UN men balk at spring formal coats; coeds say they're cute

After last week's spring fashion number and several style shows, students have been talking about spring formal jackets for men. Below are the answers of some Nebraskans when asked, "Are you in favor of the new spring formal jackets now being featured?"

Don Bower, news editor of the DAILY, uttered an emphatic, "No," and continued with, "After I breathe a sigh of relief because the winter formal season is over, I don't think the agony should be extended."

Eleanor Wolfe (with a typical woman's idea) said, "I am in favor of them because they remind me of spring (and the fellows look so nice in them)."

"No, because they're too expensive and they have to be cleaned too much," replied Ed Smith.

"Definitely, because it's more in keeping with the girl's outfit," was the idea of Betty Westberg.

Phi Delt Bud Luers stated, "Yes, why should Nebraska be outdone by all the normal schools in the

Utley will be special speaker on bookcast

Clifton Utley will be the guest speaker on the Union bookcast Friday at 4:15. Frank Egan, commentator will question Utley and promises an interesting program.

A new type of contest will be started on the program Friday and students are urged to attend the broadcast and enter the contest.

on Foreign Relations' fortnightly review on international affairs since 1930, he traveled throughout Europe during the summers of 1932, 1935, 1936 and 1938. On his trips, he made extensive studies of the economic and political conditions of the European countries with special emphasis on Germany.

Since 1935, Utley has given a weekly broadcast on international affairs over WGN, Chicago. In addition, he has participated in numerous University of Chicago Round Table and Northwestern Reviewing Stand discussions.

Friday night, he will talk at Lincoln high school on "American Defense." Sponsored by the American Defense Group of Lincoln, his talk at the high school will be open to the public with no admission charge.

Activity forum today features Sloan, Reed

Second activities forum for freshmen will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in Parlor B of the Union when Grant Reed and Blaine Sloan present a discussion of men's political factions on the campus.

Purpose of the activity forums, which are sponsored by the Student Council under Ruth Iverson's chairmanship, are to acquaint freshmen men with activities they can enter as sophomore.

Susies from Stephens descend en masse on campus for tea dance

By Morton Margolin.

They came, they saw and they stayed—those gals from Stephens—at least they stayed until their train pulled out, and then many left with the feeling that the University of Nebraska had done right well by the Stephens Susies.

The girls came 677 strong, chaperones and tutors boosted the total to well over 700 and every one of the girls was dated with a UN man.

For more than a week before the event, men on the campus approached the "blind date" proposition warily, but on the whole the party worked out well. Only a few of the heights were mixed up, and only one case was reported where a comparatively short fellow found himself dancing with a young skyscraper.

Notations on Universal Subscription

Q. Wouldn't universal subscription to the NEBRASKAN pave the way for compulsory subscription to the Cornhusker, the Awgwan, the Blue Print and other publications?

A. Not necessarily. Before any other item could be placed upon the registration fee, it too would have to be approved by the student body. Students now favoring the NEBRASKAN plan would probably oppose greater burdens in the future. It doesn't seem possible that the plan will ever be enlarged unless the students themselves demand it.

The fact that the Student Council chose the NEBRASKAN as the one publication worthy of a universal program at the present time indicates that the others would have less of a stand, and more difficulty in getting on the fee themselves.

Girl relieves mental stress by cursing student over phone

"Go to hell," said the female voice.

"She's just a ribber," said George Larson.

"I didn't mean it," said her letter.

"She's neurotic," said Professor Reinhardt.

When George Larson was called to the telephone at the Phi Gam house Monday, the last thing he expected to hear was a female voice saying, "Go to hell," then a click of a slammed receiver.

He almost fell over when he read this letter in his yesterday's mail:

"George Larson—
I wish to apologize for calling you this morning and telling you to go to hell. I didn't mean it; it was just that I felt like telling someone to—and going through the directory hit your name. There was no malice or forethought just a dumb impulse.

PBK, Sigma Xi hold joint dinner

Helen Elizabeth Claybaugh was announced last night as the top-ranking student over the 64 honor students elected into Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, honorary scholastic societies. Her average was 95.1 for seven semesters.

At a point banquet held in the Union the names of 38 students elected to Phi Beta Kappa and of 26 elected to Sigma Xi were read by Prof. Clifford M. Hicks and Dr. E. Roger Washburn, respective secretaries of the two societies. Of the 38 PBK's, 14 were announced last December.

Students elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa are Lawrence Beckord, Utica; Emory Burnett, Kennebec, South Dakota; Charles Carraher, Stamford; Hortense Casady, Des, Moines, Ia.; Leslie Crow, Ord; Ruth Darlington, Neligh; Baird Emmons, Lincoln; George Gostas, Lincoln; Norman Harris, Omaha; Malcolm Hayes, Lincoln; and Edward Huwaldt, Grand Island.

Oldfather will attend deans' conference

Dean C. H. Oldfather of the College of Arts and Sciences will attend the annual conference of deans of liberal arts colleges at the University of Missouri in Columbia, April 11 and 12. One of the features of the conference will be an auto trip to Jefferson City to view Thomas Benton's famous murals in the state capitol there.

Ag Feeders Day is April 18

John Campbell, livestock observer, will speak

Veteran livestock observer John Campbell will be one of the chief speakers at the annual Feeders Day on ag campus Friday, April 18.

Campbell is connected with the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U. S. department of agriculture. He particularly is adept at philosophizing about market conditions. His ideas on the marketing of cattle and feeding are expected to be particularly valuable now in view of world affairs as they affect agriculture and the livestock industry.

Come from outstate.

Last year, more than 4,000 farm and townspeople from all parts of the state attended this meeting and nearly the same turnout is expected this year. Featured on the day's activities will be a separate program for the women, inspection of the experimental cattle in the feed lot and a big barbecue.

Prof. Wm. J. Loeffel is expecting the acceptance of another national agricultural authority to speak on the afternoon program held in the student activities building.

Follies dress rehearsal today

Dress rehearsal for the Coed Follies, to be presented tomorrow night in the Temple will be held tonight at 7 p. m. for skits and 8 p. m. for models and Best Dressed Girl candidates.

The BDG was selected Friday. Jean Simmons, president of the AWS board, which sponsors the Follies, announced early this week that two runners-up were also chosen and will be presented along with BDG as the climax of the show.

Late leaves are to be allowed every girl attending the Follies, according to the dean of women's office. No boys will be permitted to see the show, "and this will be enforced this year," Dorothy White, chairman of the Follies declared emphatically.

Fraizer addresses professional session

C. C. Fraizer, director of the state insurance department was the guest speaker at a professional meeting of Delta Sigma Pi, business administration fraternity, last night.

Frazier is the chairman of the republican party in the state of Nebraska and was chairman of the university Founders Day.
