

Arnheim Breaks Contract Ball Committee Signs Hoaglund

Everett Hoagland and his orchestra will play for the annual Military Ball Friday night instead of Gus Arnheim, Carl Harnsberger announced today. "We are extremely fortunate in obtaining a band of such quality," said Harnsberger. "The no-fringing the midwest circuit of late, this band is well known to radio listeners everywhere," he continued.

Gus Arnheim broke his date for the ball for an engagement in Cleveland.

Hoagland's orchestra recently completed an engagement of several months at New York's famous Waldorf-Astoria and broadcasts over the Mutual and Columbia Broadcasting System networks. Before organizing his band several years ago, Hoagland was musical director of RKO studios.

EVERETT HOAGLAND

Rehearsals for the ball will be Wednesday and Thursday nights at 7 p. m. Even if one partner cannot attend, everybody marching should be at the coliseum, advises the military department.

Grand March

The grand march will begin at 9 p. m. and all cadet officers with their partners will be appointed places in the coliseum at 8:50 p. m. "The presentation of the honorary colonel will be short and original," said Lieutenant Colonel Millard Cluck. "The presentation and the

(See HOAGLUND, page 2.)

Dan Atkinson Wins National Essay Contest

Representatives of ag college are playing an important part in this year's International Livestock Show being held in Chicago. At a large banquet held Saturday night Dan Atkinson ag senior was presented as the winner of the National agronomy essay contest.

Charles Gardner another Nebraska man won the second and Dale Weibel fourth. Jack Carter placed seventh. To make the Nebraska domination complete, it might be added that the winner of third place was from Florida coached by Roy Blazer, a former Nebraskan.

The title of the essays was "Role of Legumes in American Agriculture."

(See CONTEST, page 2.)

Theatre Honors Dramatist

UN Alum Wrote 'Prologue to Glory'

The university will pay tribute to one of its distinguished alumni Dec. 10 to 12 when the University Theatre presents Ellsworth P. Conkle's newest play, "Prologue to Glory."

Now a professor at the University of Texas, Conkle received his AB degree from the University of Nebraska in 1921 and his MA degree in 1923. He did graduate work on the campus in 1931 after which he received a Guggenheim traveling fellowship and spent a year in England.

Returning to this country, Professor Conkle joined the drama fac-

Innocents Eye 'Beauties'

Debate Squad Plays Host To Wesleyan

Eight Teams Discuss Labor Unions Tonight In Practice Session

The varsity debates squad will play host to eight teams from Nebraska Wesleyan tonight in their second intercollegiate meet of the season. The debates will begin at 7 p. m. in the Temple.

Five men's and three women's teams will discuss the advisability of federal regulation of labor unions. For practice purposes only, the debates are not open to the public.

Upholding the affirmative for Nebraska will be these teams: Bill Rist and Joe McDermott, Yale Gotsdiner and Bob Passer, Ed Dosek and Bert Smith, Roma Biba and Joann Emerson, Mabel Schmer and Louise Woerner. The following people will take the negative side: Frank Mattoon and Art Rivin, John Knicely and Mort Zuber, Yale Gotsdiner and Bob Passer, Betty Newman and Shirley Keihn.

Aircraft Heads Inspect UN's Defense Facilities

... Establish Courses

An inspection trip of the university facilities for national defense was conducted by the engineering department yesterday for H. G. Kelmm, chief engineer of the Glen L. Martin-Nebraska company, and E. W. Dart of the same company.

After the trip it was decided that the company will negotiate with the university later, and they intend to co-operate with the university in offering national defense courses, according to O. J. Ferguson, dean of the engineering department.

The aircraft-inspector course that will be given by the university and was prepared with the help of the Glen L. Martin company, and Dean Ferguson remarked that the applications of the students that complete this course successfully will be given special consideration by the company. The aircraft inspector course is to begin Dec. 22, and applications for the course are being accepted by Prof. W. L. DeBaufre.

The purpose of the inspection trip, according to Dean Ferguson, was to discuss their companies needs in personnel and in testing

Cut List Of Queens At 4:15

Members of the Innocents society garbed in their hooded capes with only pulchritude on their minds will select Tuesday from 26 beauty queen candidates, the 12 coeds whose pictures will be sent to John Robert Powers, modeling agency head, for the final selection of the six 1941 Cornhusker beauty queens.

Judging of the candidates will take place at a Beauty Queen style show in the Union ballroom at 4:15 p. m., when candidates will appear twice, modeling street clothes and formals, on a 24-foot runway extending out over the ballroom floor. The audience will be seated at tables and will be served cokes by the Union.

The audience will cast ballots in a straw vote for their favorite candidates and, in making their

(See INNOCENTS, page 2.)

