

Pink Rag, Jr.

By Pat Chamberlain, Guest Writer.

My word! What a beautiful constitution, old top, old top! Pip, pip, and a heynonnynony. How these Cornhuskers take the Nebraska clime and the strenuous weekends we don't know—strapping specimens, eh what?

Raleigh's right on the beam about these weekends because there are no less than six major operations comin' off Friday and Saturday, plus diamonds, triangles and hearts. Those who don't step out at the Corn Cob fling Friday will be laughin' and lovin' at the Fiji-Tau pledge picnic in Penn Woods. Dates include ATO's Carl Petty, Bill Harse, and Tut McKee with Theta Peggy Lemon, Triple Delt June Griffin, and Theta again Helen Goodwin respectively. Phi Gams Ned Nutzman, Neil Stanley and Bill McNair will drag Alphy Chi's Carolyn Windle, Roberta Patterson, and Wilma Schacht that order. In pitiful hair tearing disorder is poor Squash Campbell, Phi Gam, and all because he has been saddled with the chairmanship of the beverages. Pink lemonade might possibly be nice for a change?

Measles Bring Powder.

On the way to Saturday, we might mention the measles of Pi Phi May J. Schmer and her touching remembrance received last night from sympathetic Lloyd London, Delt. He thoughtfully sent a box of itching powder. On the measles front reports have it that the ZBTs still are far ahead with seven active cases. Personally we have been afraid to investigate the rumor...Catching, you know.

Matters Saturday night encompass two house parties and right next door it's the Alpine Zee Delt and the Triple Tri-angels, the latter of which are really out for a wheee, because they were obliged to pass up their winter formal for certain and sundry pranks. Also stepping high are Townclubbers in the Cornhusker ballroom. Palladians attending are Ruth Anderson with Warren Guinan, Joan Thomas and Ralph Schroeder, and Maxine Thompson with Harold Alexis. Incidentally, these last two names have been seen about a lot together and the Palladians want the candy and seegars, but soon. Old time steadies enjoying a sentimental get together at this formal are Delt Lloyd London (where have we written him before?) and Carrie Belle Bonnie Wennersten. But each wants it definite that both are still footloose and fancyfree.

It's on Third Finger, Left Hand.

Now for that sparkling contribution to the third finger left hand of AOPi Shirley Hopkins which was added yesterday by Kenny Miller, Sig Chi. Congrats! A rumor among the Phi Pisis that all swear is true, so help 'em, is that Theta Rena Forsythe is about to be the proud bearer of brother Dick Harnsberger's pin.

A very interesting tale comes our way all the way from the bright lights of New York City where Jeannette Mickey, Betty Newman, Merriam Mann, and Betty Martin, representing the WAA, staid and aristocratic organization of the Cornhusker state, are spending a brief moment of relaxation from the Wellesley convention. But they seem to be making the most of this brief moment, because word comes home that they got lost in the big town ten miles from their hotel, and, mind, at one a. m. in the morning...Perhaps Bill Marsh, the famous Union director, should take a little time off his own wheee to hunt them up when he arrives today for a college Union convention via la airplane...Randy Pratt, Fuller Brush (plug) man and masher, announces herewith that he is open for any propositions or proposals

Women Hold Musical Tea Sunday at 4

Women's Residence halls will present a musical tea Sunday at 4 p. m. After a program in the ballroom, tea will be served in the main dining room.

Guests will include Dean Verna Boyles, Mrs. Oda Westover, Miss Elsie Ford Piper, housemothers, sorority presidents, organized women's house presidents, faculty and other invited guests.

Janice Cook and Rogene Peterson are in charge of all arrangements and Helen Krause has arranged the musical program.

...startin'... today...Beauty is necessary, also two nifty ahem's...

GEE WHIZ! We just remembered! Today's your last chance to see that topnotch moon pitcher at the STUART, "TO THE SHORES OF TRIPOLI." 'Cause tomorrow, Melvyn Douglas and Norma Shearer hold forth in WERE DANCING, a slick, sly, saucy offering of a couple of charming chiselers without a dime to dance on. (Adv.)

