Conference of College Presidents Organizes Civilian Morale Service

An attempt to increase public understanding of current critical times will be the main purpose of the state school and college civilian morale service to be organized at a conference of Nebraska college presidents, this week-end in the Union.

The state school and college civilian morale service is a nationwide program to enlist the services of United States educational facilities. Among those attending this meeting which is a part of an extensive program being inaugurated as a defense activity by President Roosevelt, will be D. Fred J. Kelly, chief of the division of higher education in the U. S. state superintendent of public instruction, and the executive secretary of the Nebraska public library commission. Chancellor C. S. Boucher will act as host for the university.

The school and colleges civilian morale service will try to encourage the widespread participation of students and teachers in all types of voluntary activities. It will also endeavor to enlist the extensive experiences of educational leaders to organize programs for the discussion of problems of common interest.

Vast resources of schools, colleges, universities, and libraries will be mobilized to develop a nationwide program to inform the public of the pressing public is-

ues. Various forums, study and discussion groups and organized reading groups will be formed by educational agencies for the general adult population. Also volunteer speakers and discussion leaders will be engaged by the service to inform the general public of what the President terms "the complicated problems of these critical times."

This service, to be developed in every state, will also attempt to modify the training in secondary institutions so that their regular students will receive the greatest possible understanding of problems of this emergency and the best preparation for post-emergency readjustments.

Over 600 Board Migration Train

Over 600 students will make the trip to Manhattan to watch a rejuvenated Nebraska team take on the Kansas Wildcats. Cornhusker rallying will start when the student special pulls into Manhattan at noon Saturday. The varsity band, followed by Tassels, Corn Cobs and Innocents will lead the rally from the station to the campus.

Cry for this week's battle will be "Manhandle Manhattan," according to R. Donald Steele, Corn Cob president. Students are urged to exhibit real Nebraska spirit in the section reserved for 500 Cornhusker rooters.

"Ticket sales are fair, and are expected to pick up when students make a last moment decision to join the crowd going to Kansas" was the comment from John K. Selleck's office yesterday about the annual student migration to be held at Kansas State this week-end.

There are still many good game tickets for sale at the advance price of $2.25. Train fare, if tickets are purchased ahead of time, is $2.65, round trip. Tickets purchased at the station or on the train will sell at a higher price because of the new tax which went into effect after the university purchased its section.

The special student train will leave the Burlington station in Lincoln at 7:30 a. m. Saturday, arriving in Manhattan at 11:55 a. m. The return train will leave at 11:55 p. m. Saturday and reach Lincoln at 5 a. m. Sunday. Tickets are on sale at John K. Selleck's office in the coliseum.

Reporter Finds Gay Nineties Costumes Stiff, 'Prehistoric'

By Mary Aileen Cochran.

Thank heavens for plays like "East Lynne." I thought modern dress was inconvenient until last night. Then I saw "East Lynne" and discovered what the lovely damsel of the plusher days wore, and well—I'll take tight girdles...

The program said that costumes were replicas of the actual dress of the Gay Nineties, but when the Florador girls started prancing on the stage, all I could see was a conglomeration of figured taffeta, brocaded crepe and lace, stiff silk and bustles.

How our civilization progresses! "East Lynne" shows an example of primitive woman with tight skirts and padding everywhere.

I also got a good look at pre-

Dental Faculty Attends Meet In Houston

The entire faculty of the university college of dentistry presented a clinic at the American Dental association convention in Houston, Tex., this week.

Dr. B. L. Hooper, dean of the college, attended the annual meeting of the Academy of Denture Prosthodontists in Houston, Oct. 29 to 25. While in Houston, Dr. Hooper lectured before the American Dental association on "Forty Minutes of Complete Denture Construction," and before the American Full Denture society on "Immediate Dentures."

historic Joe College. Joe had just left the skin age and had advanced to the second stage of civilization. His dress included narrow shoulders and pant legs that were as narrow as the part in the shiny hair of the villain.

Pleated Coats.

The well-dressed man in "East Lynne" would be a cinch for a prize at a costume ball in a fancy pleated coat—a few frock coats were worn—and of course, a top hat. Altho I have no like for crew cuts or the shaggy bobs of modern man, they do beat parted in the middle, plastered-down hair of the hero of old.

As far as hair-do is concerned, the girls hair was as bad as the men's. A variation of the popular shower style—the old up-sweep—was displayed in "East Lynne."

