

WSSF Campaign Starts Tonight

Roland Elliott will speak tonight in Union parlors X and Y at 7 p. m. opening the WSSF drive on this campus. At 4 in the afternoon he will speak in the activities building on ag, beginning the drive there.

The goal set for this year is $750 and this has been divided among several groups including church groups, organized houses, ag campus, faculty and other organizations.

Last year University of Nebraska students and faculty were eleventh among the colleges of the nation in the amounts given and it is hoped that the drive will bring even better results this year. The co-chairmen are Jean Christie and Hugh Wilkins.

Elliott sailed on the Atlantic Clipper Nov. 28, 1941, as a personal observer for the WSSF looking into student relief needs. He made his way through Portugal and Spain to Switzerland and now is anxious to share with American students his vivid impressions of Europe.

His return trip was a complex journey, by slow train through Spain back to Lisbon where he was lucky enough to get a plane home—via Africa, South America, Bermuda to New York where he arrived Jan. 28.

Elliott expected to be back in the U. S. in time to attend the national Student Christian Assembly held at Oxford, Ohio which several students from this campus (See WSSF, page 2)

Educators Need Student Help This Summer

Students who need work this summer are being contacted by the National Educators association. About 25 students will be hired from this campus.

The work will be selling and before the students are sent out they will be given a period of training. Each one selected is guaranteed $180 as a minimum plus bonuses (See SUMMER WORK, page 6)

Tassels Entertain Pep Groups at Convention

Delegates from women's pep organizations of the country's universities will arrive tonight for the annual Phi Sigma Chi convention to begin here tomorrow.

Members of Tassels, the national presiding group this year, will be hostesses to the pep groups tonight at the final performance of the University Players' presentation of "Androcles and the Lion."

According to Miriam Rubnitz, general chairman, the delegates will breakfast informally in the morning and attend the convocation meeting in the Union. Tassels and their guests will lunch at the University Club and spend the afternoon seeing Lincoln and the university.

Over thirty women will attend the convention, it is believed, although the exact number of delegates is not known. Girls will be housed at sororities while they are here.

Six universities will be represented by the "Feathers" of Omaha University, the "Wheaties" of Wichita University, Kansas State's "Purple Pepsters," the "Jay Janes" of Kansas University, the "Icadets" of Washburn and the "Tassels" of the University of Nebraska.

Shaw's Satire Ends Theatre Run Tonight

Tonight for the last time the curtain will be pulled up on the Temple stage for a Bogen-Brummer adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's, "Androcles and the Lion." The play will start at 8 o'clock on the modern design theme which made a big difference in production.

The cast will be the same tonight as the past few nights lead by Robert Black as the lion and Romulo Soldevilla as Androcles. The supporting cast will howl and wail according to schedule for the amusement of the audience.

Law Sorority Elects Coming Year's Officers

Lotus Therkelson was elected dean of Kappa Beta Pi, international legal sorority, to succeed retiring officer Sarah Bonnie Miller in yesterday's regular meeting.

Frances Hans and Louise Wilkie, law college freshmen, were pledged to the sorority, which is the oldest legal sorority in the world and the first women's greek letter organization on the continent of Europe.

Other officers are Louise Wilkie, associate dean; Maxine Barker, registrar and Frances Hans, chancellor.

Pre-medical Students Take Aptitude Tests

Aptitude tests of the Association of American Medical colleges will be given April 24 to all students who expect to apply for entrance to a medical school during the next year, with the exception of those who have taken a previous medical aptitude test.

Interested students should make application within two weeks of the test day to Dr. Otis Wade, premedical advisor, room 308 Bessey hall. A fee of $1 is required of each student taking the test, and must be paid at the time he registers and receives his practice test sheets. The test will be given in the Bessey Hall Auditorium at 2 p. m., April 24.

Kosmet Klub Holds Try-outs Saturday Morning at Temple

Issuing a call for all men to report, Kosmet Klub will hold try-outs for its spring snow tomorrow morning at the Temple theater from 10 a. m. to 12 noon.

A large cast is needed, according to Walt Rundin, president of the Klub, who, also announced that the play calls for a large pony chorus and many female parts which will be taken by men.

"Altho singing, dancing or acting experience will help, it is not a prerequisite, for this will be a fun show like the ones in past years that were so popular," Rundin said.

The Klub will produce Bob Aldrich's play, "College Crazy" which affords plenty of opportunity for loonie antics, according to Prof. L. A. Martin who is director of this year's show. Song-writers are at work now writing music for the show; the winner will earn a $10 prize.

The play will be given April 15, 16, 17 and 18 at the Temple. Tickets will go on sale early next week, according to Bert Smith, business manager of the Klub.

