

Kampus Kaperings

with Mary Adelaide Hansen

As all good things

must come to an end, so must another volume of the DAILY. But every cloud has its silver lining—this is the last gasp of Kampus Kaperings. Let's all have a brief moment of memorial silence (i. e. sigh of relief).

But before all the scraps of paper get thrown away, there are a few notes that might be salvaged, such as new pinhangings, and picnics, and stuff.

Off to Wahoo

on Friday night went Alpha Phi Virginia Way, to check up on that rumor about the quickest way to a man's heart. Upshot of the whole deal was that Beta Sid Held polished off an elegant meal, and then hung his pin on the gal. Privately, we think it should have gone to Mrs. Way—after all, she cooked the meal!

And then

Paul Matthews hung his Kappa Sig trinket upon ChiO Joan Long.

That blinding light

flashing throughout the women's dorm emanates from the person of Ruth Grosvenor. It seems that her "knight on a white charger" (courtesy pink rang) dropped into town from the army camp this last weekend and presented Ruth with a good-sized sparkler for that fourth finger. And that ring doesn't outshine the proud and happy glow on its owner's face.

Friday afternoon

the Farmhouse boys and their dates invited some of the alums along on their annual spring picnic at Pioneers' Park, and 'tis said a gay time was had by all. In the evening a dance was held at Broadview country club.

Did you hear about the fun Theta Tish Trester and Mary Farrar had on Friday night? They worked—theoretically, at least. For they were cigarette girls, even to the traditional long black hose, at a dinner dance given at the Country club by friends of the family.

News from Washington, via Tom Davis, tells us that Beta Chuck Becken is "almost as wide as he is tall," despite the fact that you have to go farther for it in the big Capital. And Pat Woods and Sis Faulkner say "hello" to everybody.

Picnics, picnics everywhere, and nothing much printable about them. For example, the Kappa Sigs and Sigma Nus got together yesterday at South Bend for their annual free-for-all, and the Betas not to be outdone, took Irv their houseboy, and their dates, on a picnic just down the beach a ways. Today is the Delt picnic, and the Sigma Delta Tau's will have one last fling before exams (ugh!) begin at a buffet supper tonight. Incidentally, among those present at the latter affair will be Sara Miller with Jesse Younger, and

For 14th time . . .

Nebraska spring flower show is in bloom; exhibits at ag college

Nebraska's largest flower show is in full bloom.

Over a thousand flower exhibits are on display at the student activities building on ag campus at the 14th annual blossom show which opened yesterday and lasts thru this afternoon, according to Mrs. Harold Stebbins, chairman of the show.

One of the most interesting arrangements is located at the top of the second floor where evergreen trees form a dark green background for a United States flag. Fans create enough wind to keep the flag waving.

In addition to the innumerable types of flowers, this year's show features different flower arrangements for wedding anniversaries, picnics, and for different types of houses.

Miriam Dansky with SAM Bud Schwartz.

This morning

the Towne Club will have a mother-daughter breakfast, at which new officers will be installed, and the Thetas will have their Senior Breakfast.

And so we come to the end of our rope—hoping that it's not around our neck! There are lots of little things we'd like to know, and to print, but they just went into the waste-basket. It's been fun minding other people's business this semester, and thanks to all of you who have helped to fill up the first column of the back page.

So have fun

this summer, hang your pins, get engaged, get involved in triangles, break-up old affairs, and get into the kind of mischief that we can print about next fall. If you go into the army, don't forget to send in that subscription to the DAILY and we'll help you keep track of your girl-friend. At any rate, here's our parting admonition: "Just be sure it's printable!"

School of music presents church organ recital

Miss Jean Knorr, arts and sciences junior, will be featured in a junior organ recital presented by the school of music at the First Plymouth Congregational church, Sunday, May 25, at 3 p. m.

Miss Knorr will be assisted by Miss Nelda Michael, contralto, a junior. The program follows:

Program.
Chorale-Preludes	Bach
"If thou but suffer God to guide thee"
"Hail, thou brightest day of days"
"We call to Thee, Lord Jesus"
O Rest in the Lord (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Grande Piece Symphonique	Franch
Andante
Allegro
Andante
But the Lord is Mindful of His Own (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Symphony I	Virne
Finale

Petition—

(Continued from Page 1.) support, to the point of sacrifice if necessary, any national policy which offers assurance of the preservation of these ideals.

