by Chris Petersen

Shakespeare or Tony Galento, and I can't remember which, once sat down on a stump and wrote "Comes the verdant springtime, there wells up within my barren, yet capricious soul, a tingling, a titillation, which predicts winter philanderings will be put to nugatory shame by spring loves and fascinations."

As for us. There is spring in our soul—but we can't give. We're too full of illusions of pursuing a muse who scampers, giggling over wealds and runs undraped thru open fields. But that is the spirit of spring.

Don't Be a Sucker.

First a tag, in this clothes conscious edition, on the BDOC campaign: Ed Milder had sandwich signs advertising "Milder for BDOC" on ZBT pledges at dinner yesterday eve. To counteract that publicity, each member of that lodge found an all-day sucker from brother Ray Grimes or his plate at dinner which read, "You'll be a sucker, too, if you vote for Milder. Try Grimes!"... It makes one feel inferior to walk into a bowling alley to note the scores of such athletic babes as Dee Gees Helen Johnson, Irene Stimson, and Jane Fenton who roll well into the hundred and a half category...

Sig New Ed Wibbels and Sig Kappa Nellie Dee Carlin propped up against a post in front of the Temple chatting and enjoying the weather... They're pin mates you know... Sig Nu Clifton Bloom who was dropped like a hot potatoe by Barbara Stunt will test run with Stunt's pledge sister and roommate Patty Mead at the Prom this very eve... And that Don Kaye and his orchestra who have been playing at the Pike enough to catch the music attention of the campus with their swell show, encore on Saturday and Sunday eve...

Anything Can Happen.

People tell us that the one sure way to raise the ire of Phi Delt footballer Fred Metheny is to date his playmate from the Theta hut, Mary Helen Farrar. Doing that very thing Saturday eve is ATO Don Sherwood who escorts the lady to the Storybook brawl. Anything can happen...

Where to take that smoothie tonight? Why not the comedy of the year, WOMAN OF THE YEAR now flickering at the Stuart. Katie Hepburn and Spence Tracy are topbilled.—Adv.

Elsie Dinsmore's Diary
or
It Happened One Nite

By Norris Anderson.

Your author was originally slated to scribble on the foundation of womanhood, what lives off the fat of the land—the girdle. Blushing, let's forget this flexible foundation and turn to the dairy of Elsie Dinsmore, our old strip tease pal.

"Today is the last day of my run here at old Howard and I can't say that I'm sorry. Because the theater is in Philadelphia and is the oldest living theater you'd think it'd be a pretty classy dump, but take it from me, it is one of the corniest barns I ever dropped a strap in.

"To start with, the place is simply lousy with Harvard boys. Honestly, man, the way those kids sit there in that balcony with their short hair cuts and those horn-rim glasses and simply stare—why it's enough to make a body blush—I mean, if they laughed at the gags it'd be OK.

Last Saturday.

"Don't think the bean village is any cinch as far as Johnny Cop is concerned. Last Saturday I was feeling pretty frisky because the drummer in the orchestra had told me Gypsy Rose was retiring, so I peeled like a sunburned nose. All of those NYU kids in the front row shouted their tonsils out. Save for a w'isky bottle that some cute kid l'ounced off my ear, the act went off swell.

My billing here has improved just terribly. I held out for Exotic Enchantress like they booked me in Omaha but they picked up some broken-down redhead and called her the Titian Tigress. H—she looked like lizard. I finally wind up as the Titian Tigress and turned classy. But the guys don't respect class. All they can say is "take it off, peel kid, and shake dem duds." Life's awful as heck. Tell Milly and Johnny the Joint hello for me—Elsie."

Just what this has to do with fashions is food for conjecture. Maybe, s'help us, strip teasery will develop into a college art.

Printing and War . . .

The printing trade will soon feel the pinch of war, according to a representative of the Harris, Seybold and Potter company, Cleveland manufacturers of printing equipment. Printing supplies are fast being converted into defense materials.

Carrying Ag Goddess . . .
S. S. Nebraska Docks March 14
For Ag Spring Semi-Formal
. . . With Navy Theme

S. S. Nebraska will dock at 9 p. m. March 14 at the pier of the student activities building on ag campus when the Goddess of Agriculture and her attendants are presented at the annual ag spring party.

The navy theme for the semi-formal event was announced by Betty Anne Tisthammer, chairman of the presentation committee, who said that decorations and revelation of the Goddess will follow the sea style. Dick Mills and his orchestra will play for the affair.

Identity of the Goddess, elected last Friday by home ec students, will be kept secret until the night of the party.

Tickets for the affair are on sale at the Union office and from members of the ticket committee for 85 cents a couple, tax included.
