

Kampus Kaperings

with Mary Adelaide Hansen

Bob Strong

and his orchestra, playing for the N Club dance this Friday, will blow into town on Thursday and move in at the Delt house. All 14 of the men will stay there, and 'tis said that they also will go to the Delt hour dance preceding the N club dance.

More greek groups

have elected officers. At the Phi Gam house, Grant "Senator" Reed is the new president, Eugene Schroder is treasurer, and Jerry Thompson is secretary. Alpha Chi's elected Jean Holtz as president, Mary Thorley as vice president and Ruth Sloss as treasurer. The Delt will be presided over by Barney Buel, while Bob Ross is vice president, and Aaron Henry is the new secretary.

Spring brought romance

to the campus Monday night, and Porky Neuremberger led a cavalcade of honking DU's to the Gamma Phi house where Louise Eppinger had passed candy. The ATO's, disappointed that they had no El Ropo's from Harold Larmon, proceeded to dunk the lad in front of the Alpha Phi house. When "Beany" Allen loyally tried to forestall the dousing due sister, Marion Patton, she also was thoroughly soaked by enthusiastic Tau frosh.

Blonde DG Sara Day

must have decided that a diamond isn't binding enough, for when Sunday night had come and gone she was wearing Ivan May's Sig Ep pin in addition to the sparkler she has had for some time.

Fiji Bill Long,

the handsome lad from Wyoming, had quite a bit of fun yesterday morning playing April Fool pranks on several coeds in the Grill. Hattie Costello got one of his super specially ordered cokes—cinnamon, citric acid, and water! Dick Stastny also got one of these special cokes from Beth Howley.

Returning to the campus

this week are Delt Dow Wilson and Beta Tom Davis. Dow will dance with Theta Betty Hilyer, while Tom gave an April Fool's "backwards" dinner last night for Kappa Casey Campbell and her fiancée.

The ATO lawn (?)

now sports a big "Keep off the grass" sign that has a most interesting history. Seems as though the boys led everyone to believe that there was a big ATO conclave in Missouri last weekend. The hoax is now out; actually there was no convention—the boys just gave an unofficial excursion to Stephens such an official cognomen. At any rate, they brought back the sign from Stephens as a souvenir, and planted it in the midst of their yard, hoping to inspire a blade of grass or two, no doubt.

Two Pi Phi's who live in the dorm, namely Georgia Swallow and Nancy Haycock, found themselves smack in the middle of an embarrassing moment last weekend after returning from a picnic. Lugging their blankets and stuff down the halls something must have slipped, because out fell one small round tin receptacle which clanked alarmingly and completely shattered the nocturnal quiet.

Clayberger says . . .

War has caused no magazine position vacancies at present

By Marjorie May.
"Tho it is probable there will be more openings in the future because of the war, there have been no significant changes in New York in the number of positions open to women," asserted Katherine Clayberger, associate editor of the Woman's Home Companion in a lecture at the Union yesterday.

While instructing the assembled coeds (and two or three men) about the preparation necessary for jobs connected with magazines, Miss Clayberger said that "You should get as thoro an educational background as you can, then go into specialized training.

Experienced is vital.
"For commercial art, a person should learn as much as possible about make-up; cuts; reproduction, and the like. Home Economics is excellent training for many jobs on a magazine, such as testing recipes, answering readers' questions, aiding photographers in taking food pictures, etc."

Fashion editors are chosen because of their ability to select and present styles, she continued. They must be known and respected in the fashion field, since they must handle confidential material—see designs several months ahead of publication. Making suggestions about styles and showing designs are two good ways to demonstrate your ability in applying for a stylists job.

How to get job.
How to apply for a job in the city was the next point Miss Clayberger took up. She presented several important rules for girls who seek jobs in the city.

"Contacts are valuable," she stated. "Knowing someone to whom you can go for advice and introductions, or even for a letter of introduction to someone else who may be able to help you are important. But be sure to write ahead of time to let your friends know you're coming."

"Employment agencies may often help you, since many firms hire new employees on the recommendation of certain agencies or personnel directors. However, if you fail to get a position immediately, don't be discouraged. Just be sure you have enough funds to last several weeks before you go to the city.

A peculiar job.
The associate editor has had a great deal of experience with almost all the departments of a magazine. Being with the Woman's Home Companion for 12 years, she now has, as she says, "a peculiar job."

"I don't take care of any one department, but act as a contactor between advertising and editorial departments. I also supervise the Better Babies Bureau and have done a great deal of outside contacts, such as speaking before different groups."

Filings—

the meeting, and nominations may be made from the floor in addition to those made by filing blanks.

Provision for this action was made when both bodies set up a system of endorsing both men and women candidates. Each barb club and house will have representation and a vote in nominating candidates to be endorsed. In addition, any student not representing any club but who is interested in attending meetings may become a voting member by attending three meetings under the new system.

"We want all unaffiliated students to come to this meeting who are interested," stated Esther Connet, president of Interhouse Council. "All filings will be given due consideration, and every student may express his views."

Union offers new writing service

The Union is starting a new feature: the write home service. Stationery and envelopes will be furnished students who come to the Union office and ask for them. A picture of the Union building is printed on the head of each single sheet.
