

Opinion Differences Flare At UN's Initial America First Meeting

Prefacing his speech with an appeal for tolerance and no name-calling, Luckey Paul, chairman of the campus America First Committee chapter, opened a heated first meeting in Union parlors X and Y last night.

Paul explained the aims of the committee and conducted an after-meeting discussion in which he described the organization as backing Charles A. Lindbergh. Other questions answered by Luckey and Robert Stanley Lowe, organizer of the campus chapter, committed the AFC to a policy of confidence that there would be no invasion of the United States, and that in the event of war, a complete abandonment of the committee would be effective.

Ex-Congressman Luckey stated that the U. S. is not in a war, and that no one-man power, Hitler, Churchill or any third term can make such a statement. "War will mean chaos," Luckey told an estimated 50 townspeople and 20 students, "and chaos not only for Europe and Asia. It will mean chaos and bankruptcy and failure here in our country." The speaker attributed the pro-war policy of "minority groups" to an imperialism of forcing the "four fantastic freedoms" on the rest of the world, and added that American participation would help to make Europe safe for communism. The next step, he added, would be an American force to help keep England safe from communism.

Aid to the USO was advocated by Robert Lowe, worker in the organization's Denver offices during the summer months. He urged that (See AMERICA FIRST, page 4.)

Arndt States Income Taxes Unable To Stave Off Inflation

. . . A Minor Worry

"An income tax is the best form of basic defense tax to curb inflation" according to Professor Albert G. Hart of Iowa State, but Professor Karl Arndt of Nebraska's bizad college doesn't agree. He states "Inflation is just another form of taxation anyway."

In opposition to Hart's warning against inflation in a release from Iowa State, Arndt claims that inflation is simply a minor worry in these days of high-powered spending.

The Iowa economist further asserts that a more inclusive income tax with prompt collection is the only reliable method of reducing purchasing power and thereby curbing inflation.

Vocational Ed Faculty Members Hear Morfords

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Morford, of Seward, describing their summer experiences in Puerto Rico to faculty members of the Department of Vocational Education at their first meeting of the year in the Union Wednesday, Oct. 1.

Dr. H. E. Bradford, chairman of the vocational education department was toastmaster at the meeting attended by thirty faculty members and their wives.

Following the lead of the old liberty bell last night approximately 4,000 students made up the biggest and loudest rally in many a football season when they wended their roaring way down R street, up 16th, and on to the stadium to send off the UN football team to victory against Iowa State.

Tassels and Corn Cobs and the Regimental Band led the march which started at the Student Union. Chanting "Stop the Cyclones," the crowd gave forth with Husker cheers for the first time this year under Yell King Max Whittaker's direction. Perfect Indian summer weather helped encourage the exceptionally enthusiastic crowd.

A brilliant display of fireworks greeted the students when they reached the stadium. When the crowd assembled on the east side of the stadium, Whittaker led the group in more Cornhusker yells.

Jones, Lyman Speak.

Coaches Biff Jones and Link Lyman and Game Captain Clarence Herndon received prolonged ovations when they spoke. Phil Kantor, member of the Corn Cob committee in charge of the rally, introduced Max Whittaker, who in turn introduced the other speakers.

After the speeches, Whittaker and corps of assistants led the crowd in cheers and songs. The team left at 6:50 this morning for Iowa. An afternoon workout will be held at 2 p. m. today at Ames field. The last Husker workout on Nebraska soil was finished yesterday afternoon.

Football spirit reached a new high pitch and was still rising when the rally ended last night.

Myra Colberg Will Appear On Broadcast

Myra Colberg, freshman who was in England at the beginning of the war, will be interviewed on the weekly Book Nook broadcast at 4:15 this afternoon in the Union, Frank Egan, director of the broadcast, announced last night.

Description of the life of an RAF pilot taken from a letter written by Roland "Bud" Wolf, former UN student now with the third Eagle squadron in London, will also be on the program.

In addition to these two features of the program, the regular review books and authors will be given by Mr. Egan.

Marcy and Gwen Rowe.

Plans for the annual farmers formal, ag campus fall party, to be held Oct. 11 are progressing according to an announcement made by the ag executive board, sponsors of the event.

Tickets for this year's formal have been set at 80c a couple. Information on where these tickets can be purchased will be announced Monday night when various organized houses will be contacted on a speaking tour.
