

S'no Fun! Snow Falls for Frosh

Old man winter has put another crimp into the plans of the university. The annual tug of war between the freshmen and sophomores to determine whether freshmen should continue to wear rep caps until the first snowfall was to be staged between the halves of the Pittsburgh and Nebraska football game. However, this year the cart was before the horse. A white blanket covered the ground before the tug of war could be held.

It is a tradition on the campus that the freshmen must wear their red caps until the first snowfall.

To hasten the disposal of the freshman caps, the tug of war tilt was adopted. If the freshmen won, the caps could be thrown away, but if frosh lost, they had to wait until Old Man Winter favored them.

This was the first time in many years that snow has descended on the Husker campus before the tug of war could be tugged. Because of this unexpected visit from old man winter the tug of war must be postponed until next year when it is hoped that the frozen version of Jupiter Pluvius may be held in check.

Wanted! A Sponsor . . .

So Students May Ice Skate

. . . On University Ground

By Art Rivin.

Why is there no ice skating rink on this campus? We were wondering about that so we had a talk with operating superintendent L. F. Seaton. This is his story:

Some many years ago there was a rink on the ground where the new library is being built. It was sponsored and paid for by the WAA. For three years they flooded the land and for three years old Jupe Pluvius was unkind to the fellows and gals who wanted to skate. Either the ice melted or else the snow was too deep. So in three years students had a total of about ten days of skating.

The WAA finally gave up in despair.

Land Is Available.

About the future? Mr. Seaton is not sure of the practicality of the project in the light of past failures. There is university ground, however, which might be available—that territory in the block west of the Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Nu fraternities.

According to Seaton the university is unable to pay for the construction and maintenance of a rink although it might furnish the land. "If there is a rink built," he says, "it will have to be sponsored by some student organization."

So by the grace of the elements, the university and some progressive organization, there may yet be a chance for ice skating on the campus.

UN Figures Show Enrolment Drop

Ratio of Men to Coeds Remains At Two to One Despite Draft

Preliminary reports from the admissions office show a total drop of 9.7 percent in the enrolment in the university this year. There is a 10.3 percent drop in the number of men registered and a 9.1 percent drop in the women's enrolment.

Comparative figures reveal that there are 4,201 men enrolled now as against 4,383 last year, 2,251 women entered this year as against 2,360 in 1940-41.

Arts and Science college again has the largest enrolment with a registration of 1,374 students, a figure larger than the combined enrolment in the college of pharmacy, college of law, school of nursing, college of dentistry, and college of agriculture.

Of the 741 students registered in the college of engineering, only one is a woman. Six women have entered in the college of law, eight in the college of pharmacy and ten in the college of medicine.

While this year's figures show a drop from 749 to 714 enrolled in Teacher's college, it shows an increase from 197 to 201 men enrolled in the same college.

Oct. Awgwan Appears Today . . . Note Date

It's November, and time for the October Awgwan to hit the newsstands. So this morning at 9 o'clock the special football issue was ready for distribution.

And what could be a more fitting introduction to a football issue than a picture of a very lovely female all dressed up in a football uniform? Gracing the cover is a pose of Theta pledge Maxine Thomas completely equipped for a tough battle on the gridiron.

A double page of pictures of football players and other personalities is featured in the magazine. The whole thing is done in a novel way with the pictures superimposed on other football background shots.

"Fewer jokes, better ones, and more pictures" is the way Editor (See DATE, page 2)

Reorganized Barb Group Elects Bill Dafoe President

Cornhusker Sets Nov. 15 Pix Deadline

Deadline for pictures for the Cornhusker which was to have been tonight has been extended to Thursday night giving Thursday evening for students to get to the studio.

All sorority and fraternity pictures must be taken by Nov. 15 if they are to be included in the section given to that organization. This includes all pictures not taken by the time of the deadline set for each group of organizations. These late pictures will not count on the 100 percent rating.

(See DEADLINE, page 2)

Bill Dafoe was unanimously chosen president of the reorganized barb organization at a meeting last night which representatives from all barb groups attended. Dafoe is the originator of the new plan which goes into effect as soon as the cabinet is completed.

Lester Wiltedink, sophomore, became the vice president. Norma Watkins, the only woman officer, was elected secretary, and Dave Marvin was elected treasurer. Dave Martin acted as treasurer for the first quarter of the barb social season this fall.

At a meeting next week, committee chairmen appointed by the newly-elected officers will be approved by the general meeting of all barbs. "These chairmen will then take their place on the barb cabinet according to the organization plan," Bill Dafoe stated. Also plans will be made and executed by the committees all such

(See PRESIDENT, page 2)

Counselors Hostesses To Freshmen Women

The annual Coed Counselor dinner, one of the largest events to be sponsored by any university women's organization during the school year, will be held this evening at 6, in the Union ballroom.

This dinner is a part of the work done by the organization in helping freshman women to become acquainted with campus life and in encouraging greater friendship between freshmen and upperclassmen. Members of the Coed Counselor organization and their "little sisters," and all other university coeds are invited.

During the past week an extensive ticket campaign has been carried on, headed by Ann Kinder. Coed Counselors representing every organized house on campus served as salesgirls; many of the houses are cooperating with the Coed Counselor group by closing their dining rooms to encourage a one hundred percent attendance of their members. As a further incentive to ticket sales, prizes will be given to the coeds placing first and second high.

Anyone who has not been contacted and who desires to purchase a ticket should call Ann Kinder at 4-2119; price of admission is 50 cents. Tickets were printed by the courtesy of the Co-op Book Store.

Guest speakers for the evening will be Mrs. Verna Boyles, dean of women; Miss Elsie Ford Pierson, and Miss Letta Clark, both sponsors of the Coed Counselor organization. Other entertainment will be provided by the Pi Phi trio and by a style show, in which every organized house on the campus will be represented. Dorothy Weirich, who is the head of Charm School this year, will

(See TONIGHT, page 2)

Lincoln Journal.
Mrs. Verna Boyles.
. . . guest speaker.

Nebraskan Publishes Fall Fashion Edition Tomorrow

The Daily Nebraskan will publish its annual fall fashion edition tomorrow and co-editors will be Marjorie Bruning and Helen Kelley. The issue will contain articles by various men and women on the campus and pictures of students modeling both formal and informal clothes. Extra copies of tomorrow's Nebraskan may be purchased in the Union and at the checkstand at social science for five cents.

Lincoln Alums Start Member Drive

Committee Stages Informal Gathering in Union Thursday

Feeling that the inertia of the 7,000 Lincoln alumni of the university is more thoughtlessness than anything else, the officers of the Lincoln Alumni association have determined to "do something about it."

The Lincoln Alumni club, which has a potential membership of 7,000 former students, actually has only 700 members! The officers of the club feel that with 7,000 active members pushing an alumni program for the university, sufficient force would be created to bring to a culmination many projects for university development.

T. B. Strain, president of the Lincoln club, is working with an executive committee to plan a longtime program to be co-ordinated with the university as long as the institution exists. Composing the committee are Mrs. Harry Flansburg, vice president; Mrs. Robert Simmons, secretary; Clarence Hinds, treasurer; Bert L. Reed, and John H. Agee.

Convinced that everybody is tired of drives for this and that, the committee will tackle the problem from a new angle by staging a

(See DRIVE, page 2)

T. B. Strain
. . . heads group

Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star.
Mrs. Harry Flansburg
. . . vice president.

Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star.
Mrs. Robert Simmons
. . . acts as secretary