

University Offers Aeronautics Course

Civilian pilot training program, both primary and secondary, is again offered by the college of engineering in conjunction with the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Dean O. J. Ferguson announced Monday.

Courses conducted during the first semester from Sept. 29 until Jan. 15 are to be repeated the second semester. Enrollment is open to male citizens of the United States who were 19 years of age or over Sept. 1, but in the case of the primary course, the maximum age limit is 25. Applicants under 21 must furnish written approval from parents or guardian, according to Dean Ferguson.

Enrollees must pass a physical examination and meet certain scholastic requirements. Those in the primary course must have completed at least 27 credit hours if enrolled in the university last year and matriculated for the year 1941-42. If not regularly enrolled at the university, students must have completed at least 63 acceptable credit hours.

College Work Required

For the secondary course, a minimum of two full years of college work is required and applicants must hold a currently effective private pilot's certificate

J. W. HANEY
... will accept applications

from a previous civilian pilot training session.

Seventy-two hours of ground (See CAA, page 2)

Fraternities Pledge 180 Second Day

Sigma Alpha Mu, Zeta Beta Tau File Lists; Deadline Noon Today

Monday, with less than twenty-four hours in which to reach their last year's quota which numbered 252 pledges, the interfraternity council offices reported that approximately 180 pledge cards had been accepted from the 310 registrants. Rushes, however, can sign assumption cards until noon, today.

The complete list of pledge's names will be published in Wednesday's issue of the Daily Nebraskan. Two fraternities, Sigma Alpha Mu and Zeta Beta Tau, have already turned in their complete list of pledges.

A meeting to discuss illegal rushing was tentively scheduled for later in the week.

Whittaker New Husker Yell King

Max Whittaker will lead Cornhusker cheers this year, Innocents society announced yesterday, as the honorary named Whittaker, a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, 1941-42, yell king.

At the same time, the honorary announced that six or eight other cheerleaders will be named at try-outs at 10 a. m. today in the DAILY office. Judges will be Jack Stewart, Don Steele, Walt Rundin, Paul Svoboda and Ed Calhoun, all Innocents, and Whittaker.

Frosh Cap Sales Begins Satisfactorily

With red-robed Innocents canvassing every freshman at the end of the registration lines at the coliseum yesterday, sales of caps and "beanies" began "satisfactorily," according to Paul Svoboda, chairman of the Innocents' freshman cap drive.

Men's red caps with cream colored numerals will be ready for distribution at Ben Simons & Sons store on Friday and Saturday, according to Svoboda. Women's beanies won't be in for a week or ten days, he said.

Both beanies and caps are being sold for 50 cents, and all freshman are urged to carry on another UN tradition by co-operating in the sale which will continue at the coliseum Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Weather

* * *

Can't Phase Coeds But Fashion Can

Lincoln and vicinity—cooler today and partly cloudy with small chance of thunder showers, hail, or snow.

Women and weather—long sleeves in hot weather—heelless shoes in snow—floppy hats on windy days—beanies on calm days. Somebody is gooney!

Ain't it a hell of a thing? Why is it always a fact that when classes start that little old tube of mercury starts showing how it can play too? Why do we—the unhappy femmes of the higher educational house—labor and prevail in these "absolutely divine sweaters?" The temperature has just been hitting 80 this week, you know.

Countryman Positions Open

Several positions are open this semester on the Cornhusker Countryman staff. Posts that are open include: editor; home economics and agricultural editors; circulation manager; and several associates and assistants on both the editorial and business staffs.

Make applications in room 201 ag hall. Final decisions are to be made Sept. 20 by the ag college student publications committee.

Congdon Says Registrations Up to Normal

Prospects of a drastic registration drop from last year's total have decreased, according to Dr. A. R. Congdon, head of the university assignment committee.

"Registrations are up to normal and may go higher than any other first day. We are using the same procedure as last year and it has proved entirely satisfactory," Dr. Congdon said.

