'High Jinks' Show For War Relief

The Student Defense Committee with the cooperation of the Student Union will present an all-student benefit show in the Union ballroom Saturday afternoon and evening. The entire proceeds, excepting tax, will be contributed to Red Cross War Relief Fund.

When national war relief drive was started, the defense committee felt the students of the university had contributed enough times this year to various relief drives. The Student Council has just completed a drive for funds for the annual Red Cross contributions and went far over its goal.

In preference to another house to house canvass, the defense committee is sponsoring the benefit show Saturday with the hope that every student will buy a ticket and come to the affair. A sell-out for both performances will be the student's way of showing his willingness to help out now when help is so sorely needed.

After taking a sneak preview of the benefit show, the Nebraskan promises it to be well worth the price of admission—30 cents. Tickets are being sold by both Corn Cobs and Tassels. The student defense committee, the pep clubs, the Student Union, and those in the show are doing their part to raise funds for the war relief. The success of their efforts will be registered by the number of tickets sold to you, the students. It's up to you. So see a Tassel or Corn Cob now!

A War Ago

By Marsa Lee Civin.

Extravagant and numerous parties at Nebraska were forbidden in 1917 by the official action of the inter-fraternity council.

The number of "hall parties" was limited to two a year for fraternities, while house dances were sanctioned in moderation. Concerning formal parties the council took no definite act but the consensus of the opinion was against making either of the two big parties a formal and all agreed that formal flavors including flowers, favors, and other useless extravagances should be voluntarily dropped.

The rule against subscription dances which was passed in 1916 was reaffirmed by the council.

Proving their willingness to cooperate to economize for the good of America's cause in the war, the Pan-hellenic council unanimously ruled that no formal parties be given this year and only one informal downtown party be given. Banquets were not abandoned and were to be given downtown as usual.

Delegates at the meeting declared that coeds will make no new party gowns for their big dance. Last year's garment renovated would serve the purpose for the occasion.

"Five hundred girls for Red Cross" was the slogan of the girls' club in their registration campaign. Members meet in room 202 Nebraska Hall for one hour each week to sew under the direction of the City Red Cross Association. French surgical dressings and "kits" were made.

Varsity Debate Team Attends Colorado Meet

Members of the varsity debating the progressive discussion. Frank Mattoon, Hugh Wilkins, and Bert Smith, with their instructor, Dr. Leroy T. Laase, head of the Speech department, left this morning for Denver, Colo., where they will participate in the Rocky Mountain Speech Conference.

"Resolved, that the democracies of the world should form a federation based on the eight Churchill-Roosevelt Principles," is the topic to be debated at the conference. Rist and Rivin will debate on the affirmative side of the resolution, and will also take part in a progressive discussion group. Wilkins and Smith will form the negative team, and will also take part in team, Art Rivin, Bill Rist, Frank Mattoon, the fifth member of the team, will take part in the progressive speaking and legislative assembly sections of the conference.

The conference, which will last three days, will attract debate teams from the Mississippi river to the Pacific coast, and from Texas to the Canadian borderline as it has in past years unless war conditions make it impossible.

No Decisions.
During the conference there will be no decisions or championships awarded but each speaker and team will be given a quality rating. At the end of the conference the average quality rating of each speaker and team will be computed so that the speakers may determine their approximate standing with the other contestants.

As a supplement to the debating conference, a director's conference will be held for the instructors of speech and debate from the represented schools. The main topic of discussion in this conference will be centered around academic measures in the teaching of speech. Dr. Laase, director of the varsity debate team, will address the conference on "Decision and Debate, Tools in a Democracy."

Tonight, Dr. Laase and the team will be guests of the Colorado College of Education at Greeley, Colo.

Former UN Grad College Dean Dies

A former dean of the UN graduate college, Frederick W. Upson, died in Lincoln early after an illness of over two years.

Dean Upson, who first became a faculty member 29 years ago, served as dean from 1929 until his retirement about three years ago, and in 1939 was made dean emeritus.

He took his bachelor's degree from Nebraska in 1907 and his MA a year later. Dean Upson came to UN in 1913 as professor of agricultural chemistry and after 1918 was professor of chemistry and chairman of the department.

He was the author of many articles in chemical publications and was a member of many chemical honorary societies.

Men's Phys Ed Group Gives Free Army-Psychological Work Available in Special Course

Public Is Invited to See Events Designed to Help Navy, Civilian Defense

The university department of men's physical education and athletics will offer a free demonstration open to the public tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the coliseum, according to Dr. R. G. Clapp, chairman of the department.

The demonstration is designed to co-operate with the war and navy departments and civilian defense organizations in their request that colleges and universities expand their physical education, intramural, and intercollegiate programs to improve the physical fitness and morals of civilians and prospective members of the fighting forces.

It is felt that this demonstration will emphasize to the student body and the public some of the opportunities offered to university men for wholesome physical exercise and recreation, said Dr. Clapp.

The program, with the names of those directing each event, follows:

- Vigorous calisthenic drill—Prof. W. W. Knight.
- Class vaulting exercises on heavy gymnastic apparatus.
- Wrestling—J. J. Adam.
- Boxing—Harold Matthews.
- Gymnastic games—C. E. Miller.
- Tennis—Joe Stanton.

Any student interested in the possibilities of assignment to psychological work in the army air corps should consult Dr. William E. Walton of the psychology department, who is able to inform students as to the requirements to be met.

Exhibition on horizontal and parallel bars, rings, side horse, and tumbling—C. E. Miller.
Track—Ed Weir.
Swimming—Tom Leeke.

Students will serve to demonstrate the various exercises. The University of Minnesota gymnastic team in Lincoln Thursday will be invited to participate in the tumbling exhibition.
