Spring desperately trying to stab her long arms through the shades of winter to grip, with fresh hands, an eager-to-submit student body—a body starved for the caresses of that lady in expectation of being lulled into the pleasantries of lethargy.

Prime example of "senior desperation" is that of ATO Ed Calhoun and Alpha Phi Georgia Covey. They give Covey a sheepskin this spring and a Ed says "She ain't nailed a man yet but you can't say she isn't trying." As evidence he offered his pin which has its chain ripped asunder and is willing to swear on a stack of Sears Roebuck catalogs that the damage was done when Covey tried to 'cop his jewelry . . . A pure "work with pleasure" lad is Sig Ep's Dean Skokan who likes to have his dates during the week. He and Chi O Estella Lennamann have worked out a satisfactory study hall dating plan with week ends working out as they may. . . Then there are the befuddled souls who spend all their free time seeking costumes for the ATO Storybook hall, Sattiday eve. Friar Tuck Rundin, SAE, with his haircut and all, will appear as a toothbrush . . . Foo Delt Johnny Jones would more than like to monopolize Theta Ann Seacrest's spare time. Note the J. J. and A. S. monograms on the radiator grill of his auto . . . Phi Psi Georgie Yetter thought he'd better get her so he did. He and Kappa Patty Fulton are now a new permanent pair. . . We noted with interest that Manager Dean Pohlenz of the Stuart is promotin' a mighty interesting contest for restricted participation to college swains. The idea of the thing centers around a hundred word essay on "Why I would Like to be Stranded on a Desert Island with Betty Grable."

Sports scribe meets snooty political columnist. What happens? Amble on down to the STUART and find out. It's Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn in "Woman of the Year" and it takes off today!—Ad.
