

University adds to painting, sculpture collection

Journal and Star.

Japanese Wrestler

Two paintings and a piece of sculpture have been purchased by the university, and one painting, "Beached," by Julian Levi, has been purchased by the Nebraska Art association. All four pieces are from the art association's annual show which closed in Morrill Sunday.

"Japanese Wrestler," an oil by Henry Lee McFee, above, and "Red Moore," a pencil drawing by Eugene Speicher, far right, are the two paintings purchased by the university. The third piece, right, is a sculptural head cut directly from black Belgian marble by Marion Walton.

The university was assisted in its selections for the collection by two outstanding judges from outside: Mrs. Elizabeth S. Navas, trustee of the Murdock fund, Wichita Kas, and New York City; and Paul Gardner, director of the William Rockhill Nelson gallery of art, Kansas City, Mo.

Henry Lee McFee is a California artist, and his "Japanese Wrestler" is considered one of his masterpieces and particularly valuable as a study in painting, according to Professor Kirsch. Eugene Speicher has just had another of his works purchased by the Chicago Art institute, and Marion Walton was commissioned by the U.S. treasury department to execute a 14 foot sculptured group for the garden court of the federal building at the recent New York world's fair.

Ag officials expect several thousand for Feeders' Day

Several thousand farmers will meet in Lincoln April 18 for the annual Feeders' Day meeting, sponsored by the animal husbandry department, Prof. William J. Loeffel, chairman of the department, said yesterday.

Cooperation from civic clubs all over Nebraska indicate a record-breaking crowd with all the facilities on ag campus used to accommodate the gathering.

As a part of the expanded plans this year, the first floor of the agricultural engineering building will be turned over for handling the overflow to the men's meeting.

Professor Loeffel said additional accommodations for lunches are being arranged by the university. The "dairyland cafeteria" will be open in the dairy building.

The desperate

members of Mr. Spurr's class passed around the hat this morning in class taking up a collection to be donated to the member of the class that got the lowest grade on the test. So there's a consolation prize at that! When the last reports were made the sum exceeded 85 cents.

Break up

unexpected is that between Kappa Clara Louise Marcy and Phi Gam Gene Reese. These kiddies are from the same home town and have been going steady for quite a long time. Most everyone was expecting her to be wearing his newly acquired Phi Gam pin. But there seems to be a certain Sig Alph, Pete Burland by name, who has changed her mind about the steady deal. Though reports have it that she and Gene will do occasional dating.

A secret?

It might be. At least it was a mistake because the Residence halls for women, in their invitations to a musical tea, put the date as Sunday, April. . . . To end the suspense, the tea is April 6.

Phi Mu's

will be entertaining their district officers at a convention this week end and are giving a Panhellenic luncheon at the house this Saturday noon. One member from each sorority will attend.

"N" club

party dates include the wearer of the red N sweater Bus Knight of the Sigma Nu house who will be there with Tri Delt Mary Helen Dietrich who has just broken her steady deal with Delt Dick Gelatly.

Picnics planned for the week end include the one that the Betas are planning before the Crud party that evening. The Sigma Nu's will start Saturday at 4 on a big chapter picnic. From the looks of the weather at present, both of these will turn into indoor affairs.

April Fool

one day too late was the cry of Bob Kerl as he firmly convinced one of the DAILY reporters that there was a very hot romance in the offing which would be announced this Sunday. Lloydene Kershaw was already to call the whole paper to a stop while she got a scoop on this extra special tidbit when he called her up to tell her it was all a big joke.
