guard.....Ed Molinski, Tennessee
Tackle.....Mike Enich, Iowa
End.....Gene Goodreault, Boston College
Back.....Tom Harmon (Capt.), Michigan
Back.....John Kimbrough, Texas A & M
Back.....George Francis, Minnesota
Back.....Francis Escapan, Pennsylvania

Only one of the writers failed to mention Harmon in the ballot and on 53 slips, he ranked as the player-of-the-year. Only two voters failed to mention Kimbrough and 14 liked him as the year's outstanding player.

One voter failed to name a single man who made the first team. Seven voters named eight men on their first teams who made the final. The DAILY'S sports editor was among those seven to select eight on the final first eleven.

Huskers feted by Omaha N club at dinner

OMAHA.—The Gate City of Nebraska opened its arms and played host to the Cornhusker football team here Wednesday night. Husker supporters, numbering 600, were in attendance at the Omaha N club's dinner in honor of the 1940 Rose Bowl bound gridders.

The Biffer himself was one of the head speakers as well as the squad members who accompanied him to Omaha. Lawrence "Shorty" Shaw was the toastmaster.

Alumni to rally. E. L. Stancliff, president of the Nebraska Alumni club of Southern California, gave his views as to the plans for the thousands of Nebraskans in California who will rally to the Husker cause in preparation for the New Year's celebration on the west coast.

Members of Frederick Ware's all-Big Six football team in the World-Herald, received rings. Huskers so honored were Warren Alfson, Eddie Schwartzkopf, Harry Hopp, Hermie Rohrig, Walter Luther, Vike Francis, Forrest Behm, and Ray Prochaska.

Tickets—

The four Nebraskans made the trip to the coast because, they said, "The tickets which reach Lincoln were snapped up so fast we didn't get a chance. So we climbed into our car as fast as we could when we heard there was going to be a public sale of tickets here."

Here is your 'glamour boy' eleven of the Big Six loop

By Mary Kerrigan.

In this, the month of all-star football teams, we present a different all-eleven. This particular lineup is composed of the boys with the "beautiful pans." Favoritism for Nebraska gridders is shown by naming four to this squad, but we know these four Huskers and can vouch for the authenticity of their good looks.

Listed among the Nebraska "good lookers" are Warren Alfson, the 1938 prize "beauty" as picked by a campus survey for the "Awwgan"; Forrest Behm, the ROTC student high and mighty; Fred Meier, a center who is the center of attention in a crowd of girls; and George "Bus" Knight, who rivals Wayne Morris of the movies in gridiron glamour.

Lovable lineup

Others on the team are Louis "Tree-Top" Sharpe of Oklahoma because he's tall, dark and handsome; Doug Graves of Iowa State at the other end for similar reasons; Howard Teeter of Oklahoma for his manly physique and combined good looks; and Bill Nichols of Kansas State for his beauty, fill out the line.

Besides Bus Knight in the backfield, we had to place Paul Christman of Missouri who is the Tiger gridiron Adonis; Marvin Vandaveer of Kansas who can dazzle the fans with the best of them; and lastly Paul Darling of Iowa State who personifies that name in every respect.

The coach, yes, we have to have one to instruct the boys, is General Jim Yeager of Iowa State. With a ready and winning smile and his "fatherly attitude," he rounds out this team of Big Six "glamour boys." The lineup:

- End—Louis "Spiffy" Sharpe, Oklahoma.
Tackle—Howard "Tarzan" Teeter, Oklahoma.
Guard—Warren "Adonis" Alfson, Nebraska.
Center—Fred "Masterful" Meier, Nebraska.
Guard—Bill "Nifty" Nichols, Kansas State.
Tackle—Forrest "Beautiful" Behm, Nebraska.
End—Douglas "Glamorous" Graves, Iowa State.
Quarterback—George "Knockout" Knight, Nebraska.
Halfback—Paul "Delightful" Darling, Iowa State.
Halfback—Marvin "Vivacious" Vandaveer, Kansas.
Fullback—Paul "Calamity" Christman, Missouri.
Coach—Jim "Yearning" Yeager, Iowa State.

All-university wrestle list swells to 54

Entries for the all-university wrestle to be held in the coliseum Thursday and Friday afternoons rose to 54 with the closing time for entries set at noon today.

Preliminaries will be run off starting at 4 p. m. today with the finals on Friday at 4 p. m. Weighing in of candidates will be held this morning in the coliseum basement.

No lettermen or varsity performers are allowed to participate but will referee all bouts instead. The matches will be five minutes in length and if no fall has occurred after the first minute of each bout, there will be a flipping of a coin to determine who is to receive the top position in the next break.

The scoring will be based as follows: One point for a bring down, one point for one minute on top and a maximum of two per bout, four points for near fall, two for a reverse, and one for an escape. Late entries:

Sidney Campbell wins trip to Rose Bowl game

Sidney Campbell, president of the architectural society, was elected to represent the society at the Rose Bowl game. Campbell was winner in a drafting competition which won him a ticket to the game and $30 expense money.

Marquette and Nebraska both seek first wins

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Marquette and Nebraska, both defeated in their season openers, will be out for victory spelled with a capital "V," Saturday night, when the two get together on the Husker coliseum court.

The Cornhusker quintet lost in a double overtime game last Friday to the University of South Dakota, 40-39, and Marquette lost to Wisconsin last Saturday 38-32.

Two sophomores are expected to be in the Blue and Gold starting lineup along with some seasoned veterans. Mike Poja, forward, and Jerry Schudrowitz, guard, are the first year men probably in the Hilltop lineup.

Played in 1934.

This will be the second game between the two teams. The Hilltoppers won the first time in Milwaukee, 25-22, in 1934. Officials will be Jack North, Highland Park, referee, and Gene Kemper, Topeka, umpire.

Minus such stars as Bobby Deneen, Bill McDonald, Ralph Amsden and Bill staffed of last year's team, besides such withdrawals as Reserves George Colentine, Jack Nagle, Tony Kelly and George Sutter, Marquette goes into the caging wars this winter with slim hopes. Hilltop fans are certain of one thing, however, namely that Coach Bill Chandler, now in his eleventh season here, will get the most out of the material available.

Best news emanating from Marquette caging headquarters is that Big Bill Komenich, huge Gary, Ind., guard who was the main-spring of a brilliant showing by the varsity in the first semester of last season has regained his eligibility. Komenich ran into scholastic difficulties during the second semester last winter, and the team slumped with him out of the lineup.

Six lettermen.

There are six other lettermen on the Hilltop squad in Bob von Bereghy, Gary, Ind., and Jimmy Reavley, Milwaukee, former guards who are now working at forward posts; Matt Reichl, Wau-sau, Wis., and Bill Rogers, Wau-watosa, Wis., centers; Bernol Ketchum, Milwaukee, forward, and Charles Hammer, Milwaukee, guard.

Sophomore forwards include Bill Chandler, jr., Wauwatosa, the coach's son, and Eugene O'Brien, Mike Poja and Mike Swieczak, Milwaukee. Novice guards are Gene Joyce, Antigo, Wis.; Dennis Manning, Chicago, Ill., and Frank Rozga, Norman Ruck and Jerry Schudrowitz, Milwaukee. A newcomer among the centers is Bob Rosendahl, Hurley, Wis.

Tom McCarthy, Milwaukee, is a holdover guard, while John Good-year, LaGrange, Ill., junior forward, and Franklin Schweers, Shawano, Wis., sophomore center, will report from the football squad.