Students Find Corpus Delecti In Bessey Hall

Three students had the surprise of their lives last Saturday afternoon while collecting books for the victory book campaign in Bessey hall. They stumbled into the anatomy laboratory unknowingly. There were the bodies, and, of course, there was the smell.

At first frightened and surprised, they raced down stairs exclaiming, "There are bodies up there!" After the situation was explained to them by a pre-med student, they decided they wanted a better view of the corpus delecti.

Consequently, Dr. Otis Wade, instructor of anatomy, extended a cordial invitation for them to visit the lab any Tuesday or Thursday morning between 9 and 12 a. m. when classes were engaged in dissection of the bodies.

Ninety Apply for Entrance In Possible Ordnance Unit

Ninety applications to enter the Ordnance Unit, if established, have been received by the military department during the past week as a result of the convocation held in the Union, March 10.

Of these ninety signed statements of students from all colleges, 71 possibly could be accepted for that type of unit. According to the military department, "Because of insufficient science and mathematic qualifications and low academic averages, this number was reduced to 71 to meet with requirements for entrance into advanced drill units and entrance into this particular unit," stated Col. Charles A. Thuis, PMS&T. This number will further have to be reduced to approximately 57, the maximum quota for the university, if the unit is established, it was learned yesterday.

It is planned to take students from all three of the present drill units and students enrolled in any of the various colleges, provided they carry the necessary scholastic qualifications.

As to the possibility of establishing such a unit here next fall, it was not definitely known. "At present we are waiting official notice from the Ordnance Headquarters of the 7th corps area, and until we receive this notice we cannot go ahead with any of our plans for this unit," stated the Colonel.

The War department intends to establish an Ordnance Unit in one of the mid-western schools it is understood, and is considering several others along with the University of Nebraska. Proper facilities, number of applications, and amount of equipment needed for the course, are being given consideration by the War department, and the school which appears to be the best suited will receive the unit.

Second ROTC Band Gives Concert in Union Sunday

... Directed by Ward Moore

Members of the university's second ROTC band will present a program of ten numbers Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in the Union, conducted by Mr. Ward Moore.

Highlighting the program will be Schelling's "Battle Scene" and Bennett's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow." Taken from the "Victory Ball," "Battle Scene" is "A vision of troops marching on irresistible, inexorably—nothing stops them—not those whose fate is written in fiery, stormy skies. On they march victory..."

The Legend of Sleepy Hollow concerns an autumn afternoon in peaceful Sleepy Hollow; Ichabod Crane receives an invitation to the Van Tassel farmhouse; the merry-making that evening; at midnight, tales of Witchcraft and Headless Horseman are told. Ichabod starts home on his old horse, and as he approaches the haunted bridge, the Headless Horseman appears out of the shadow. Ichabod flees with the Horseman in pursuit, is struck by the pumpkin and falls off his horse. When Ichabod disappears (See BAND, page 4)

Lyman, Warner Attend Student Health Meeting

Seniors Have 11 Days to Order Announcements

Seniors will be having bad luck for sure if they do not get their announcements ordered in the next 11 days. Orders may be placed at Long's or the Co-op book store for both the announcements and senior caps and gowns.

Caps and gowns should be ordered immediately, Bill Hastings, Senior Council member announced. No payment is necessary to reserve them.

Dr. A. J. Elliott's Lectures Highlight Third Holy Week ... Beginning Monday

Headlining the observance of the third annual Holy Week for Presbyterian students beginning Monday will be Dr. A. J. "Dad" Elliott of Chicago.

Dr. Elliott will talk on the "The Benevolence of Our Christian Faith" at early morning meditations and he is scheduled to make several lectures on the Christian faith.

Sunday at 5:30 p. m., he will talk at the Westminster church, and at 7 p. m. he is to speak at the Second Presbyterian church. On Wednesday at 6 p. m., the Presbyterian Student fellowship cabinet will have a supper meeting at the Union to which Dr. Elliott will speak on the "Power of Minorities."

Has Progressed.

Holy Week is sponsored by Baptist students and the Presbyterian Student Fellowship. It has progressed under the direction of Robert B. Henry, director of the Westminster Foundation, for the past two years and has now grown in its scope and popularity.

Plans for the week include nothing of a denominational character, and all students are invited to participate in the activities. The daily morning services will begin (See HOLY WEEK, page 2)

UN Loses Tagg; Music Teacher Goes into Army

Lawrence E. Tagg, secretary of the school of music and secretary to the director of the fine arts school, left for military service on Tuesday.

He came to the university about two years ago from Washington, D. C., where he was located on a civil service appointment. While Tagg was in Lincoln he directed the girls' choir, the boys' choir, and the adults' choir at the Grace Lutheran church.

He is located temporarily at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.
