Notice: Bill Marsh, tall, dark and handsome!

Frank Keefer, one of the Tri Delt Mortar Boards, went to the YW Estes Conference last spring very much that way about Frank Scudder. But while she was there she met Bill Hall and now she has sent Scudder his Sigma Nu pin.

The anti-Mason club has a prospective new member. Marie Anderson, Kappa, is getting a bit soured about the way Johnny is stepping out on her. Where have we heard about that before?

Betty Holtorf, Delta Gamma, who was a campus belle last year, has settled down to become engaged to Paul Brown, Sig Alph of two years ago. The wedding is to be some time this fall.

It's all off.

Off again are Phyllis Welch, KKG, and Bill Conner, ATO. She gave his diamond pin back last week. Bill is a med student in Omaha.

A uniform always gets 'em and Wendell "Count" Bayse, ATO, is back for two weeks in his pretty white ensign outfit. He hails from Chicago naval reserve and is waiting here till he is called. Of course, he was already gotten by Tish Trester, Theta, before he had the uniform so all the rest of you gals will have to sit back and look on.

Have you seen Harry Rinder, Beta, walking around with Virginia Hay, Kappa? They say he even holds her hand, so it must be pretty serious.

The one, the only.

Pickles, Kappa Sig Butterfly, Hines claims again to have found a girl he will reject for all others. She attends Doane and answers to the name of Hope Ward. On the QT, however, he had a date Friday night with someone else and called a certain Pi Phi to ask for one.

Several lassies are hoping that Bob Ferguson, DU, will either shave or wash off that fuzz. They haven't decided which it needs but they definitely don't like it. Maybe it tickles.

Virginia Sack, Alpha Xi Delt, was in town Friday and Saturday renewing old acquaintances before going back to the University of Southern California.

Speaking of renewing old acquaintances—the girls just finished their rush week and now the boys are at it. Maybe everyone can get together next week but so far one or the other has been busy making new acquaintances and getting pledges. Personally, won't you be glad when it is all over and everyone can settle down to good old routine school life?

Tours--

on the tour itineraries which will last one half hour. Explanations will be given on different facilities of the buildings inspected.

Ending the tours at the union, the new students will be shown through the entire union building, according to Pat Lahr, social director. Although many have inspected the campus and union the tours should prove valuable in assisting the students around the university plants.

Attendance is required for these inspections according to Don Steele, president of the Corn Cobs. About 40 will be included in each group. The tours will continue Tuesday and Wednesday, beginning at 8 a. m. on these days.

Fifty cameramen attending a short course at Kent State university got a practical workout on action pictures when a fire broke out near the campus.

'Independent,' unofficial barb paper, appears on campus

Making its initial appearance on the campus Monday, "The Independent," unofficial publication for unaffiliated students, will be distributed in various buildings during the three days of registration this week.

The new barb council social program was featured in the four column paper, and the BABW open house was also included.

Primarily, the barb paper is being distributed to freshmen and new students this week to acquaint them with barb activities and organizations on the campus. Advertising supported the first issue, a four-page edition.

On the third page of the Independent is an article which explains the barb council, barb union, interhouse council, and the barb activities board for women. "Horney plans Intramurals," on the same page, describes the barb athletic program.

Fourth page of the publication contains two columns: "Dope from 307," commenting on the barb political party and the student housing problem, and "Cherchez La Femme" a society-chatter column. Second page is devoted to an editorial.

Staff of the Independent has been selected only temporarily, and anyone interested may file for a position at a staff meeting in the barb office, 307, union, Thursday at 5 p. m. Plans for future issues are indefinite.

Badges--

rectors but Mortar Boards, Innocents, fraternities and sororities promised their backing.

Every student known to the registrar, including freshmen in the junior division, has a "Howdy" badge awaiting him bearing his name, home town and class. The badges will be distributed during registration on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and any student not receiving a badge can obtain one from the supply left blank for that purpose.

Printed in scarlet and cream, the badges are Nebraska's most ambitious attempt to make a friend out of everyone. When you wear a "Howdy" badge you typify the spirit of the year.

Grad presents book to alumni library

Dr. C. E. Lively, graduate of the university, has given an autographed copy of his book, "Rural Migration in the United States," to the alumni association library. Professor Lively who is now professor of rural sociology at the University of Missouri received a B.A. degree from Nebraska in 1917 and an M.A. degree in 1918.

Record crowds inspect museum during summer

Record crowds during the summer succeeded in filling Morrill's guest book with names from such countries as China, Argentina, Portugal, and Canada, as well as signatures by persons from every state in the country except Nevada, Mississippi, Delaware and Virginia.

An estimated 7,500 inspected the museum's noted collections during state fair week, with visitors entering the building at the rate of approximately 100 every 12 minutes during the hours the building was open on Labor Day and the preceding Sunday.