We do not believe, however, in the light of experience, that military participation by our nation in a war abroad offers any such assurance.

We, therefore, respectfully urge our national government:

1. To continue vigorously its present policy of aid all to Great Britain and her allies short of war, while giving due consideration to the needs of future national defense.

2. To avoid any action, legislative or executive, which would involve this country as an active belligerent.

Flyin' ain't even safe for birds in these times

COLGATE. (ACP). Jealousy of man made birds which soared above him all day long is blamed by Colgate university men for the death of Sigismund the Swan.

Sigismund, a favorite among 10 swans kept on the campus lake, finally took to the air in imitation of the university's civilian pilot trainees and for 10 minutes banked, swooped and turned over the athletic field with all the ease of an experienced airman.

After a beautiful three-point landing and a few minutes rest, Sigismund took off once more. He cleared the fence and started to climb gracefully, only to crash suddenly to earth, dead before on-lookers had reached him. He had not seen an electric light wire in his path. The autopsy showed a broken neck.

Haney says flight course to go on during summer

The University Civilian Pilot Training program will continue into the summer months again this year, offering both primary and advanced flying courses to 40 students. Prof. J. W. Haney, faculty member in charge of the flight training course, announced yesterday.

Eligibles for the primary course must be male students, with at least sophomore standing in the university; must be between 19 and 26 years old, physically fit according to examination given prior to entrance in the course; and permission to enroll must be obtained from the instructor. Advanced students must be juniors and must have successfully completed the primary course.

Beginning June 11, the courses will continue to the first week in August. Fees for the course are $25 for the primary course and $34 for the advanced, which pays for flight instruction, insurance, and the physical examination.

Additional information may be obtained in Prof. Haney's office, room 203, M. E. building.

Pfeiler to publish German war book

Prof. William K. Pfeiler, department of Romance Languages and Literature, has received word from Columbia University Press that his book, "The Ethics of the German War Novel," has been accepted for publication, and the press will publish it at the earliest possible date.

The object of the study is to show the effect of the first World war on the mind of the German people as it was reflected in the literature dealing with the experiences of the fighters at the front.

Uni bureau places 33 new teachers

Prof. R. D. Moritz, director of the University of Nebraska bureau of educational service, announced that the following students have received teaching placements:

Elaine Steinhauer, Dorothy Chace, Betty J. Johnson, Imogen Mastin, Dorothy Uphoff, Maxine Miller, Lillian Bernasek, Margaret Thrallkill, Ruth Sheldon, Aldyth Franke, William Pfeiffer, and Elwin Schultz. Virginia Theide, Ruth Davis, Grin Schneider, Virginia Kirkbride, Marjorie Giffis, Alfred Blinde, Marshall Hisey, Clara Christensen, Paula Eastwood, Harriett Meyer, Patricia Watson, Charles Tombs, Ethel Diedrichsen, Helen Kilmer, H. E. Warren, Jeannette Glasgow, Dorothy Wear, Elinor Bignell, Edith Sic, Lloyd Sexton, Mildred Freeman, and Beth Schroeder.

Margaret Fedde attends nutrition conference

Margaret Fedde, chairman of the state nutrition committee, will accompany Elaine Anderson and Mabel Doremus to a conference of 400 nutritionists in Washington, May 26, 27 and 28. President Roosevelt has called the national nutrition conference for defense purposes.

CLASSIFIED
... 10c Per Line ...

A DOCTORS cap, gown and hood. Call 3-1424.
Lost—PBR pin, name on back. Return to Harriett Sperry, 318 Bessey Hall.

A promise for next fall . . .

Louise Frolich says 'N' books to be available freshman week

The "N" book, YW-YM published university handbook, will be on sale by freshmen week next fall. Louise Frolich, editor, announced yesterday. It will be sold for five cents to freshmen, twenty-five cents to other students.

Published annually, the book is a guide to student activities and to campus religious organizations. It includes a discussion of all major student organizations, together with a photograph of the leader of each. It also lists the various Lincoln churches, and the student pastors of each religious group.

