Garbage men

apparently read the Awgwans they find in the ash cans. At least to DU "Dinky" Dunker's embarrassment, last night, one such garbage man actually called at the DU house to pick him up.

While the brothers were dining, the middle aged workman broke up the dinner with his "Hello boys. I'm from the Lincoln Garbage company. I was told to pick up Dunker."

When one of Dunker's henchmen then announced that the odor of a garbage wagon was not as foul as the humor of his brothers, the freshmen took Dunker upstairs for a sponging. But here at last he proved he wasn't so "dinky" and held his own. Poor Dunker!

Pin-returnings

also rate space today, for Sigma Chi Jack Moore is again wearing that bit of Greek jewelry, and Marian Lowry's Pi Phi arrow is all alone on her sweater now.

Crib notes

collected among all the cokes and cones bring to light several interesting items. For example, Alpha Phi Mary Stephenson and Fiji Bob Durrie now are going steady, and rumor has it that Tri Delt Midge Beasley may soon settle down to giving Acacia Ned Eastlack exclusive option on her dating time. 'Tis also said that ATO Tom Hood and Alpha Phi Janet Westover are a good combination which will bear watching.

Other tidbits gleaned from a trip around the Grill concern Gellatly and Galletly though there's no connection except the pronunciation. Seems as though Delt Dick Gellatly is going steady with Tri Delt Mary Helen Dietrich. All of which crosses Dick off the "Eligible Bachelor" list and makes him eat those words, "Only once, never again!" which he opined in a DAILY feature story last fall.

Second story concerns Theta Peggy Galletly who now is going steady with her Omaha flame of the past several years. In case you want to know where this leaves Phi Psi Curt Knudson, we refer you to the Phi Psi buffet supper of last Sunday night, when he and Peg found relations rather strained. Curt promptly acquired B. Jo Byllesby, who, in turn, had got separated from Fred Stiner. Your guess is as good as mine!

Delta Gammas

missed the two gay souls who generally are the life of any party at their buffet supper last Sunday. Sig Alph Bob Ludwick came down with the mumps and left Gen Harmon a "widow," as it were. He who laughs last, and all that, however, for Miss Harmon woke up yesterday morning with a verra, verra queer feeling in the region of her own throat. Prognosis very interesting!

Omaha

was the mecca this last week-end for many of the campus kiddies. The newly redecorated and very elegant Blackstone was incentive for several sight-seeing trips, and Theta pledges celebrated their emancipation from "health" day and spring housecleaning at a big open house at "Boney" Metcalf's.

Charm school sponsors style show tonight

Draft headquarters warns . . . Local boards to reclassify college men

By the Intercollegiate Washington Press.

WASHINGTON.—National Selective Service headquarters warned local draft boards tonight that it will be necessary to reclassify all college students enjoying "blanket" deferment from compulsory military service before July 1.

In a memorandum to all state draft directors, Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, deputy director of Selective Service, instructed that "in reclassifying students, all facts in the possession of the local board at the time of the student's classification in I-D or I-E should again be given full consideration, together with any evidence of changed status which may have occurred since classification.

Occupational deferment.

If a student is then found to be "in training or preparation" for any industry, business, agricultural pursuit, or governmental service "necessary to the national health, safety, or interest," he should be given occupational deferment, General Hershey said.

"In determining whether or not a student is a necessary man within the provisions of the regulations," General Hershey pointed out, "the local board should give due consideration to such factors as the length of time which the student has been pursuing the course in question, his relative progress and standing in such course, and his relative chances for employment or placement in the activity for which he is preparing."

Must give assurances.

"Contracts of employment" or "other reasonable assurance that the registrant will engage in an essential activity" should be presented by a student before occupational deferment is granted, the memorandum declared.

Emphasizing the need for careful consideration of student deferments by draft boards, General Hershey told state directors:

"The proper classification of students and others in training or preparation constitutes use of the major problems of the Selective Service system. Marked concern has been manifest by educators and other interested persons with respect to the status of students after July 1, 1941, particularly those students enrolled in professional, scientific, technical, or highly specialized fields of endeavor."

"Students or other registrants undergoing instruction may be deferred in Class II-A by the local board where the activity for which the registrant is in training or preparation is one essential to the national health, safety, or interest, and the registrant is found to be a necessary man," the memorandum continued.

General Hershey said the period of occupational deferment may not exceed six months but that such a deferment could be renewed from time to time if the local board finds that an extension is justified under Selective Service regulations.

He warned, however, that "in applying these broad provisions there must be no deviation from the clear statutory prohibition against group deferments," and that local draft boards "must decide each individual case on its particular facts."

Selective Service officials said the policy letter would be sent to all state directors for immediate transmittal to the 6,500 local draft boards.
