

Trackmen, Cagers Go Into Action Saturday

Two of Nebraska's Chief Hurdle Threats

Lincoln Journal. Ralph King, left, and Bill Smutz are two good reasons for Nebraska's superiority in the hurdle event. So far Smutz has not gotten a perfect step in a race and King has been sitting in his blocks until well after the gun barks. Both will improve by the time of the conference meet in the opinion of Track Coach Ed Weir.

Cyclone Splashers Seek Wins Over Big Six Foes As Dual Seasons Finish

AMES, Ia.—Iowa State college will be seeking to end its season without a conference loss when the swimming team invades Nebraska and Kansas pools Friday and Saturday.

Coach Jack McGuire, who will be making his first appearance around the conference, has seen his swimmers win two of three meets this year. The Cyclones defeated Carleton and Nebraska, while bowing to Minnesota.

The traveling squad will be led by Brian Brown, undefeated sophomore star from Austin, Minn. Brown has six firsts in three meets, winning the diving three times, the 220 free style twice, and the 440 free style once. He has scored 34 points.

Other members of the squad will include Thornton Wilson, Fred Musser, sprinters; Capt. Ward Sear, Ernie Adams, backstrokers; Bill Slater, Clyde Noll, breaststrokers; George Wales, diver, and Bill Neilson, 220, and 440. The team probably will be without the service of Lincoln Stewart, breast stroke, and Bill Bosworth, sprinter.

Preparations for the 1942 Big Six swimming met, to be held at Iowa State college March 6-7, were started yesterday.

George F. Veenker, director of athletics, yesterday mailed entry blanks to all conference schools. Iowa State is the defending champion.

Oklahoma will be the guest of the day tomorrow in three different sports—track, basketball swimming, as Husker teams attempt the difficult task of bringing back three victories.

The Sooners will all travel in the same bus and will be on hand for the first engagement at 3 p. m. Saturday afternoon for the swimming teams of Nebraska and Oklahoma to get off to a good start.

In the evening there will be two activities confronting Husker fans since the track and basketball teams are in action at the same time. The track meet will be held under the east stadium, and the basketball game will be witnessed in the coliseum. The swimming meet is in the coliseum tank.

Lyda Stars.

As for the track team, Oklahoma builds its strength around one Bill Lyda who doubles in the 440, 880 and anchors the mile relay team. It is the same Lyda who defeated Gene Littler in his pet event last spring in the Big Six outdoor. The two will get together in the feature race of the evening.

The Oklahoma team while small, boasting of but 13 competitors, promises to be strong enough to offer the Huskers some competition where they least expect it. Coach Ed Weir indicated that the track meet would be over by the time that the last half of the basketball game gets under way.

Tucker vs. Held.

Starting time is 7:30 p. m. On the maple courts, Coach Bruce Drake will bring his league leading Sooners to an important test of strength. There will be added features to the game coming from Ralph Tucker's skill under the basket and Sid Held's attempt to break down the Sooner defense.

In the last engagement on the Norman court, Nebraska fell by a 37-29 count with Gerald Tucker getting 17 points for high man. Held was completely handcuffed, scoring but one point during the entire evening. Tipoff time will be 8:00 p. m.

The Rev. Joseph Schabert, dean of St. Thomas college, St. Paul, Minn., is president of the American Catholic Philosophical association. Tufts college has concluded its 24th consecutive academic year without a deficit.

KU Ping Pong Champs Meet NU Tomorrow

A semi-annual ping-pong meet will be held in parlors X, Y, and Z of the Student Union tomorrow at 2 o'clock when the champions of the University of Kansas tournament sponsored by the KU Memorial Union invade the title grounds of Nebraska's Carl Erickson, Harry Ankeny, Marian Mann, and Jane Johnson.

In the recent elimination matches sponsored by the Union men's singles were won by Carl Erickson, while Harry Ankeny was runner-up, and the two as partners captured the men's doubles title. In the women's division Marian Mann came out as champ, and she and Jane Johnson won doubles honors.

Eight matches will be played between the contestants, four singles matches, two doubles, and two mixed doubles. Students may watch the playing any time during the afternoon.

buttons on sleeves

In 1364, John Brandon had numerous buttons up to the elbows of his undervest so he could get his hands through the tight sleeves. Buttons were also used on cuffs of jackets so that the wearer could push through his ruffled cuffs. Frederick the Great ordered buttons put on the sleeves of uniforms to discourage the use of cuffs instead of handkerchiefs.
