Kansas nips Husker five, 55-53

Sid Held, Engleman 24 apiece

WINTER FINALE

Saturday night closed the basketball season for Nebraska.

Saturday night closed the indoor track season for Nebraska.

Saturday night closed the home swimming season for Nebraska.

Saturday night closed the home wrestling season at Nebraska.

Saturday night marked the end of the major winter sports at Nebraska and introduced the call for all spring sports.

FEW REMAIN

The grapplers have remaining the Big Six meet this weekend at Manhattan, Kas., and the National Collegiate matches at Bethlehem, Pa., at Lehigh university.

The mermen have dual meets this weekend coming up with Colorado State and the University of Colorado.

The Husker gymnasts have two matches remaining and both in Lincoln. Minnesota comes here next Saturday and Illinois Normal university meets the gym team on a week from Monday.

That is all that is left on the Nebraska winter sport program.

COMES SPRING

And now with spring just around the corner, the outdoor sports will come into their own.

The baseball team reports for the first spring call Monday afternoon to Coach Wilbur Knight.

Also on Monday, the first spring practice for the 1941 football team will be inaugurated. Coach Biff Jones is looking for a large turnout despite the losses from the 1940 squad by graduation and the smaller (than usual) frosh team in quantity.

MINOR SPORTS

Ready to get in some early practice licks now are the golf and tennis candidates. Already members of the respective squads are warming up in the basement of the coliseum taking practice swings and getting in shape.

Alto minus their number one men—Harold Rundle in tennis and Bill Mowbray in golf—the net and link squads will be even larger in turnouts this spring. Interest in these two sports is taking an upswing at Nebraska.

More power to them!

Baseball schedule

- April 11-12, to be filled.
- April 18-19, Kansas State at Manhattan.
- April 25-26, Missouri at Columbia.
- April 28-29, Minnesota at Lincoln.
- May 2-3, Oklahoma at Lincoln.
- May 8-9, Iowa State at Ames.
- May 12-13, Kansas at Lincoln.
- May 16-17, Iowa State at Lincoln.
- May 20-21, California at Lincoln.

Sig Nus, ATOs in finals of I-M frat waterpolo Monday

Sigma Nu and Alpha Tau Omega will meet in the finals of the intramural fraternity waterpolo Monday night in the coliseum pool.

The Sig Nus defeated the Phi Gams, 9-4, to enter the final match, while the ATOs trounced the Phi Psis, 16-5.

Gridders report for first spring practice Monday

Maj. Biff Jones sounds a call for all football candidates to report for the first spring meeting, Monday afternoon in the stadium.

Freshmen, members of the 1940 Scout Club, and returning lettermen to the 1941 team are required to report for practices thruout the spring.

was an outstanding bulwark in level-heading the Kansans at times in the heat of the contest. In addition, Allen scored 16 points.

Bob Allen shines.

"Phog Junior" made an equal number of points each half—eight—and was the pivot-man on the greater share of the Jay plays which usually saw Engleman finally pour the ball thru the meshes.

But then Nebraska was not laying back all of this time. The Huskers started slow, rallied, crept ahead, and then held the Jays to a 27-23 half time margin.

After the intermission, the Kansans went to work again and built up an advantage that saw the Jays leading by 11 points with nine minutes remaining with the score at 50-39.

Huskers wake up.

Then the Huskers went on a scoring orgy of their own that saw them almost duplicate the finish which they were triumphant in last week over Oklahoma, by coming back to tie the game up at 52 all only to let the lead slip away for a last time.

During those last hectic seconds which saw the Huskers come from behind, the 6,500 people were standing on their feet and shouting above the official's whistle.

Sid Held, Don Fitz, and Hartmann Goetze all contributed valuable baskets to bring the count at 52-all. With a minute to go, Engleman dribbled in for a setup.

Fouls are close.

Allen fouled Held with 40 seconds remaining but capitalized on only one of the free tosses. Five seconds later, Don Fitz fouled Allen which made it the full quota for Don. Phog Junior calmly slipped the gratis flip thru the hoop.

In the final 10 seconds, Goetze and Held both made fouls on the Jays, but the latter took the ball each time on a throw-in from out-of-bounds and controlled the sphere until the final gun.

Retracking the account of the battle, Howard Engleman and Bob Allen stood head and shoulders above their teammates in play.

For Nebraska, Junior Letterman Sid Held stole the show. Lanky Sid dropped 24 points—the same as Engleman—thru the hoops to take scoring honors for the Huskers. Don Fitz tallied 8 for second high, while Al Randall and John Thompson each contributed 6 to the Husker cause.

Fitz, Randall—last game.

This was the last basketball game for Seniors Don Fitz and "Alpine Al" Randall in Husker cage uniforms.

