

Barbs Back No Candidates in Fall Election Under Reorganization Plan

Barb council is no more. Barb union is no more. Interhouse council and Barb Activities Board for Women are hanging in the balance. And there will be no barb candidates in the fall election. In short, the barbs reorganized again.

Meeting jointly last night to receive proposals for reorganizing, barb union and interhouse council passed Bill Dafoe's plan for abolishing two of the governing barb groups on the campus and leave the two women's groups to decide their own fate.

Points of Dafoe's plan are as follows:

First, the reorganization abolishes barb union and barb council.

Second, it will establish an entirely new organization which will include all unaffiliated students on the campus, both men and women, who show interest in the organization. Tentative plans for membership specify that a student must attend three meetings in succession to become a voting member.

Third, the barb assembly will elect four officers, who will partly comprise the governing cabinet. These officers are: president, to head entire organization; vice-president, who may hold a portfolio; secretary, to keep minutes and arrange for the care of the office and detail work; and the treasurer, who will be elected permanently for the term of one year and will handle finances of all groups under the jurisdiction of the barb assembly.

Fourth, the plan establishes a cabinet made up of the heads of committees and sub-organizations including:

Social committee, men's athletics, publicity department, organization system, women's activities (which may later include both BABW and interhouse council.

'Improves Social Program.'

The present social and athletic program and women's activities will not be disrupted, but the social program may be improved, according to Dafoe.

Last item on the plan provides that any cabinet officer may be removed by the cabinet and any officer or cabinet member may be replaced by a vote of the organization.

Discussing three possible plans for reorganization, the packed meeting rejected a proposal by Harold Alexis keeping practically the same set-up as last year, and one presented by Dave Marvin compromising the other two plans.

Elect Officers Tuesday.

Following acceptance of Dafoe's plan, the group decided to hold an election of officers next Tuesday and elected a committee to consider nominations and draw up a permanent constitution. On this committee are Bill Dafoe, Dave Marvin, Dorothy Jean Bryan, Bill Bowry, Norma Jean Campbell, George Campen, Ellis Ruby, Dorothy White, and Fern Wilterdink.

A motion to back a system to reform the student council by means of proportional representation was carried unanimously, as was a motion not to back candidates for the fall election. Roy Byram presented a plan for an independent service organization to organize freshmen and sophomore barbs, but no action was taken on the proposal.

Defense Group Opens Campaign

... For Benefit Movie

Altho the British War Relief society's benefit performance of "Yank in the RAF" will not be held until the week of Oct. 23, the Union-Daily Nebraskan defense committee, which is sponsoring the campus ticket sales, opened its campaign this morning.

Tickets are now available for 44 cents at the Union office, the Daily Nebraskan office and the national defense room. Sales will continue every day until the date of the show.

Altho the picture will be shown at the Stuart theatre all week, the War Relief fund will benefit from only the advance sales. Tickets bought at the box office will not aid the society.

Tyrone Power and Betty Grable take the leading roles in the picture which Hollywood critics are rating "quite high." Power takes the part of an American who volunteers in the English air force and has his share of romantic situations with Miss Grable.

Dean Makes Ident Card Statement

Student identification cards are absolutely non-transferable, Dean T. J. Thompson stated yesterday, "and heavy penalty will be imposed on those who do transfer these cards."

It was necessary at the Kansas game Saturday, to take up athletic tickets of two students, which tickets were being presented by others than their rightful owners. These students have lost the use of their tickets for the balance of the year.

No student who does not have in his or her possession a proper identification card and photograph will be admitted to the football game next Saturday. You must secure your identification photograph at once. The office of the registrar in room B-7, is open from 8:15 until 5 o'clock daily. Call for your identification photo at once. If your photo is not available, you will be given a signed statement in lieu thereof, which when presented at the gate will serve the purpose.

G. W. Rosenlof.

According to Dean Thompson the student identification card was designed in order that the university and its agencies could offer students special privileges that are at their disposal.

Point Board Rules Pratt Ineligible

Randall Pratt, news editor on the Nebraskan, was declared ineligible for that position at a meeting of the men's activity point board last night.

"We decided that Pratt was ineligible," said Walt Rundinn, secretary of the board, "because he was carrying eight activity points and the limit for juniors is seven."

Pratt's positions as student council representative, Corn Cob, and news editor gave him two, three and three activity points respectively for a total of eight activity points.

The board also voted unanimously to give three points to the position of secretary of interfraternity affairs.

