Big Six basketball champion will be decided this weekend, but everything hinges on one word—if.

As the standings are now, Kansas leads the conference with only one loss with Oklahoma trailing with two. But Coach Phog Allen's Kansans have three games remaining which they must win to capture the conference title. The most formidable of these foes is the Sooner quintet, the others being Kansas State and Missouri.

Sooners Must Win.

If Oklahoma wins their game with the Jayhawks, they will clinch a tie for top honors. Should Kansas fail against their other opponents, they would finish second to the Sooners.

In third place with four losses, is Iowa State. The Cyclones clash Friday with Kansas State for their sign off game of the season. The Cornhusker cagers occupy fourth place in the race with their remaining game to be played against Missouri at Columbia Saturday.

The cellar position is held jointly by Missouri and Kansas State, each team claiming two victories and six losses.

Defending Champs Back in Track Running Events As Big Six Teams Meet

LAWRENCE, Kas., Feb. 25.—With defending champions in every running event, and not a one sure of retaining his crown, the 1942 Big Six indoor track and field meet Saturday in Kansas City's municipal auditorium looms as a thriller.

WILLIAM SMUTZ EUGENE LITTLER
Lincoln Journal

Heaviest load of the evening will rest on Nebraska's hurdling star, Bill Smutz. Winner of both the high and low hurdle races last year, Smutz has found the competition at a new high this season. Three times this year Smutz has been beaten.

Joe Shy, Missouri low hurdler, was the first to take Smutz' measure. Then came Ed Darden, Kansas State ace, to whip the Husker in both the high and low hurdles four days later.

Littler May Be Slower.

The most colorful figure in recent Big Six track annals, "Red" Littler of Nebraska, may be seriously handicapped Saturday by a muscle sprain. Littler, who has won the 440 the past two years and the 60 yard dash in 1940 as well, has been held out of competition in the Huskers' last two dual meets in an effort to have him in shape for the big meet.

Oklahoma's great middle distance runner, Bill Lyda, appears as likely as any of the defending champions to repeat. Lyda showed he was in great form last Saturday at Lincoln by winning the 440 yard dash, the 880 yard run and taking second in the 60 yard dash. His time of 1:58.3 in the 880 was a new track record.

Ginn Favored in Mile.

Respectable little Bobby Ginn of Nebraska will do the honors in the mile. As Ginn already knows, he is going to have to do some running to keep Al Rues of Kansas State from taking the mile title. In the Husker-Wildcat dual meet, Rues pushed Ginn to a mark of 4:18.4.

The two mile run will put Dick Smithers of Oklahoma up against a tough field of challengers. One will be Rues and another may be Ginn, who likely will pass up the half mile, which he ran last year, to compete in the longer race.

Hunt Will Ascend.

In the four field events, a defending champion will appear in only one, the pole vault. But that vaulter, Harold Hunt of Nebraska, may be the outstanding individual in the meet. Fourteen feet will be Hunt's goal, a mark to which he has climbed outdoors.

In the army air corps now is Wayne Blue, winner of the shot-put last year, while the 1941 champion in the high jump and broad jump, Bob Stoland of Kansas, is working in a defense plant at Lake City, Mo. Stoland graduated last June.

Only four women have been graduated from the University of Washington's college of engineering in the last five years.

In its 58-year history the University of Texas has awarded 33,130 degrees, 5,176 of which were for graduate work.

Six Huskers End Season On Missouri Hardwoods

... Last Cage Game

With three wins against six losses Coach A. J. Lewandowski's cagers will try to bow out of the 1942 basketball campaign with a victory over the doormat Missouri Tigers Saturday night when the two quintets meet at Columbia.

Six senior Husker insignia wearers, Sid Held, H. Goetz, Leslie Livingston, Charles Vacanti, Lyle King, and John Hay will end their collegiate hardwood career in the conference finale Saturday night.

Win Assures Fourth.

A win over the lowly Tigers would give the Huskers at least a tie for fourth place while a setback at Columbia would put the Scarlet and Cream in fifth place, just out of the cellar.

The Missouri cagemen will be battling to get out of their lowly spot but the shooting combination of Sid Held and Kenny Elson will give the Cornhuskers a slight advantage over the Tigers. Max Young, star guard for Nebraska, may get the nod from Coach Lewandowski to cover the Missouri big gun Don Harvey, who has been hitting the strings for an average of ten points a game.

Huskers Won First.

In their first meeting the Nebraska basketballers humbled the Tigers by a 51 to 45 count, but since that early date the Tigers have brushed up on their ragged passing and shooting and will be near top shape for the battle Saturday night. Missouri has won encounters over Iowa State and its cellar partner Kansas State.

Probable starting line-up:

Nebraska	Missouri
Thompson	Harvey
Elson	Matheny
King	Storm
Held	Miller
Young	Evans

Iowa Matmen Have Big Six Title in Grasp

... Almost

AMES, Ia, Feb. 25.—Iowa State college makes its bid to repeat for the Big Six wrestling title when it meets Kansas State this weekend.

The winner of the meet at Manhattan will be the 1942 conference champion under the new championship system. Dual meet percentages are to decide the title. Iowa State handed Nebraska a 28 to 5 defeat at Ames and the Wildcats are certain to do as well against the Nebraskans when they meet March 7. That insures each team one victory with this week's contest to decide the championship.

Wildcats Have a Past.

The Wildcats won eight of their first ten meets, losing only to Franklin Marshall and Michigan State. Victories were recorded over Lehigh, Michigan, Vanderbilt, Indiana, Maryville, Navy and Appalachian.

Iowa State has not been so impressive, losing two and winning two. The Cyclones defeated University of Dubuque and Nebraska, but lost close decisions to University of Minnesota and Iowa State Teachers college.

The Cyclones close the dual meet season Saturday at Stillwater where they meet Oklahoma A. & M., national intercollegiate champion.
