

Barb Proposal Faces Test

Expert on Russia to Discuss World War II Problems at Convocation

Big question mark in the present world crisis, Russia's ability to stay in the war, will receive expert treatment when foreign correspondent Louis Fischer speaks in the Union ballroom today at 11 a. m.

A resident of Russia for about 14 years, the correspondent is well qualified to discuss "Is This the End of Bolshevism". In addition to his morning lecture Fischer will appear in a forum discussion at 3 p. m. today in Union parlors Y and Z.

is wide. It was Fischer who covered the Spanish civil war and the outbreak of the second World War for the Nation magazine. On one occasion Fischer talked with dictator Joseph Stalin for over six hours. He is acquainted with a number of high soviet officials.

Fisher Writes for Magazines.

Besides his work for the Nation, Fischer has contributed to the Baltimore Sun and several foreign publications including the New Statesman of London and the Prague Tagebuch.

Because Fischer is in constant touch with leading officials and diplomats, his talk is expected to reflect not only his wide experience as a war correspondent but also current facts from his exclusive sources of information.

Asked to comment on the election Bill Dafoe, barb leader and instigator for the proposed amendment, exploded verbally, "Rules for student elections, as interpreted by the greek-dominated judiciary committee of the greek-dominated student council, after the barb victory last fall, make any campaign outside the organized greek houses absolutely ineffective if not impossible. For this reason, the independent organization is not backing (indeed, we can not back) candidates. Until the rules are changed to permit fair and equal publicity for all candidates, both greek and barb, there will be no just student government at Nebraska."

Dafoe continued: "We do not expect the proposed amendment to the Student Council constitution to pass this election. Because of lack of publicity, students have not been able to consider adequately the pro and con of the matter. Therefore, we would be wrong to expect students to give it the attention it deserves. The amendment will be proposed again and when it has been properly published (See ELECTION, page 2)

UN, Other College Students Differ on Neutrality Question

Majority US Collegians Are Isolationists

By Joe Belden, Editor.
(Student Opinion Surveys of America Copyright, 1941.)
AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 28.—A majority of American college students, unlike most U. S. adults, are opposed to changing the neutrality law to allow supply ships to be armed and sent into war zones.
This isolationist attitude is discovered in the first poll of the school year completed last week (See NATIONAL POLL, page 2)

Migration Trip Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets for the migration to Manhattan, Kans. for the football game this weekend are now on sale at the office of John K. Selleck in the coliseum.
The special student train will leave the Burlington station in Lincoln at 7:30 Saturday morning (See MIGRATION, page 3)

Nebraskans Favor Arming Supply Ships

By Art Rivin.
(Nebraskan Poll Representative)
Surprisingly different from student opinion throughout the nation is the result of the University of Nebraska poll. Here, according to cross-section canvassing, 79 percent of the students are in favor of arming supply ships (See UN OPINION, page 4)

ROTC Holds First Parade Of the Year

First ROTC parade of the year will start at 5 p. m. today and members of the ROTC will form in two columns.

The east column, consisting of the third infantry battalion, the engineers and the artillery regiment, will form in front of memorial hall. The west column, consisting of the varsity band, such special battalions as Pershing Rifles, and the first and second infantry battalions will form on T St. between 12th and 10th streets.

On signal the east column will move down 14th St. behind the coliseum and the west column will move down 10 St. and will halt at the entrance to the athletic field. Then the two columns will enter the athletic field with the varsity band and will form for the parade, on the field.

Colonel Thuis commanding officer, of the ROTC, and several assistants will be in the reviewing stand.

Juniors whose uniforms have not arrived yet will be excused from the parade.

Parties Reveal Platforms

Union Platform

The Union party, ever mindful of its obligations to the student body of the University of Nebraska, and in the interests of good student government, pledges itself to the consummation of the following program:

1. In the interests of equality of opportunity for both sexes, we advocate protection of the right of all women students to engage freely in political activities.
2. Because we believe that the nation will never, in our time, be without need for an adequate system of national defense, we urge that steps be taken to arouse interest in the Nebraska ROTC unit; and, because this unit includes a larger number of the students than any other department, we ask that the university administration and the state legislature investigate the possibility of constructing an armory and extending in any other way the facilities of the university's military department.
3. In the interests of efficiency in the Student Council, because we believe that the present council embodies all the necessary elements of a proper governing body and that the constitution of the council is a fully satisfactory system of student government, we oppose any present change in our student government, until such a change is better demonstrated to be of value.
4. We favor the extension of co-operative housing

Barb Party Platform

The barb party, convinced that it can best serve the interests of the university student body by promoting a program of constructive reform of our Student Council, is entering no slate of candidates in Tuesday's election. However, in order that the students may know the principles to which the party is pledged and a few of the most important reforms that could be brought about by a reorganized Student Council, truly representative of the university as a whole, we present the following platform:

1. The barb party is pledged to work militantly for improved housing conditions on the university campus. Believing that the advantages of co-op rooming and boarding clubs have been conclusively demonstrated, we endorse a proposal for a permanent university committee made up of both students and faculty members to promote the foundation of such housing enterprises.
Included in our pledge to work for improved housing conditions is a promise to do all in our power to bring about the erection in the near future of a boys' dormitory comparable to those recently erected for all of the state normal colleges. After a careful study of the situation at these other schools we have reached the conclusion that a boys' dormitory, to be paid for from rentals, could be built under the state dormitories corporation act.
2. The barb party is pledged to a system of pro-

Coed Counselors will continue to sponsor a book review on the second and fourth Tuesday every month. Betty Klingel is leader and Janice Hagelin the board member sponsoring the reviews.

Uni Students See Disputed Plays at Union

University Club quarterbacks groaned yesterday, and UN students will join them and the sobbing chorus or Nebraskans when they see the movie reviews of the Missouri-Nebraska football game tomorrow night in the Union ballroom starting at 7:30 p. m.

There's a reason for the sorrow. The pictures shown for the first time to the University Club, clearly showed that the Bradley to Simmons pass, ruled incomplete by the referees, was pass interference. The movies demonstrate that just as Simmons was about to gather in the ball, Missouri speedster, Harry Ice, jumped on his back and carried him to the ground.

Revealing also was the photographing of the Kathol pass on Mizzou's 15, also ruled incomplete by the officials. Movies show that the Nebraska receiver did catch the ball and hang on to it as he fell to the ground. While the action was going on the referee was looking directly into the camera away from the play.

Major Jones refused to comment on the evidence of bed refereeing and would only say, "Draw your own conclusions."
