

Ayres re

Prof. Clark is new bizad college dean

LeRossignol continues as UN professor, dean emeritus, on Sept. 1

Prof. John Davidson Clark of Cheyenne, Wyo., will succeed Prof. James E. LeRossignol as dean of the college of business administration at the University Sept. 1, according to announcement by Chancellor C. S. Boucher last week.

Dean LeRossignol, who has headed the college of business administration since its organization

DEAN LEROSSIGNOL. Journal.

In 1919, will serve as dean emeritus and will continue as a professor in the college, teaching part-time.

After receiving his B. S. degree from the university in 1905 and his LL. B. degree from Columbia university in 1907, Professor Clark became a practicing attorney in Cheyenne.

Goes Into Business.

In 1919 he left general practice (See CLARK, page 4.)

Richardson talks in Union on NYA work

J. P. Richardson, director of the University of Chicago NYA workshop and principal of the University of Chicago high school, will be the principal speaker at the second University of Nebraska summer administrative clinic Thursday on "NYA—A Work Program for Needy Youth."

The clinic will be held in the Student Union at 2 p. m. and others participating in the discussion will be Miss Gladys Shamp, state NYA administrator; H. F. Welgel, director of student work; and James Ritchie, director of work projects. Allen Burkhardt, superintendent of schools at Norfolk, will be discussion leader.

Stress nonstudents.

The phase of the NYA program to be stressed most at the clinic will be the program designed for youths out of school, according to Dr. W. K. Beggs, who is making arrangements. It is this part of the NYA work which is causing the most confusion and misunderstanding, he believes, since most educators are more familiar with the program for needy youth in schools whom the NYA assists by paying an hourly wage for work done in and for the schools.

Summer to all u

The Summer Nebraska Journal is now published for students informed of current events. Following this first issue, it will be an occasionally biweekly publication, free of charge and will be published in the Science, and Andrews hall.

The editor invites any interested person to submit a paper either as a reporter or contributor. Papers should be submitted to Paul Svoboda in the Student Union. Prospective contributors should get in touch with Betty Dixon.

CAA summer enrollment increase makes vacancies

... declares Haney

Increase in the quota of students allowed the University in its primary flight training course makes possible the acceptance of additional enrollments for the summer, according to Prof. J. W. Haney, chairman of the mechanical engineering department.

The quota now is 48 and although classes began last Wednesday,

Professor Haney will continue to receive interested applicants at his office in the mechanical engineering building. The course will continue until about Aug. 5.

Cost is $25.

Cost of the training is $25 which includes the medical examination required of all applicants and insurance. Classes meet five days a week from 10:15 to 12:20 with flying hours arranged to suit the convenience of individual students. Ground school work includes 72 class hours in civil air regulations, meteorology, navigation, and aircraft servicing. Following successful completion of this and 35 hours of flight instruction, students are awarded private pilot's licenses.

To be eligible for the course, students who were in school last year must have completed a minimum of 27 credit hours, while others must have completed 53 hours. Applicants must be unmarried and at least 19 and less than 26 years of age on July 1. Women are not eligible, nor are men on active duty in the army, navy, or marine corps. (See CAA, page 3.)

Hobby group begins work Wednesday

Miss Lyda Burry of the department of art will give free instructions in sketching, clay modeling, silk screen printing, and crafts at the Union sponsored Hobby Workshop which opens this Wednesday for all summer school students.

Instructions and materials will be available Wednesday afternoons from 4:30 to 6:30 and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 during the short session, in room 315.

First time sponsored by the Union during the summer session, the Workshop is intended for the use of the layman with particular emphasis on introducing him to craft skills. A student may work at the shop for any length of time he is able and will be encouraged to come whenever able.

Girls' State . . . Members hear 'our flag long enough to reach from 1787'

... to present day

Girls' State members ended their week's study and practice of the workings of democratic government Saturday morning with a special assembly observing Flag Day in the Temple theater.

"Our flag is long enough to reach from the constitutional convention of 1787 to the present day," stated Walter Roberts of Wahoo, Neb., commander of the American Legion. "It covered the soldiers who fought for liberty in 1861 and was carried to a sister country by the boys of 1898. It waved across the ocean in Flanders field in 1917 for the cause of freedom and democracy.

