

The Sports Mill

By Bob Miller

A rivalry that boasts of 20 years standing will be renewed Saturday and every indication points to a rip-roaring battle to be the result when these two teams, Nebraska and Pitt, gaining speed and new impetus after every battle, meet.

Tough Schedule:

The fact that the Panthers have lost five games seems to make some think that they do not have much back at the former football capital. But when the losses were to Purdue, Michigan, Minnesota, Duke and Ohio State, they take on a new light for this is, as has been appropriately termed, a "suicide schedule".

In six games this season the Huskers have won two and lost four and in doing so, they have rolled up 65 points to their opponents' 48. In the same number for Pitt, the latter has won one and lost five but have scored 34 points to their opponents' 133.

With the aid of a division sign we see that Nebraska has averaged 11 points per game as opposed to their foes' 8 point average. As for Pitt, their record isn't quite so interesting with an average of 5 1/2 points and 22 for the foes. Incidentally, in a Pittsburgh sports section was seen this jibe: "At last, the Panthers are finally reaching the easy spot on their schedule." Time will tell lots of things about this statement.

"Gay nineties" atmosphere will again dominate "between reel" entertainment. Recordings of Beatrice Kay's plaintive warblings will be broadcast over the public address system.

There will be the usual wading in peanut husks and the usual "Piano nickelodion" music of Russ Gibson.

Identification cards will be required for admission to the show, one identification to a couple. The entire program is under the direction of the Union entertainment committee, Geraldine Henderson, chairman.

Fans of the West" just send their pep along the wrong lines . . . They have a particularly engaging yell that comes only when there is a penalty marked up against them. They count off the yardage along with the ref. "One, two, three, four, five—you . . ."

The part that is censored here, is not censored in their version and their version has official-netting powers.

Bud Higgins, mite-sized University of Minnesota back, has the Indian sign over Harvard. . . Seems that several years ago, Higgins had a great desire to go to Harvard and he had the grades that could make the requirements. . . Dick Harlow, Harvard coach, was interested for rumor had it that Higgins could play football so he contacted alumni. . . The alumni did not look into the rumor and so Higgins went to Minnesota. . . After the seat-back's showing against Northwestern, Harlow is really hollering for he figures that Higgins could just as well have been doing the same for Harvard.

Jottings.

After the Husker-K State game, Minnesota scout reported back that (1) the Huskers substitute by the team system and (2) they have three teams of near equal strength. . . Amazing, isn't it? . . . Tom Harmon can't make up his mind. . . Getting off the plane in Hollywood, he was greeted by the "one and only" but couldn't decide whether or not he would kiss. . . He didn't but added that he would ask her a very important question very soon. . . It seems to us that he had better get to the stage where he can bid her hello in the proper manner before popping any questions.

John Selleck Wears Smile In Anticipation

. . . Of Big Crowd

Smiles greet the favored who work with John K. Selleck, athletic business manager, these days as it seems that everything is rosy for a change.

Pitt beat Fordham, last week; Nebraska held Minnesota to a close decision; Pitt appears to be at top form; the Huskers will be at their best form, the sun is shining, and the weather football cool; the gridiron is dry and the tickets are going fast—all of these items combined are the cause of Manager Selleck's beaming smile.

"From the way tickets have been going, there's little doubt that the attendance will hit the 35,000 mark," Selleck commented "Give us a good day and we might have to squeeze the customers into the stadium."

As it looks now all of the things that Selleck hopes for concerning a dry field and a good day may be realized making his smile more or less a permanent feature.

Scores from . . . Mental Ability Tests Prove Detrimental to Few Students

. . . Says Dr. Comptin

BROOKINGS, S. D. (ACP). In general, students are benefited rather than retarded by being informed of their mental ability test scores, research by Dean R. K.

Comptin of the general science division at South Dakota State college indicates.

clered they would not vounteer if England and France were in danger of defeat and the United States declared war on their enemies. In the present poll southern students appear to be the most bellicose, those in New England and the west central states the least. In no section, however, was a majority found who would volunteer.

Dr. Comptin, who also heads the college psychology department, recently completed a survey involving 1,331 students from 27 different colleges.

Knowledge of the scores resulted in possible detrimental attitudes in only 4 to 6 percent of the students tested. He observed that students who had estimated their ability higher than the test indicated apparently derived less benefit from the knowledge than those who had underestimated their intelligence.

Dr. Comptin advises that test results probably should not be made known to students unless this knowledge is accompanied by adequate counseling service at the same time.

What students would actually do should the United States declare war, is of course a matter of speculation dependent on circumstances at the time. Neither are the above results to be interpreted as an indication that college men would stand idly by in case of a threatened invasion of this country.

Would Not Volunteer.

In February 1939, the Surveys found 80 per cent of the men saying they would not volunteer in a war for other reasons than the defense of the country. In October of the same year 58 per cent de-
