

Fraternities adopt central control system

Moving to knit fraternities more closely together, to provide a clearing house for all matters of fraternity business and to make the services of the Interfraternity Council available to all organized houses throughout the year, members of the Interfraternity Council Judiciary Committee last night adopted a plan calling for the establishment of an office of Interfraternity Secretary of Affairs on this campus.

Used on other campuses.

Following a setup similar to one used by fraternities at Ohio university, which has one of the strongest systems in the country, the new plan gives one junior man the post of secretary for a period of one year; carrying with it full responsibility and control of Interfraternity affairs on this campus.

Because of the importance and work connected with the position, this man will be allowed no other extra-curricular activities. However, under present plans, this one activity will carry as much weight towards membership in the men's senior honorary as a conglomerate of three or four other regular activities. This post also will carry a monthly salary.

Four assistant secretaries.

Working under the Secretary of Interfraternity Affairs will be four assistant sophomore secretaries. They will serve in that capacity throughout their sophomore year, with limited outside activities. One of these men will be chosen to serve as Secretary of Interfraternity Affairs during his junior year, upon the basis of his work as an assistant secretary.

All men who will be juniors next year and who belong to a fraternity can file for the position of secretary today and tomorrow in Dean Harper's office in the administration building. Filing will close tomorrow noon. Those men who will be sophomores next year and who are interested in serving as assistant secretaries should file by tomorrow noon in Harper's office.

Those men who have already filed for the positions open must get an interview appointment at Dean Harper's office by tomorrow noon.

On Monday night, members of the Judiciary Committee will interview all men who have made application for positions. The interview will begin at 7:30 and will be held in room 305 of the Union.

Members of the Judiciary Committee are Col. C. J. Frankforter, Dean Harper, Prof. E. C. Schramm, Tom Horn, Jack Cole, Chris Petersen, and Clark Kuppinger. The names of the men they select for these posts will be announced next week.

To take office immediately.

Men selected for these positions will take office immediately. They will serve for the remainder of this year and all during the coming school year. Their work for the rest of this year will consist of setting up their office and reading their activities for the 1941-42 session.

Under the new plan, a regular Interfraternity Council office will be set up in room 305 of the Union. The new Secretary and his assistants will keep regular office hours daily throughout the year, and will handle all matters relating to rush week, this coming year.

The new Secretary will act as contact man for the fraternities and will work in conjunction with the administration of the university. His job will be one of building a more thorough spirit of cooperation among fraternities, handling of all Interfraternity Council projects and work, and in general act as a clearing house of all matters of general fraternity interest and importance.

Under this system, the Secretary of Interfraternity Affairs will au-tomatically become secretary-treasurer of the Interfraternity Council.

One of five top activities.

His position will be of importance to the extent that it will be rated as one of the five key positions on the campus in men's activities.

After the plan has been set up and is working, the new outlay will provide places this fall for freshman workers who will point themselves toward obtaining one of the four assistantships during their sophomore year. The following year, one of these four men will be chosen to serve as Secretary of Interfraternity Affairs. Such a setup provides the Interfraternity Council and the individual fraternities with men who have been in fraternity work all during their university career and who have proved themselves capable of holding the important positions of assistant secretaries and secretary.

Question of sending food to Europe is topic of six-man panel

"Shall America feed the starving peoples of Europe" will be the topic for an oral battle which will be waged in the faculty lounge of the Union this afternoon at 4 p. m. Keeping the discussion on the question organized will be Dr. G. W. Gray, professor of history, who is the university's man-of-the-hour on European affairs.

The roundtable discussion to which students are invited is the third one this year sponsored jointly by the DAILY NEBRASKAN and the Union.

Spring ballot barb filings close April 5

Filings for barb party candidates for the spring election close on Saturday, April 5, according to an announcement made yesterday by Bill Dafoe. Having both the backing of the Barb Interhouse Council and the Barb Union, the following rules have been posted to govern the application for nominations:

Any unaffiliated student desiring endorsement for office by the barb party shall file a petition with the president of the Barb Union or Interhouse Council not later than Saturday, April 5.

Anyone thus seeking endorsement shall agree to abide by the decisions of the party and support the candidates endorsed. Petition blanks are available in the barb office, room 307 of the Union.

