Huskers drop second game to Kansas U, 8-2

By Bill Palmer.
Nebraska lost another baseball game Tuesday as the first two wild innings cost the Huskers a 2-8 defeat at the hands of the University of Kansas on the university diamond.

Perhaps the Cornhuskers were despairing because the Scarlet and Cream lads felt that they lost the opener Monday with Kansas because the referee didn't call out two K. U. men who failed to touch up to base after a fly ball had been caught. At any rate the Nebraskans committed two bobbles within the first two frames while Pitcher Angelo Ossino was being bombarded for six hits and seven runs.

Juggled lineup.
Coach Wilbur Knight juggled his lineup to seek a more effective combination but his nine could gain only a run in the fourth and one in the eighth. Ervin Klein singled, Ralph Kryger walked and Johnny Fitzgibbon singled to score the first Husker tally.

Two walks and a one base hit by Warren Gableman brought Klein around again to score the Cornhuskers' second and last score. Pitching for Kansas, Kresie gave up eight hits but struck out thirteen men.

Sid Held went the last two inning for Nebraska, giving up three hits and a walk, but remaining unscathed upon with the aid of a double play, LeMaster to Kryger.

Games against Iowa State here this Friday and Saturday during the high school baseball tourney end the conference schedule. Last competition of the season will be the meetings with the University of California next Tuesday and Wednesday. Summary:

Smith takes ag WAA ping pong honors

Frame wins badminton crown; tennis tourney reaches final rounds

The ag college girls WAA ping pong and badminton tournaments were ended last Friday afternoon. The new badminton champion, Helen Frame, won the honors after several fast and furious games with her competitor for the title, Imogene Smith. Helen swung through to the semi-finals with a 2-0 victory in every match.

Having defeated four opponents before entering the finals against Imogene Smith, Justine Sutton for the match and is no wthe new ping pong champion. In both tournaments, Imogene Smith gave the champions heavy competition.

The tennis tournaments are now in progress, with the first rounds nearly played off.

questions about it, and then offered his resignation and said that he was not going to push the plan further.

When the co-ordinator plan had been explained, Blaine Sloan presented the conference committee's program. Debate ensued for over an hour until the motion was made that the conference committee's proposal be accepted.

This motion passed unanimously. A constitution will probably be drawn up by the conference committee this summer, but definite action will be taken on this at a meeting next week.

The two plans presented, the differing in the fact that the Barb

Netsters, golfers end season against Mizzou

Cornhusker tennis and golf teams see action this week as both squads finish season play by playing Missouri Saturday.

Ed Newkirk's links aggregation and Voris Peden's racquetees both have compiled the same record this season. Playing each match at the same time the two teams have lost to Oklahoma and Iowa State and won from Kansas and Kansas State. A third place in Big Six ratings can be assured for the teams if they take Missouri.

SAE nine nips DU in league win

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon nine stopped Delta Upsilon's march for their league championship, 9 to 8, last night in the season's most thrilling softball game.

The DU's opened an assault in the second inning that pushed them in front 8 to 0. In their half of the inning, the Sig Alphas tallied with one run. Tables began to turn for the SAE's in the third frame as they batted in five count-ers to make the score 8 to 2, then went on to tie up the score in the fourth.

Harold Osborn, winning pitcher, stole home in the last of the fifth to clinch the game for the Sig Alphas.

Tomorrow night, the Sig Alphas meet the ATO's in the semi-finals. This game will decide the winner of the Jack Best Intramural trophy. According to the figures of the staff, the DU's lead the trophy race over the ATO's by one point, the score now standing 735 to 734. If the Tau's win over the Sig Alphas, the trophy will automatically go to them as no other team is close enough to be able to threaten. The balance hangs in tonight's game.

Farmhouse meets Alpha Gamma Rho in the other semi-final game tomorrow night.

Man's one consistency, error, pops up again

It was erroneously stated in the polo story appearing on this page last Sunday that Charles Marcy of the Ag team had scored two goals during the tilt between his team and the city six on Saturday afternoon. Credit for those two goals should go to Miles Cadwallader. Candid observers declare Marcy did not even hit the ball during the game. We are sorry!

Council's proposal retained the council with different representation and Dafoe's program did away with the council almost entirely, were found to be alike in many respects. Therefore the barb co-ordinator, which was not inserted in the initial plan of the conference committee as such, was put in that plan and was accepted.

Committee set-up.

"It is the recommendation of the conference committee with regard to the integration of Barb Union and Interhouse that the groups proceed along the lines suggested in the plan presented by Bill Dafoe," the conference committee report said.

Committees for the Barb Council will include financial, social, and publicity, and will be guided by an executive committee composed of the presidents of Barb Council, Barb Union, Interhouse Council, and BABW.

have to fly into the interior of China some 1,700 miles. "Flying is the safest way," he commented, "but if I cannot fly I shall have to travel the Burma road inland."

Stating that China is fighting for democratic principles, Wong expressed the belief that democracies should unite. He stated that his country appreciated the help offered by the United States, but added that there wasn't much we would be able to do at the present time.

loyalty." To complete the definition and make it loyalty to something he added "to that which we believe to be of supreme value."

Many couples celebrate their golden wedding anniversaries with mock weddings and renew their vows. If the couple would only do this a little more often, once a year or more often, there would be more harmony. The renewal need not be to each other, but just to think about would be of great value.

The kind of religion of the two people contemplating marriage is one of the modern problems. There should not be arguments concerning one's religious faith because few people have been converted to religion by arguing. Religion is emotional and feeling can be easily hurt if one's religion is criticised.

A problem confronting many young people today is when one belongs to one faith and the other to a different faith. In answer to this question Dr. Patterson said that if their religious views differ too widely the likelihood of harmony is very slight.

Many religions forbid their people to marry outside the faith. This is only a protection of the two wishing to marry, for difficulties arise easily over the point the ideal is a unity of faith.

In answer to a question about encouraging children to go to church, the speaker compared religion with an education, art, or music. No one would suggest that a child wait to choose whether or not he should go to school or if he should play a violin or the piano. The child should have a start while he is young just as children start to school and learn the value later.

This was the fourth lecture in the marriage series sponsored by Mortar Board and YWCA. Because of the success of the series another more extensive course will be offered next fall. Those who have attended the lectures or are interested in attending and have subjects they would like to have discussed in the next series should give their suggestions to a member of Mortar Board of YWCA.