PBKs Name New Members Tonight

New members of Phi Beta Kappa for this semester will be announced Tuesday night at a dinner meeting of the scholastic honorary in the Union. Prof. Clifford M. Hicks, secretary of the local PBK chapter, will announce the students elected to membership.

The dinner address will be given by Dean John D. Clark, of the college of business administration, who will speak on "The Problems of Change," emphasizing the problems change is bringing the educational world.

All newly elected members have been invited to be guests of the chapter at a dinner, and they will be introduced to the members when the list is announced. The meeting will be presided over by Prof. Dwight Kirsch, chapter president.

—Lincoln Journal.

Unions To Hold National Convention Here Friday

... Climaxed by Formal Dinner

The 22nd annual national convention of the Association of College Unions will convene on the campus Friday, Dec. 5. Delegates from the 65 member unions, including Cornell, Brown, Pennsylvania U., Michigan, Colorado, Wyoming, Florida and Idaho will be present. All sessions will be held in the Student Union.

Robert Parke of the University of Buffalo and president of the association will preside over the convention. James E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star, will deliver the welcome speech at a breakfast which formally opens the two-day meeting.

Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons of the state supreme court will address a formal dinner Friday evening after which the convention delegates will attend the Military Ball at the coliseum.

Boucher, Griswold Speak.

Chancellor C. S. Boucher and Gov. Dwight Griswold will be special guests at a luncheon Saturday noon and will speak briefly. A continued varied program will include tours, business meetings, seminars, coffee hour, and a matinee dance.

Morton Margolin, first vice-president of the Union board of managers, will preside as temporary chairman of the delegate meetings. Elsworth Duteau, secretary of the board will be in charge of one of the discussion meetings which has as its subject "Roll of the Student Union in Developing Leadership."

Cob Workers Meet

All Corn Cob workers interested in selling advertising for basketball programs will meet tonight at 7 in the Kosmet Klub room in the Union.

University ...

Singers Present Third Annual Program of Christmas Carols

... Sunday in Union

Featuring unusual carols from many countries of the world, the University Singers will present their third annual program of Christmas carols next Sunday afternoon in the Student Union at 2 and 4 p. m., directed by Dr. Arthur Westbrook. Free tickets for either program may be obtained at the Union office, the ag hall office and at Miller & Paine's service desk.

"In the past tickets have been completely distributed by Thursday so you better get them now," advises Pat Hahr, social director of the Union.

Lella Lyne will appear with the Singers as organist.

Members of the Singers are: Doris Atkinson, Mary Helen Bush, Ruth Ferguson, Dorothy Huffman, Frances Keefer, Joy Miller, Maurine Mertz, Hazel Mae Ogle, Mabel Pierson, Janet Regnier, Betty Vlasnik, Robert Anderson, Robert Glock, Carlos Atkinson, Morris Hayes, Kenneth Husemoller, Roy Edward Johnson, A. Lynn Myers, Charles Oldfather, Aubrey Pettit, Thomas Pierson, Norman Rawson, Don Rieky and Howard Stacy.

Elizabeth Farquhar, Bernice Premer, Catherine Tunison, Mirae Anderson, Hazel Arple, Roma Biba, Neva Bishop, Ruth Brickell, Mary Jane Chambers, Beedie Ellis, Ann Fickling, Charlotte Filtner, Janet Hamphill, Jean Knorr, Mary Jean Murray, Shirley Smith, Betty Jo Wage-man, Claudia Wilson, Clarence Anderson, Glenn Eloe, Cleve Gentlinger, Darrell Hammond, Earl Jenkins, Roy Emory Johnson.

Dave Kinsman, Richard Koupal, Karl Liewer, Lester Lock, Elwood Lostro, Chester McPherson, Hal Moore, Ralph Salyard and Keith Sturdevant.

Members of the brass quartets are: Robert Krejci, David Kinsman, Robert Thatcher, Lyman Lorenson, Ted Thomson, Carlos Atkinson, Omar Jensen and Lester Lock.

Union Shows UN, Oklahoma Game Pictures

Thrilling moments of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game will be reviewed in slow motion pictures Wednesday night at 7:30 p. m. in the Union ballroom.

The movies reveal in detail the sensational touchdown of Nebraska's Wayne Blue. There is no admission charge for the program.

Union Hobby Shop Open On Tuesdays

This afternoon and every other Tuesday afternoon until Christmas vacation the Union Hobby Shop, room 18, will be open from 4 to 6 p. m. for students who wish to design and make their own Christmas cards.

Irmel Bush of the art department will instruct students in silk screening, block printing and wax stenciling processes. The Union furnishes the equipment and the instruction free of charge; only cost to the student will be paper on which the cards are made.