"It is long enough to be unfurled for generations yet unborn. It is wide enough to reach from the mountains to the prairies to the oceans white with foam. It is wide enough to cover the farmer in the field, the worker in the factory, the miner under the earth, and the soldier in camp.

Flag is far reaching.

"It is wide enough to reach the housewife in the home and thirty million students in our schools. It covers the Catholic, the Jew, and the Protestant, all races and all colors, the rich and the poor, the educated and the uneducated."

Mrs. John Bosch of Omaha presided at the program as department president of the American Legion Auxiliary. The assembly opened with the presentation of the colors borne by Shirley Wilson, president of the Junior Auxiliary of Lincoln, and Bernice Jensen, also of Lincoln. The audience pledged its allegiance to the flag and joined in singing the national anthem. Mrs. Rose Lynnequest, Nebraska chaplain of the Auxiliary, pronounced the invocation.

Present dance.

Following an address of welcome by Mrs. Bosch, a group of "Dances of Our Young Americans" were presented by the following Lincoln girls: Adele Coryell, Jane Deppen, Joan Hompes, Sandra Lotman, Mary Russell, and Joan Selleck, all pupils of Mrs. Flavia Waters' Champe.

The Junior Auxiliary drill team of Lincoln, directed by Mrs. W. A. Miller performed. In the team are Minnie Mae Boekeven, Mary Blitch, Margaret Cook, Frances Dietz, Betty Hartson, Lois Hend-in the ROTC band during his student days. He is 26 and will assume his duties as director July 6.

(See '1787', page 4.)

WILLIAM MARSH. Journal.

Commenting on his resignation, Ayres stated, "I have thoroughly enjoyed my connection with the university as director of the Student Union. The experience has been a refreshing one, and during my brief career as director I have learned that our Student Union ranks tops among Unions of its size in this country. Naturally I cannot help feeling some regret in leaving, but it is a matter of opportunity which calls me to a type of work I thoroughly enjoy. I have been very happy as director of the Union, and I am glad to know that a man of Mr. Marsh's high qualifications has been appointed to the position."

(See MARSH, page 3.)

Babson, Hargrave, Hurtz new members of Uni Foundation

Paul T. Babson of Boston, Thomas J. Hargrave of Rochester, N. Y., and Leonard Hurtz of Omaha were elected as new board members of the University Foundation at a meeting in the Student Union during the annual Round Up.

Ford Bates of Omaha was elected to fill the unexpired term of Max Miller on the executive committee. Miller has resigned from the executive committee but will continue as a member of the board.

President John H. Agee of Lincoln reported on the Foundation's current membership campaign, stating that letters have been sent out from the Alumni Association office, which is Foundation headquarters, to all members of classes from 1873 to 1903. The response has been gratifying, he stated, and other classes will be sent letters soon.

Maintenance expenses.

Funds from memberships are used to meet maintenance expenses of the Foundation, since no money received in gifts is used made for this purpose.

Chancellor C. S. Boucher expressed gratitude on the progress which has been made by the Foundation in the few years of its existence, and stated that the long-range program must be considered as of much as or even greater importance than immediate results. An increasing number of wills include the University of Nebraska among bequests, he stated, and the fine work of the Foundation will appear most truly in 15 or 20 years.

Report on funds.

L. E. Gunderson, treasurer, reported on funds received for scholarship, research, and maintenance. Foundation members moved that the executive committee meet with the executive committee of the Alumni Association to arrive at a joint arrangement for solicitation of memberships.

Resolutions were read expressing the Foundation's deep regret and sympathy to the families of the late Don Love of Lincoln and Frank Woodland of Omaha. The resolutions were moved at the Foundation's meeting February 15.

Luckey to address Constitutional Forum

Henry C. Luckey will speak before a meeting of the Constitutional Forum at 2 p. m. Monday in the board room of the YMCA. Mrs. Blanche K. Robey will preside.

Union sports program 'full' for uni students

When students finish registration for tournaments and recreational sports this Saturday, the Student Union summer sports program will get underway with tennis, ping pong, and golf tournaments scheduled for summer students.

Men interested in softball leagues may register for games to be played every week-day evening on the baseball diamonds north of the coliseum. Swimming hours in the university pool have been posted for men and women.

Men 4:30 to 5:15
Women 5:15 to 6:00

For the convenience of summer session athletes the Union has made a new badminton court and equipment available. For those less energetically inclined, the ping pong room is still in the Union basement.