Politics Out as Innocents Sponsor '42 Prom Alone

In an attempt to eliminate all politics the Innocents society alone will sponsor the annual Junior-Senior Prom this spring, it was announced yesterday by Burton Thiel, president of the senior honorary.

This action does away completely with the prom committee, a traditional political plum and places responsibility for the success of the affair in the hands of one organization, Thiel commented.

Thiel named James Selzer chairman of the Innocents committee which will take complete charge of arrangements. Others on the committee are Paul Svoboda, Morton Margolin, Harold Bacon and Thiel.

Before last year, the prom committee was chosen by the Student Council and had exclusive charge of the parties. However, so many political repercussions occurred after every party that Innocents society undertook sponsorship of the prom along with a committee chosen by students at a general election.

However, the political evils of the affair were not avoided last year as barb-greek strife even entered into the election of the prom girl.

"According to present indefinite plans, a big name band will be secured for the party," Selzer said, "and the party will remain one of the big events on the Nebraska social calendar."

First all-university party of the year will be staged Oct. 18 when the Corn Cobs and Tassels hold their annual homecoming party in the coliseum, this year featuring Jay McShann and his all-Negro band.

Elected from the five candidates listed below, the Pep Queen for 1941 will be presented during the dance intermission, and winners of the homecoming house decorations contest will be announced and the cups awarded.

Those who filed their candidacies before the deadline yesterday are: Mary Helen Farrar, Kappa Alpha Theta; Virginia Ford, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Janet Hemphill, Pi Beta Phi; Barbara Jones, Alpha Phi, and Betty Klinge, Alpha Xi Delta. Eligibility of the candidates has not been checked.

A "Fun" Party.

"The committee for the dance plans this as a fun party, with a price within the reach of everyone," John J. Douglas, committee chairman, asserted yesterday. "It is not formal."

Two Houses Win Annuals In First Week

Sharing top honors this week for the sorority and fraternity picture section of the Cornhusker are the Phi Mu and the Beta Sigma Psi. Both have had 100 percent of their members photographed. Mary Ellen McMaster, Phi Mu president, and Floyd Walter, Beta Sigma Psi president, will each receive a free copy of the Cornhusker.

All fraternities and sororities are divided into five groups and each group has a different period when their pictures may be taken. The period lasts from a Wednesday to the following Tuesday night.

100 Percent Needed.

A free copy of the Cornhusker will be given to the president of any house that gets 100 percent of its pictures taken within the allotted time.

The other results of the pictures taken last week are: Sororities: Sigma Kappa, 95 percent, and Kappa Delta, 18 percent; fraternities: Acacia, 0 percent; Alpha Sigma Phi, 22 percent, and Delta Sigma Pi, 5 percent.

Fraternities and sororities that should have their pictures taken by next Wednesday are Alpha Omicron Pi, Chi Omega, Gamma Phi Beta, and AGR. Others are Sigma Chi, Theta Xi and Zeta Beta Tau.

Council Goes Into Action; Proposes New Soph Post Balloting Oct. 28 Will Fill Offices

For the first time in recent years a president will be elected by the sophomore class of Nebraska. After voting to hold the annual fall election on Oct. 28, the Student Council unanimously passed a motion at their meeting last night to elect a sophomore class president this year.

Being mainly a trial the first time, this new office is subject to the limitation of having at least 90 percent as many votes cast for the office as the junior and senior class presidents. "The sophomore president," Burton

Thiel, Council president explained, "will be under the Student Council, since that organization delegated the office."

Union Begins Social Dancing Classes Tonight

Mrs. Flavia Champe Will Direct New Series Of Six Free Lessons

The first in a series of free social dancing lessons begins in the Union ballroom tonight at 6:45.

Sponsored by the Student Union, the lessons will be given by Mrs. Flavia Waters Champe, Lincoln professional dancing teacher and university alumna. Mrs. Champe will bring with her assistants to aid in the instruction.

Six free lessons will be given in the series. Students may register for either Monday or Thursday sessions. To register a student must bring his identification card with him. He will be assigned a registration number and be required to present that number at each lesson. No students will be accepted after the evening of Oct. 20.

Last year, the first year that lessons were offered, over 500 participated.

Corn Cobs Meet Tonight in Union

KU, Nebraska, 35 High School Bands Will Play . . . Here Saturday

Don Lentz

. . . Ready for Band Day.

Music and more music will be in store for football fans at Memorial stadium Saturday, for over 1,200 musicians, including members of the Kansas and Nebraska university and 35 high school bands, will participate in UN's annual band day.

It will be Cornhusker fans' first view of Don Lentz' 120 piece band since the Rose Bowl game, and several unusual stunt formations are planned.

Band Heads Migration.

The Kansas band, which will head the horde of KU fans here on their migration, are still remembered for the difficult formations they performed in Lincoln several years ago. They will join in mass formation before the game when all the musicians play the Star Spangled Banner.

Leading the bands before the game will be Lentz and Russel Wiley, director of the Kansas band. All of the high school bands will pass in review.

Music May Be Broadcast.

Even radio listeners will be able to hear the band music. Local radio stations and networks have been granted permission to broadcast ASCAP music for the past two Saturdays. It is quite likely that the privilege will be granted again this Saturday.

The KFOR-KFAB broadcasting company reports that they will carry the music if ASCAP permission is granted.

WAA Needs 50 Salesgirls For Saturday

An easy way for girls to see the football games free and earn money at the same time is to become a salesgirl for the WAA. Fifty more salesgirls are needed for the home football games. In addition to free tickets to the games WAA sweaters and beanies will be issued to those interested.

The project is sponsored by the WAA and a 10 percent commission is allowed plus a one dollar bonus for every ten dollars worth of merchandise sold. All who are interested must attend an interview in the WAA lounge between 10 to 11 and 3 to 4:30 every day until Saturday.

Students Make Reservations Now

Reservations for seats for University Theatre season plays can be made today, Friday and Saturday, from 12 to 6 p. m. All who are interested in obtaining seats are urged to come to the box office in the Temple as soon as possible.
