Dr. E. A. Thomas speaks at college of dentistry

Dr. E. A. Thomas, Hastings state hospital staff member, was a visitor and speaker at the university college of dentistry Monday, March 24. The subject of his talk was "Highlights of 60 Years of Activity."

money—except the horses I bet on.

I have a system. It makes it better that way. When playing under a system, one can at least feel that they have lost scientifically.

In a week or two, I'll make my predictions for the Derby. And the horse that I pick will be the bravest on the track. Watch him chase every nag on the track to the finish line.

tion it puts more money in circulation in Nebraska. (I hope my ec prof sees this.)

Ed Herzog comes forth with, "Definitely not, because they are too expensive."

Delta Gammas Betty Waechter and Jeanne Miller both agreed that these jackets are smart looking for men.

So we come to the amazing conclusion that the males think they're too expensive, but the coeds think that these jackets are "cute."

Jones shifts Waddick, end, to guard spot

Coach "Biff" Jones, attempting to remedy his team's lack of fast, husky, speedy guards switched Don Waddick, weighty candidate for end the past two seasons, to that department Tuesday.

George Abel is the only returning letterman in the position as Warren Alfson is lost by graduation, and Ed Schwartzkopf and Ralph Whitehead are drilling in khaki instead of moleskins. The guard outlook took a further drop last week as Gene Irick, stocky candidate and former all-state high school guard, checked into Lincoln General hospital for removal of his appendix.

More candidates.

Other guard candidates are Herb von Goetz, Linn Myers and Bill Bryant, who were carried on the traveling squad part of last season. Guard prospects who have been showing fire in spring practice include Jack Nelson, Charley Shubert and Gene Wilkins.

Don Bottorff, Les Buckley, Bob Deviney and Bob Hyde are also out for center-flanking posts. Saving hard contact for the latter part of the week, Major Jones' boys spent Monday and Tuesday in signal drill and further conditioning work.

Frat softball starts in April ends intramurals

Softball for fraternity intramural teams will begin after spring vacation, according to the intramural office.

Questionnaires are being sent out to all fraternity athletic chairmen regarding the most favorable time of day for softball games.

Metcalf shows movies

Dr. John C. Metcalf, director in the division of educational courses of Southern California university, spoke to dental students and showed colored movies.

They'll start running horses in circles for big stakes soon. With the Derby coming up and all, this should be the big season of new nags. Perhaps this is the season for fugitives from the milk wagon. That represents this corner's predictions along the racing line.

I've already begun to read the racing forms. A horoscope reading once predicted this 365 days as my most lucky. So it is that I, like Lady Godiva, shall put everything I have on a horse.

The current problem, one that is bothering all of the big sports minds in the country, is what horse I shall bet my shirt on. Present plans include the leaving of stick pins in the shirt. That way, both of us will be stuck.

My trouble in the past has been one of selection. It seems that everything I do runs into the