Wishnow Writes Article For Music Publication

Professor Emanuel Wishnow of the music department is the author of an article "On Development of String Playing" in the April issue of the State Music Educators Journal.

What They're Wearing

By June Jamieson

After Easter parades have already begun, with Bob and Mary Nebraska dragging out spring finery and mellowing it by lots of rough wear on campus, dancing and, above all, picnicking in the woods, gulch or what have you.

First in the fashion parade this season are suits, which have a universal appeal. Just an example is Theta Pat Chamberlain's beige and tan checked suit with very long jacket and that smooth tailoring which puts a gal in that "best-dressed" class. And Kappa Sig Dick Berg's spring wardrobe uses that same color scheme with sport coat of tan and beige plaid, slacks of the tan to match the coat, and a beige sweater.

KK Workers Advertise.

What the well-dressed Kosmet Klub worker is wearing these days shouldn't start a run to the nearest department store; they're sporting quarter-sleeves with the KK ads on the back for the glory of the thing.

Phi Psi Fred Steiner took time off from law school the other day to whip downtown and purchase a pair of tan-brown moccasins—and the brothers were amazed. Shoes to match her hat and blend with her dress are Alpha Chi Marge Stewart's favorite accessories. The powder blue shoes and hat are a pretty combination with a pink wool dress trimmed in blue braid...hardly a color scheme for an ATO gal tho.

A beau-catcher for sure is the ruffled blue and white polka dot silk that Pi Phi Butch Hemphill's wearing on her dates with DU Dee Deputron. It's not only got the ruffles, but they're trimmed in blue grosgrain.

Sig Chi Ron Metz, who's always slaving on Foundation work with Theta Lila Howell, favors gray-green covert slacks and (good old) saddle shoes. Another lover of the old standbys is Sammie Ben Novicoff, who likes saddles best when they're on the floor and his feet are on the desk.

It seems a shame that ZBT Yale Gottsdiner has the measles. He'll have to fumigate that new camel's hair sport jacket. The one with the patch pockets. While the men in that house are home with the measles, up R street a ways are the Tau brothers and Donnie James, with a light tan gabardine suit that makes the rest of the boys cast envious glances.

If Rus Gets Downtown

Shirly Russel, Cornhusker slave to the book, has her spring wardrobe all planned, and, if she ever gets downtown, it'll be pale aqua—a three piece suit with hat to match, and spectators, because it's almost spring. Alice Louise Becker, Alpha Phi's gift to the home management house, has planned her spring outfits in pink and blue too—with little or no significance attached to the colors—and breezes around college in a pink sweater and skirt and a blue suit. 'Peggy Bacon and Metaphysics' Returns Home

"Peggy Bacon and Metaphysics" has returned to Lincoln after an extended trip.

Not a social note, but an announcement that the celebrated painting by Alec Brook which belongs to the university's Hall collection is back in Morrill after exhibition in Worcester, Mass., among 50 paintings chosen as the best U. S. produced from 1930-40.

Forty-seven of the 50 artists thus honored have been represented in Morrill galleries in the last few years, according to Prof. Dwight Kirsch, 40 are either in permanent collections or the 52nd annual Nebraska Art association show which closes Sunday.

Lentz Publishes Another Book in Woodwind Series

Prof. Don Lentz of the music department had another book in his series of Woodwind Instrument Studies released by the Boosey-Hawke publishers last week.

Rod Monismith aren't bothering with being conservative. Their new suits are, respectively, dark blue with red and blue stripes and black with reddish brown stripes.

Kappa Phyd Hoffman sees pimate "Walrus" Engdahl, Sig Nu, in her two piece gray blue herringbone suit and a pale pink sweater. We predict a rainbow of light colors this spring, judging from the advance notices that the university has to offer.