Making their last appearance on the Nebraska hardwood for Kansas were Seniors Howard Engleman, Bob Allen, Norman Sanne-

NYA employment reaches new peak during February

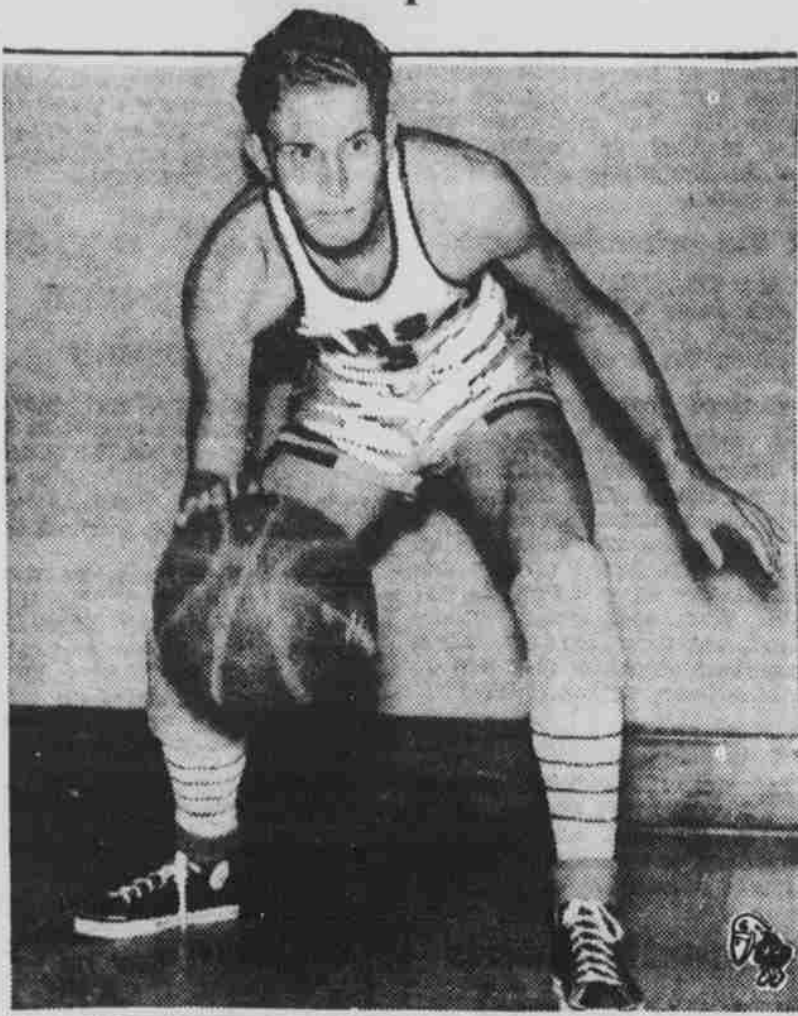

Youth employment on the NYA out-of-school work program reached a new peak of 485,583 young men and young women during the week ending Feb. 8, it was announced today by Aubrey Williams, administrator of the National Youth Administration. Nebraska had a total of 5,050.

While the employment on the NYA out-of-school work program has been expanding, the number of youth awaiting assignment but for whom no jobs were available has likewise increased. As of Feb. 1, there were 333,767 youth certified as eligible for NYA jobs and awaiting assignment to projects. This figure represents an increase of 56,062 over the number of young people awaiting assignment to NYA jobs in December.

HOWARD ENGLEMAN—FORWARD

Above is Howard "Ropes" Engleman, All-American University of Kansas forward. "As goes Engleman, so goes Kansas" is a familiar phrase heard around the Big Six basketball camps. Engleman scored 24 points Saturday night to give his Jayhawk mates a 55-53 win over the Huskers. As Engleman went, so followed the Kansans.

Dark Horse, Angels meet in barb final

It is Dark Horse vs. the Angels, Monday night, in the coliseum, for the 1941 barb championship. Dark Horse, last year's champ, which has really never remotely approached the role of dark horse, meets Angels who can't be called angels, in view of the beatings they have been handing the opposition this year.

Typical of the play of these teams were the semi-finals, wherein the so-called Angels didn't give the Mad Russians a show. The score was 23-13, with the seraphs taking the lead at the start and never relinquishing it.

Dark Horse had a little trouble in its game with Pioneer Co-op. The teams battled evenly through the first half, to end that period with the score at 4-all. Dark Horse started to pull away in the second half, but a late rally pulled the Co-op back up and when the final whistle blew the count was knotted at 13 each. At this stage, Dark Horse had enough and turned on the heat to win going away by 22-15.

The Monday night game will pit a well-balanced, experienced Dark Horse quint, coordinated by several years play together, against the star-studded Angel lineup. Men like Al Canfield, Dean Jackson, and Wayne Kellogg will be thrown into the breach to match shots with the balance power and team work of the incumbent champs.

The game is not expected finally to settle the age-old question of the relative merits of individual brilliance and coordinated team-play, but the obvious strength of both lineups should make a close game and one well worth seeing.