Upperclassman who have not paid their fees may pick up their registration at the university assignment committee in social science 311, and pay fees until 5 (See REGISTRATION, page 2)

WAA Entertains New Students

Freshman and transfer women are invited to attend the WAA party in Grant Memorial from 7:30 to 9:30 this evening. Guests will play games and get acquainted, officers announced.

Shirley Russel ... Cornhusker Editor Issues Call for Yearbook Workers

A general call was issued yesterday by Shirley Russel, Cornhusker editor, for all students who wish a position on the annual.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors who are carrying a course

Y Distributes 500 'N' Books

Cards Not Necessary for Price Reduction

More than 500 "N" books have been distributed since the opening of the sale of the directories last Friday, according to an announcement made yesterday by Louise Frolich, editor of the 1941 book.

It was also announced that freshmen and transfer students may obtain "N" books without presenting the special "N" book cards and still get the price reduction. Price of the book is five cents for all freshmen and transfer students and 25 cents for all other students.

that qualifies them for activities may apply on Wednesday at 1 p. m.

It is an excellent chance for sophomores to work up on either the business or editorial staffs and for the juniors or seniors to gain experience in business managing or copy writing, said Miss Russel.

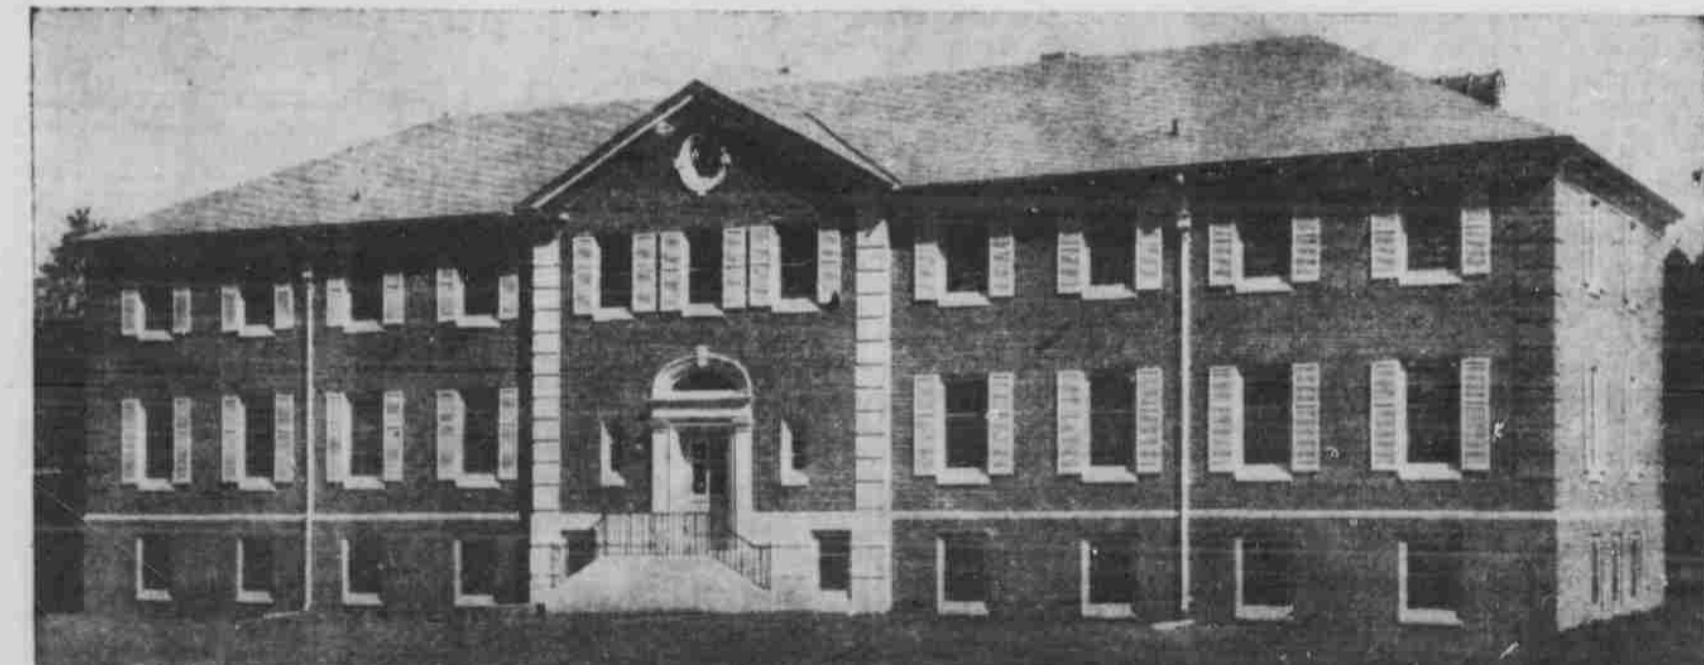

The positions open are the administration, student government, junior, senior, publications, beauty, organizations, fraternity, sorority, military, athletics, fine arts, society, index, and women editorships. The latter is a new addition to the staff.

Those interested in the business staff see David Walcott, Jack Hogan, or Shirley Russel. Contact Alice Louise Becker, Larry Hualdt, or Shirley Russel if a position on editorial staff is desired. The offices are in basement of Union.

Anyone who has had experience as a photographer may also apply for a position.

Staff positions will be announced the middle of next week.

Love Hall Is Home for Ag Women

Home for 48 ag college women for this school year will be Love Memorial Cooperative hall, the newest of girls' dormitories. The building was constructed with the endowment left by the late Don L.

Love and is in memorial to Mrs. Love.

House director of Love hall is Mrs. Hallie Blievernicht, who said, "I believe that it is a privilege for girls to live in this grand hall and certainly a privilege for me to live with them." Only undergraduates will reside in the new dormitory.