Selection of the candidates will be made after a joint Barb Union-Interhouse Council elections committee has met to consider and recommend candidates. Names of all petitioners will appear on the ballot when the final decision is made by joint action of the two bodies.

Utley to speak on book nook program today

Students are invited to attend the book nook broadcast this afternoon at 4:15 in the Union. Frank Egan, commentator, will have as guest speaker Clifton Utley, convocation speaker of this morning.

A new contest will be announced on the broadcast in which students will have opportunity to win prizes each week.

Ralph Schroeder and Lowell Johnson, chairman and associate of the Nebraska branch of the Committee on Food for the Small Democracies, and Curran Shields, senior honor student in political science, will defend the Hoover and other programs for setting up relief commissions where they are needed.

Those making the trip are Winifred White, Leah Howell, Eleanor Crawford, Merle Eveland, Clarice Worley, Carol Chapman, Marie Anderson, Jean Burr, Norma Jean Campbell, Maxine Copple, Dee Shill, Frances Simon, Retha Edeal, and Barbara Koutaky.

Tri Delts, Kappas take Follies cups; Suzanne Woodruff is BDG

Suzanne Woodruff, pictured here, succeeded Maxine Kingsbury, Delta Gamma, as the Best Dressed Girl on the campus when her selection as BDG for 1941 was announced at the Coed Follies last night. Runners-up in the contest were Bette Rathburn, Delta Gamma, and Margaret Owen, Pi Beta Phi. Miss Woodruff is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Delta Delta Delta sorority won permanent possession of the skit cup at the Coed Follies last night by beating all rivals for the third successive time. Given for the first time this year, the curtain act cup was won by Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Presentation of the BDG and runners-up climaxed the show when Suzanne Woodruff, Kappa Kappa Gamma, stepped from behind the lid of a huge hat box as Best Dressed Girl on the campus and Marge Owen, Pi Beta Phi and Bette Rathburn, Delta Gamma, appeared as runners-up.

Nineteen girls competed for the BDG title this year and all the defeated caniffates modeled formal in the style show just preceding the announcement.

BDG outfit.

The BDG was dressed in a molded white crepe evening gown trimmed with a wide blue and red belt, exemplifying her taste for simplicity in clothes. The dress had a back, short puffed sleeves, and a V-shaped neckline ornamented by a sparkling clip.

Delta Gamma was named the second place winner in the skit contest, and Sigma Delta Tau received second in the curtain act competition. Other groups entered in the show were Pi Beta Phi. (See COED FOLLIES, page 3).

Late report adds senior's name to PBK

Due to a late scholastic report, the name of Lucille Eugene Schultz of New York City was omitted from the announcement of the newly elected members of Phi Beta Kappa. Prof. C. M. Hicks, secretary of the chapter announced yesterday. Miss Schultz is a senior in arts and sciences and brings the total number of PBK's this year to 39.

Organized groups must file for representation

Any organization that feels that it merits representation on the Senior Council, newly organized senior class group, should make its request for membership in writing before Wednesday, April 2. The requests should be sent to John McDermott, president of the senior class, in care of the DAILY NEBRASKAN.

UN student exhibits sketches made on voyage by freighter

"The flagship of the Lykes Brothers-Ripley Steamship company's West Indies and South American fleet of freighters. She took me to Cuba, Panama, Central America, South America and the West Indies.

"She zoomed along at 12 knots an hour and bucked like a mustang in a rough sea."

This is the inscription under a sketch done by Phillip Ainsworth, Nebraska student. More than a dozen of his sketches are being exhibited in the Book Nook this week.

Ainsworth was a cadet on two freighters in the merchant marine in 1937 and made the drawings during the trip. He plans to use them for his manuscript "Freighter to Spain" which he hopes to publish some day.

The sketches include black and white and colored scenes in Cuba, Spain and countries in Central and South America. Also exhibited are two drawings made in 1936 of a "post office tower" and Joslyn Memorial at night.

Among the sketches are Morro Castle and the capitol building at Havana, Cuba, several sketches of the cathedral in Cadiz, Spain and Fort Vauban, which guards the entrance to Port Bouc, France.
