Rule changes have been occurring year upon year... The reason for these changes can be given by Curt Riess of Esquire sports staff..."Of course they changed the rules last year. They always do. It keeps football safe from ever being thoroly understood by the paying customers (and by the players as well)," was the Riess comment.

There have been five important changes made this year due to an increased demand for them...The first four are more important than the last one but there are days on which the last one has a very decided effect on the outcome of a game...The following is a sum-mary of the changes:

Number one: A player may enter the game at any time thruout the game instead of only once in each quarter... He may communicate with his teammates as soon as he gets into the ball game ... This is a change from the rule that one play has to elapse before the substitute can speak to the other ten players.

Number two: Whenever a pass is incomplete on the fourth down behind the opposing team's goal line, it is not ruled a touchback this year... When it was ruled a touchback, the ball was brought this season they have been conout to the 20 yard line... This sea- firming the reports. BIG SIX STANDINGS.

With Nebraska and Missouri tied for the league leadership in the Big Six conference at two wins and no losses, the games this Saturday will see a general shakeup of the entire six teams.

Missouri and Nebraska will get together down at Columbia to definitely decide the leader and this is the game that will more than likely produce the final winner, both teams but thus far the Sooners haven't registered.

In Junior Golding, Coach Dewey 'Snorter' Luster has a high scoring back. They work off of a different formation wherein the backs lineup in the shape of an A. The system has worked however and it turned in a defeat of the K Staters, 16-0. This week Oklahoma meets Iowa State and it will be a little easier to see how the Norman team with a new coach at the helm will come out in the Big Six. All indications place the Sooners on a par with the Ti-Oklahoma ranks on a par with gers and Huskers. The Sooners meet Santa Clara in a non-conference skirmish Saturday.

Mizzou Plots Husker Loss on Saturday

A Nebraska football team badly banged-up by last Saturday afternoon's encounter with Indiana has been working late this week in preparation for the all-important conference game with Missouri next Saturday at Columbia.

Prospects of a victory over the Tigers were somewhat dimmed by the fact that three members of the first eleven may not see service in the Huskers' third Big Six game of the season.

And in the meantime, down in Missouri the Tigers were grooming themselves for Saturday's game with a crushing 39-13 defeat to their credit handed to the Iowa State gridders at Ames. It was the same Iowa State team that Nebraska defeated 14-0.

Missouri's Backs.

The great combination in the backfield, Steuber, Wade and alternating with Ice, may be considerably weakened unless Red Wade, the Missou' quarter, recovers from an injured hip muscle which has kept him benched and inactive in this week's practice sessions.

Vernon Bowen, who fills the No. 2 halfback position has a knee injury which may keep him on the bench this weekend, while Lou Milla, starting fullback who gave way to Don Reese in the starting lineup against Iowa State because of a bruised hip, will be back in his usual slot.

High Scoring Ouftit.

In two conference games, Missouri has piled up an impressive 74 points, while the Huskers were totaling 46. To date, the Huskers have not been scored upon by a conference opponent, while the Tigers' second team yielded 13 points to Iowa State.

Only ten games have been played in the Big Six conference, but from all appearances, the winner of the Nebraska-Missouri game will finish in top place at the end of the season, if comparative scores and showings mean anything.

Whoops-Our Mistake

The article about interfraternity touch football is yester-day's "Daily Nebraskan" erroneously stated that Waldo Winters and Edsel were the stars of the Sigma Nu-Sig Alph touch battle. Winters and Wibbels did not participate in the contest.

Playoffs Begin in IM

The first bracket of the championship round of interfraternity touch football will be filled tonight after the Beta-Phi Gam contest scheduled at 4:30 p. m. The Sigma Nus and Farm House will meet to decide the other finalist Monday, October, 27 at 4:30 p. m.

Coaches Pick Fred Preston

Squad Line-up Changed As End Picked Captain

With the announcement that Fred Preston, senior end from Fairbury, would captain the Huskers in their third conference tilt at Missouri, Saturday, the entire squad moved with a great deal of fire into the coaches prescribed workouts yesterday.

Preston who has been starting at the left side of the line all season was also a starter from last season. Standing 6-3 and weighing 190 pounds, he commands respect on the gridiron as well

FRED PRESTON -Lincoln Journal as off.

Squad Changes.

As important as the announcement above, was the announcement on the bulletin board in the Husker dressing room that greeted the gridders when they came down for the practice period.

It was the line-up changes after the game last Saturday that everyone has been waiting for. Kathol stays at right end while Howard Marting moves in to fill the spot left by Clarence Herndon.

George Able stays at guard and now for the big change. Howard Kelly has stepped up to the first string center spot and Fred Meier shifts to the left guard position to close up the spot left by Herb von Goetz. Schleich, Preston, Zikmund, Athey, Francis and Bradley maintain their positions.

On the seconds reading from right end to left are Ludwick, Bordy, Deviney, Bachman, Meyers, Byler and Thompson. The backs are Simmons, Metheny, Blue and