Each student, when selected to stay in the hall, receives the equivalent of a $100 scholarship. This scholarship is not given to her in the form of money, but is figured (See LOVE HALL, page 3)

—Lincoln Journal.

"Chief requirements," said Stewart, chairman of the Innocents' committee, "are a loud voice, a lot of pep and real Cornhusker spirit. The applicants must be at least sophomores meeting general university scholastic requirements."

Applicants who signed up yesterday afternoon are Jack Donley, Kurt Porjes, Sheldon Kaufman, Don Tracy, Mark Hargrave, Jack Higgins, Jim Vanlandingham, Jack Hogan and Rolland Findley.

Other men may still apply at the meeting today.

Frankforter Delivers Oath to Freshmen

Convo Features Talks By Boucher, Jones, Thiel; Songs, Yells on Program

Administration of the Cornhusker oath to all new students by Colonel C. J. Frankforter will mark the climax of the annual freshman convocation Thursday at 4 p. m. in the coliseum.

Chancellor C. S. Boucher, Major Lawrence "Biff" Jones, and Burton Thiel, president of Innocents society, will make brief speeches of welcome. Also included on the program will be Nebraska yells led by two Cornhusker cheerleaders. Printed copies of the yells will be distributed.

Mrs. Verna Boyles, dean of women, T. J. Thompson, dean of men, all Innocents, Mortar Boards, Corn Cobs and Tassels will attend.

Faculty Books On Exhibition In Library

A special exhibit of ten books by present and former university faculty members is being displayed on the second floor of the library this week.

Some of the books in the exhibit taken from the university collection of faculty writings include:

"Every College Students Problems," O. H. Werner, professor of principals of education.

"The Conduct of Physical Education," Mabel Lee, head of the women's physical education department.

"Contempt of Court in Labor Injunction Cases," C. O. Swayzee, professor of business organization and management.

"Problems in Logic," Charles H. Patterson, professor of philosophy.

Duplicates of the books on display may be obtained by students in the library.

Counselors Begin Activity

Members to Act as Big Sisters to New Students

Beginning a year of activity designed to aid new women students, coed counselors yesterday took up duties as registration assistants and directors of an information bureau in the union lobby.

To assist in coliseum registration, coed counselors inspect registration appointment cards and direct new students to their advisors. The information bureau directors answer all types of questions from all students, including upperclassmen, about registration (See COUNSELORS, page 2)