Homecoming Party-Goers At Coliseum Door Elect Husker Pep Queen

Balloting for the selection of the new Husker pep queen will take place Saturday night at the entrance to the coliseum and will be conducted by the student council, according to Corn Cob officials in charge of the Homecoming party.

Called "A fitting finale to a day of celebration" by Jean Christie, last year's pep queen and member of the committee in charge of the dance, this year's party will feature the music of Jay McShann and his "20th Century Rhythm." The fifteen piece orchestra is organized around its leader, a recognized master of the swing piano.

Great showman of the McShann crew is the string bass plucker, Eugene Ramey. His antics drew favorable comment from the music magazine "Downbeat." The band has two male vocalists, one handling romantic ballads and the other in charge of the jive department.

Juke Box Has Record.

McShann's Decca recording of "Confessin' the Blues," which is on the Union grill juke box, has outsold all blues records made by the company.

Candidates for pep queen are Janet Hemphill, Mary Helen Farrar, Virginia Ford, Barbara Jones and Betty Klingie. Tickets are on sale by members of Tas-

Sports Scribe Opens Phys Ed Program

Gregg McBride, World-Herald sports writer, will be the first speaker in a series of talks and demonstrations sponsored by the physical education department in an attempt to stimulate interest in sports and develop a better appreciation of athletics among women students.

McBride will give two talks on "How to Enjoy a Football Game" in social sciences, one today at 7 p. m., and the other tomorrow at 5 p. m. All freshmen women will attend one of these talks in place of one period of class work this week.

WAA activity points will be awarded to all who attend the meeting.

On Oct. 27 Patty Berg and Helen Dettweiler, famous women golfers, will give a lecture demonstration and play an exhibition match.

sels and Corn Cobs, sponsors of the party, for ninety cents; at the door of the dance they will be sold for $1.10. Committee in charge of the dance includes Jean Christie, Janet Hemphill, Betty Loseky, Charles Marcy, Bert Smith and John J. Douglas.

Conscription Causes UN Dating Problem

Coeds Complain About Male Shortage

By Harold Bremers.

The men are marching again and most UN coeds agree that the only fault of conscription is that it creates a dating problem.

Nearly all coeds interviewed, the seniors particularly, agreed that the toll of conscription is very noticeable. One senior even attributed the lack of school spirit to conscription.

Said Elizabeth Cook, "The shock to both the cheering section and the football team is very noticeable. Conscription has taken several of our best players and if school spirit does not rise rapidly, we may not beat Minnesota."

"Since I am a freshman I haven't noticed the difference yet," says Pat Beadle, "but by the time I am a senior I suppose I'll be playing bridge too. I can't help but notice that more freshmen than seniors are dating this year."

Move Army to Lincoln.

Midge Beasley and Estella Lennemann both agree as to the way conscription troubles can be cleared up. The government should either stop drafting college men or move an army camp to Lincoln. With a camp in town, they say, no one would ever have to worry about dates for the weekend.

One college junior who prefers to remain anonymous and who is very interested in a certain first lieutenant stationed at Fort Robinson says that there are lots of men around the campus but the army has taken all the good ones.

Hobart Dewey, freshman and one of two men students interviewed agree. "Conscription has given us lesser lights a chance to shine. It has taken most of the older, smoother Greek gods out of circulation. I certainly cannot complain, for I'm going to take advantage of the situation."

Blondes Wanted.

The other boy interviewed was "Wild Bill" Leininger. When asked what he thought about conscription and dating, he replied,

"I'm for conscription if the hostesses are blondes."

Tactful freshman Polly Petty prefers to remain out of hot water. "Nebraska men," says she, "are fine in spite of the draft. I can't imagine how anyone could complain about the lack of quantity or quality of men. There still are men to every woman student, and Nebraska men are the 'squarest' as far as I am concerned."

Senior Barbara Cook believes that conscription should come either at the end of high school or of college. She cannot understand why any draft board would be so "mean" as to interfere with a man's college career. "It is a great sacrifice to attend college and once a student has been drafted it is very hard for him to go back to college," she said.

Margaret Stamosheck's novel idea is that there should be conscription for women too. Camps could be so situated that men and women conscriptees could have exchange hour dances and dates every week. "Such a solution would do away with all dating problems and it would make the young women of America feel that they too are doing something for national defense," she said.

Student Council Meets Tonight

Student council will meet at 5 p. m. in room 315 of the Union, according to an announcement made by Burton Thiel, council president.