I also gained an appreciation of the quiet modern theater with—

Union Holds Free Show On Saturday

Second in the series of Union Variety Shows will be presented Saturday night at 8 p. m. in the Union Ballroom. Students must present activity cards to enter the free show.

"Destry Rides Again" is the modern western movie co-starring James Stewart and Marlene Dietrich. Academy award winner Jimmy as the sheriff's son and Marlene, the barroom singer, provide a zippy dialogue.

Novelty is the keynote of the three vaudeville acts. The "Rolling Rockets" will work with some "unsuspecting victim" in the audience. A performer on bars and an accordion duet complete the bill.

A record crowd attended the first Sunday show, and it is hoped that the Saturday night attendance will surpass the record.

Brr... Grapes of Hallowe'en Are Real Eyeballs at Bessey

By A. Rat.

Brr—Talk about shattered nerves, the past two weeks have been the worst I've ever known. You guys have Hallowe'en one night. I've been having it for 10 or 12 nights running. I've lost count.

I'm one of the unfortunate mice that didn't get "blitzed" in the raid on Bessey the other day. Those lucky devils. What a lot of misery they got out of!

We've had all the Hallowe'en props on record operating against us; floating skulls, shrieking laughter, eerie moans, rattling bones, skeletons brushing by brr—everything. And we know ours is real.

You've passed grapes in the dark at your parties and are told they're eyeballs. They pass as eyeballs here and Yipe!!! They're the real thing!

You see what I mean? To tell the truth, that record of 53 mice

Approximately 70 delegates from 33 colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada, registered yesterday afternoon in the Union, for the 43rd annual conference of the Association of American Universities, which opened with registration yesterday and will continue thru Saturday.

Featured at the second general session to be held at 9:30 p. m. today in the Union which is open to the public, will be General Lewis B. Hershey, director of the se-

Goblins Parade At Gala Party On Ag Campus

Halloween costumes or hard time clothes are in order for the mixer that will be held on the Ag campus tonight in the student activities building.

There will be ghosts, dancing and bobbing for apples to keep the party lively according to Florence Hamer, president of the ag social council, sponsors of the event. Dorothy Sic is chairman for the dance.

Students may come alone or with dates. Price of admission is 10 cents.

"blitzed by Mr. Shaw in the past few days isn't all due to his efficiency. Many of those poor devils just couldn't stand the hazing and went around looking for Shaw's traps.

I hope I can stand it all until after the all-out effort tonight.

What a hallowe'en party, brr—And from now on I'm a white mouse.

AAU Delegates Fill Dining Room

Students and faculty members are urged to use either the Pan-American room or the Corn Crib this noon since facilities in the main dining room will be limited as large groups of faculty members have reserved tables for delegates attending the Association of American Universities.

lective service system, speaking on "The Role of the University in the National Defense Program," and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, who will talk on "American Education and Naval Requirements."

Educational Consultant Talks.

Dr. Francis J. Brown, Consultant of the American Council on Education, will talk on "Higher Education Serves Total Defense," at the last general session this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. in the Union. Also appearing at the same session will be President Harold W. Dodds, Princeton university, and Dean Arthur B. Lamb, Harvard university, who will discuss "University Procedures and Problems Growing Out of Defense Activities."

Three Prexies Receive Free Cornhuskers

Bob Sandberg is the first fraternity president to receive a free Cornhusker in two weeks in the picture contest. Members of Alpha Tau Omega had their pictures taken 100 percent by the deadline.

Jean Holtz, president of Alpha Chi Omega, and Harriet Jane Bowman, president of Alpha Phi, will also be given free Cornhuskers because of the promptness of their members.

Other percentages for sororities and fraternities whose pictures were to have been taken by Oct. 21 are: Delta Gamma, 95; Pi Beta Phi, 92; Kappa Sigma, 73; Farm House, 15; Sigma Alpha Mu, 3; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 0.

Percentages for sororities and fraternities whose pictures were to have been taken by Oct. 29 are: Kappa Kappa Gamma, 86; Phi Kappa Psi, 69; Kappa Alpha Theta, 64; Delta Tau Delta, 58; and Sigma Nu, 40.

Members of Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Sigma Delta Tau, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, and Sigma Epsilon will have until Nov. 4 to finish taking their pictures.

The Cornhusker staff asks that all those who have received their proofs return them to the studio at once. Such action is as important as getting the picture taken in the first place.