All organizations should have their writeups turned in before school is out if they wish them to

University receives gifts totalling $800

Smith-Dorsey company gives $600 for research in college of medicine

Three gifts totalling $800, for research, loan, and scholarship purposes, were received by the board of regents Friday.

Smith-Dorsey company of Lincoln, manufacturing chemists, are the donors of $600 for research in the college of medicine. Omaha, Miss Hazel Gertrude Kinsella, professor of music in the school of fine arts, has given $100 to be used as a loan fund in the department of music. The Lincoln Defense committee award of $100 was accepted as a prize to "the senior or graduate student who presents a report before Jan. 5, 1942, that will best contribute to the industrial development of Nebraska."

The defense committee award, transmitted through Mr. Harry Grainger, secretary, will be conferred by the university committee on business research, according to Prof. W. A. Spurr, chairman. Basis of the competition will be submission of a paper according to requirements which interested students may obtain from Professor Spurr.

Pharmacy student . . .

Jensen awarded gold medal for scholarship at banquet

Howard P. Jensen was awarded the Lehn and Fink gold medal for ranking highest among all pharmacy seniors in scholarship, at the annual college of pharmacy banquet and spring party Friday evening at Hotel Cornhusker.

The Rasdal award, a year's membership in the American Pharmaceutical association, went to second ranking senior James R. Weeks, and third highest senior classman James R. Fisher of Boone received a copy of Merck's Manual, published by Merck & Co. A Merck's Manual was also awarded to Frank J. Hargitt, junior, for making the best record in the course in prescription compounding.

Long addresses group. Stanley D. Long, Grand Island, regent, addressed the 18 seniors honored by the student Pharmaceutical club. Dean R. A. Lyman presented the awards and Vernon E. Lierk, club president presided at the dinner.

Brief talks were given by several class presidents, including Robert M. Irvin, senior leader; Frank J. Viklak, junior president; Donald L. Macy, sophomore; and John A. Mayer, freshman. Following the banquet a dance was be published in the "N" book, Miss Frolich said, adding that several organizations had not yet turned in their stories.

Carol Chapman is assisting with the editing of the book and Bob Mizera is business manager.

ASAE names trip winners

Ehlers, Schrader tour industrial centers

Harvey Ehlers, senior, and Carroll Schrader, junior, were announced as winners of the industrial seminar trip for agricultural engineers at the last meeting of ASAE Thursday. This trip, held during September, will include a tour of industrial centers with emphasis on farm equipment manufacture.

Mr. Irvin F. Reed, of the U. S. department of agriculture, connected with the Soils Tillage Laboratory in Auburn, Ala., addressed the 42 members and guests present at the banquet on the soils tillage lab. He also showed motion pictures about the work.

Guests besides Mr. Reed included Fred Chase of the Chase Plow company; Messrs. Erickson, Dorman, Overholt and Turner of International Harvester company; Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Chapman, local branch manager of IHC; and Professors Brackett, Hurlbut, Smith and Zink of the ag engineering faculty.

The Daily Nebraskan

Subscription Rates are $1.00 Per Semester or $1.50 for the College Year, $3.50 Half-Year, Single Copy, 5 Cents. Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice in Lincoln, Nebraska, under Act of Congress, March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917. Authorized September 30, 1922.

held in the hotel ballroom.

The 18 seniors honored at the party are Beatrice I. Duis, Donald E. Eberle, Neal A. Felber, James R. Fisher, Sydney Foster, Francis L. Hughes, Robert M. Irwin, Howard P. Jensen, Virginia Lee Jorgenson, Robert R. McCauley, Harvey A. Ochsner, Eugene M. Sire, Margaret M. Spehr, Harry C. Turner and James R. Weeks, all of whom graduate June 9.

August graduates who receive degrees upon the completion of summer school work, and who were also honored are Thomas Cady, Ronald J. Taddiken and Norris R. Simmonds.

Happy Vacation!

We've enjoyed serving you this year, and we'll hope to do so again next year. Thanks!

The Evans
LAUNDRY-CLEAN

WEDDING INVITATIONS

And Announcements
We Invite You to See
Our Correct Styles
and Low Prices

Printed or Engraved
GEORGE BROS.
PRINTERS - GIFT SUPPLIES - ENGRAVERS
The Wedding Stationers