Soothing salve for the cuts in college coaches' prospects for athletic teams next year is the rumor that national defense heads plan to endeavor to keep college teams on the same high level despite conscription.

Edwin N. Atherton, Pacific coast conference commissioner of athletics, intimates that Washington's big-wigs consider college athletics important for national defense in keeping up public morale.

Quoted in the Los Angeles Times and the San Francisco Chronicle Commissioner Atherton emphasized, "You may find sports, especially college sports, more important than in peace time. Sports, with football at the top, will flourish if national leaders so determine. Apparently they have so determined, for when several of us were in Washington it was made plain they wanted the college games to continue at their best for the good of the country. Colleges were advised and even asked to keep sport programs as strong and healthy as possible."

It is not known who "they" are, but is presumed that "they" means the big-wigs in the nation's capital. Since Atherton was a G-man before he became dictator of west coast athletics, he would be well known in higher Washington circles. The question remains how will it all be accomplished?

The probable method employed will be to induct the athletes into service after calling everyone in natural order, and then, following examinations, send the athletes back into college to provide worthy entertainment for the populace.

Stolen base wins for ATO's as Phi Gams downed 4-3

By Roland Finley.

Pitcher Dick Delfs stole home the ATOS batted in one run game and cinch the league championship for the Alpha Tau Omega's in their softball battle with Phi Gamma Delta last night.

Trailing in the fifth inning 2-3 the A. T. O.s batted in one run and put men on first and second. A double play by the Phi Gam's left Delfs on third from where he stole home on a wild pitch to end the scoring.

First scoring came in the third inning as the Tau's clouted in two runs to break the spell of the brilliant pitching dual between Delfs

Dick Hyland of the Los Angeles Times states, "Public morale is deemed so important that they want the public to continue to see strong and healthy athletic programs. The public should know that clean entertainment and physical distractions are vital necessities, even as steel and food. That is present welfare."

"Future welfare enters the picture for anyone who lived or worked in England during the past two decades and saw the type of its leadership in everything from show business and shipping to practical politics. Chaos followed the war because the brains of a full generation of young men were scattered all over France or remained untrained in living skulls."

If such a program of exempting athletes from service is followed Coach "Biff" Jones could certainly heave a sigh. Being left with only two football regulars from last year, Nebraska's team with several notables already taken by Uncle Samuel may be the hardest hit of any team in the country if conscription continues to cut into gridiron ranks. We'll wish with you, Major Jones, that defense heads follow the above plan.

and Phi Gam Gerald Spahn. Both pitchers were outstanding and turned in many strikeouts.

Phi Gam's took the lead when they scored two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Farmhouse turned in a 3-0 game against the Beta Theta Pi's under the no-hit hurling of Don Fitz. The Delta Upsilon won over Beta Sigma Psi 6 to 2. The victory gives the DUs a three way tie for first in their league with the Zeta Tau's and Sigma Alpha Epsilon provided the DUs win over the Delta Theta Pi's Wednesday night. Bob Saalfeld and Dick Luther were the battery for the winners.

Sigma Chi turned in an easy 10 to 4 victory over the Alpha Sigma Phi's to finish the evening's slate. Wednesday night Sigma Chi's finish their league play against the ATO team.

engineers when they broke into the building in an attempt to get more lawyers.

Fear for a valuable deed hanging on the first floor was held this morning, but the deed was found later in the day with only damage breakage of the frame.

Two engineers were taken to the police station. No charges were filed, and they were released after "cooling off."

Repureussions came fast as over 200 engineering students met with Dean O. J. Ferguson at 2 yesterday afternoon, and Dean H. H. Foster issued a statement at law college.

Dean Foster's statement read: "After a consultation with the committee of engineers the matter of cleaning the combine has been arranged, and the general matter of discontinuance of hostilities during the rest of the year has been amicably settled. Any law student or students committing any unfriendly acts toward the engineers shall incur the displeasure of the law school and shall be disciplined by it."

Dispute settled.

Signing the statement were Robert Simmons, Richard Van Steenberg and William Redmond, members of the lawyers' committee that negotiated with a group of engineers at about 10:30 and settled the dispute.

Dean Ferguson expressed similar sentiments to the engineers who were represented at the meeting in the morning by Melvin Kuska, Warren Day, Fred Meir, David Cramer, Wade Paschke, Norris Schick, Professor L. W. Hurlbut and Dean Ferguson. Dean T. J. Thompson represented the university at the confab.

Final settlement entailed the replacement of the machine by engineers through the insurance company and the cleaning of the building by the lawyers. The fire-department agreed to turn hoses on the building in the afternoon.

The disturbance started at 9 a. m. with a bombardment of eggs

Gopher nine triumphs 3-0 over Huskers

In their first home game of the season Nebraska's nine went down to defeat again 3-0 at the hands of Minnesota Monday afternoon.

While losing to the Gophers the Cornhuskers played their best baseball of this year. Tepel, pitching for Minnesota, allowed only two hits. We walked two and struck out five. Oscar Tegtmeier pitched very consistent ball for the Huskers but lacked support. He allowed five hits, no two of which were given in the same inning, walked five and struck out nine.

Closest approach to a score for Coach Wilbur Knight's lads came in the seventh when Sid Held singled, went to second as Bob Sauer walked. Dean Jackson went out on a high foul to end the threat.

Minnesota's coach became embroiled in arguments with the umpire several times over disputed plays as team members crowded around.

The two nines meet for a return game this afternoon at three.

all over the west side of the building. Campus police gathered for the first rush then but were ineffective against the engineers who outnumbered lawyers by 10 to 1.

In the second rush at about 9:45, the doors were smashed, the chemical was spread, and several policemen bruised. Meanwhile, eggs were flying at every head that peeked out of a window.

Several professors tried to stop the crowd. After making his talk, Prof. Lawrence Vold, took off his coat and started to clean the combine.

Best laugh of the whole affair is on one of the janitors in the law building. All week he has been wearing an "E" ribbon, much to the disgust of the students, faculty and other janitors in the building. Yesterday he was cleaning up rotten eggs. And he wasn't wearing a ribbon.

"Why those eggs were so rotten," he said, "you could hear the chicks peeping when they broke." And he was serious.

And he was serious.

COLLEGIATE CHOICE OF ORCHESTRAS

Choice of 171 colleges in 46 states found in the April 26 issue of Bill Board.

The college editors listed, in preferential order, the three dance orchestras which in their opinion are the most popular with the student body at their schools.

For purposes of tabulation, three points are given for a first choice, two for second choice, and one for third choice. Points are divided proportionately where the choice was divided between two bands.

Orchestras were listed by the editors regardless of whether they had ever played on the particular campus, the criterion being their expressed popularity with the student body.
