

At the Stadium and Waiting . . .

All dressed up for the game are Barbara Moorehouse, Alpha Phi pledge, and George Blackstone, ATO, pictured entering Memorial stadium. Barbara, the typical casual college girl, is wearing a sea-foam pastel flannel, an original Carlyle, exclusive at Ben Simons and Sons. The belt of the dress is dark green leather, trimmed in red suede octopuses, dark green leather, trimmed in red suede octopuses, sports things. Her hat is a brown felt bonnet, and her shoes, snub-nosed saddle tan pumps.

"BDOC" is George's title in these smooth sports clothes. His trousers are blue twill, and his jacket (note the pockets) is a beautiful herringbone tweed. The porkpie is tan corduroy, and slung over his arm is his covert reversible.

Former UN Student Writes
Book for Girls Seeking Jobs

. . . Using Personal Experiences

"Girl With a Pay Check," a book proffering advice to girls seeking jobs, has recently been written by Miss Frances Maule, a former university student, who attended here when Chancellor Canfield and Lt. John J. Pershing were associated with the institution.

Miss Maule, in her book, urges girls to help create the right impression on a potential employer by using proper makeup and having their shoes shined. She declares in her volume, which comes out Thursday in a Harper publication, that a girl applying for a position must have a proper blend of eagerness and shyness.

Frances Maule is a native Nebraska. She was born in Fairbury, and later moved to Lincoln where she attended the public schools and university. When her family moved to Denver, she began to work as a girl with a pay check, and from then on she collected facts for her recent work. At the present time she lectures on vocational problems before schools, colleges, women's clubs and organizations of commercial teachers, personnel directors, and vocational counselors.

Besides "Girl with a Pay Check," the former Nebraskan is author of "She Strives to Conquer," "Men Wanted," "The Road to Adventure," "Your Next Job,"

Greetings to our host(?) of constant followers at the beginning of a new era . . . we make no promises except to present the gossip as it is told to us . . . remember we said gossip, so take it for what it's worth and be cautious when talking to strangers. . . .

Not much time for anything but Jerry Buller, Alpha Chi, is the way Fritz Wolfe, Phi Gam, would explain his five dates since Saturday with this attractive miss . . . If Curt Merrick, Phi Gam, is interested Margery Grant, Alpha Chi, would like nothing better than a future date with him . . . It seems these two houses are certainly linking themselves together . . . Remember Bob Sandberg, ATO, the fellow who holds nothing but disgust for steady deals, his daily calls to Catherine Carson, Theta, certainly point to something . . . Could find out no more than that Walt Johnson, DU, is personally acquainted with the city of Beverly Hills, or else a girl by the name of Beverly Hills . . . Tom Miller, ATO, is starring in the Kappa version of "Caught in the Craft" . . . As puns go, that's not at all bad? . . .

Back Again.

Back again is Art Lincoln, Delt, at the Gamma Phi house and with Mary Ellen Robison, something that started last spring but was never finished . . . A couple of the boys on furlough to look and lounge around the campus are Gene Wolfe, Sigma Nu, and Clark Kuppinger, ATO . . . Bob Durrrie, Phi Gam, and Mary Stevenson, Alpha Phi, had better start purchasing the usual cigars and candy, for the tubbings and teasings shall not stop until the "passing" is accomplished . . . Something tells us it shall not be far in the future . . . Dick Hunter, ATO, has pretty much of a monopoly on the future dates of Maxine Thomas, Theta, can't say about the Junior-Senior Prom . . .

It's a Mess.

One of the worst mix-ups is that going on between Betas Don Stewart and Jim Stoddard and Kappa Marge Holmes and Theta Marg Kenner . . . It seems that Don did date Marge K. but has Marge H. lined up for all important campus affairs, while Jim seems to be stepping in to take care of Marge K. . . . Well, anyway it's a mess and you can figure it out yourself . . . With no warning to any of the brothers, Fay Parker, Delt, hung his pin on a home-town girl . . . The weekend found Ellena Politis of Howard Hall at the Doane homecoming with her steady from Wayne State . . . Intercollegiate! . . . In the way of setting a few persons straight on the subject of the steady deal between Milt Rothenberger, Sig Alph, and Kay Whitehead, Pi Phi. It is a steady deal—it is serious—no one, and we mean no one, is capable of cutting in . . . These are reliable facts. . . .

Secret?

Thought we ought to let you all in on this, Delt Bob Galloway, you know he's pretty partial to Alpha Phi Mary Stoddard, has ordered another pin . . . One boy can't use two pins alone . . . A high school sweetheart has been remembered even among all the beauteous coeds, for Frank Meroney's DU pin is on Dolly Clinton of North Platte High . . . The Farm House actives are treating the pledges to a bit of a house party Saturday night . . . Among those looking forward to the actives' efforts are: Harold Hansen and Dorothy Freeborn, Paul Eveland and Kay Huston, Randy Pratt and Jean Buckley, Theta. And Johnny Fitzgibbon and Janice Marshall, Gamma Phi, which we predict will terminate in a pin-hanging. . . .

Hats off to the Theta Xi pledges for being just one step ahead of the actives . . . As the story goes the actives had planned to start "hell week" last night at dinner . . . When the actives arrived home to start the session, they found the pledges had invited Sgt. Regler, the campus cop, and two of his assistants . . . As yet Jack McPhail, DU, has had no acceptance to his Military Ball invitation sent to Betty Grable . . . More in the steady category are Gamma Phi Helen Jean Sornberger and ATO Jack Kennel . . . Our congratulations to the two new initiates of the Alpha Xi house, Helen Closs and Jean Wachner.
