Pinkley is of the opinion that Britain does not anticipate any need for an American expeditionary force at the present. "But he says, "Nobody can tell anything about this war, and in a matter of two years Britain may call upon us for an expeditionary force." This would be necessary, he thinks, if awar front were to develop to the south in the Balkans.

Besides his "miscellany" committee, Senator Thomas is also a member of the agriculture and labor and public works groups. The senator is representing Clay, Hamilton and Polk counties for the second time. His first term was the last session of the two house legislature. He is in the hatchery business in Clay Center.

Appointed to a school board at 21, Senator Thomas has served on similar governmental boards ever since. His "big bill" in the legislature is L. B. 89. The act would abolish the lien of the state on all old age assistance. Under the present statute the state takes over, after his death, all the property of anyone who has received old age assistance. Believing the lien entirely unfair, Senator Thomas advocates its abolition.
