Pony Chorus Reveals Figures, Steals Show

By Alan Jacobs.

After an hilarious special performance last night, a funny, hysterical, crazy, pony-chorused Kosmet Klub show will begin its regular run tonight at 8 p. m. at the Temple.

In time of war it feels good to forget about fighting and MacArthur and what's going on in the world, and about 50 faculty members, newspapermen and especially invited guests attending a "sneak preview" last night forgot about everything but how good it feels to laugh.

And laugh they did. They laughed at Jim Shelley, member of the best pony chorus that ever hoisted a lovely—but hairy—leg off the Temple stage. Some wit in the back row muttered that he looked like the flying red horse in gasoline advertisements.

And then there was beauty queen Jim Stillwell, whose trim body and lovely face were featured attractions. He was in the pony chorus, and so was gorilla man—or is it woman—Sheldon Kaufman, petite Roger Cannel, buxom but graceful Ren Bukacek, what-a-body Don Steele, and "why-doesn't-he-keep-his-knees-together" Bob Fast.

It's Worth It.

The play was satisfactory; so were the dialog, action, romance, acting, etc. But the hit of the show was the pony chorus, which was worth the price of admission in itself.

Their best dance was the one to the "Bagatelle Fight Song," which had plenty of spirit and rhythm. "Belle of Bagatelle" number, featuring oomph gal, Max Whittaker, also went over big.

Then, there was the rest of the cast. They

"I'm just a girl on my own. . ." sings vivacious Gertrude, glamour girl of the Kosmet Klub show, who is Bill McBride normally. Listening interestingly to the song is her—or his—or its lover, Darrel Peters, a fellow who is taking the part of a fellow, who loves Gertrude.

Thiel Conducts Council Forum

... For Election Candidates

Explaining the Student Council and its operation, a forum will be conducted by Burton Thiel, president of the Council, for all candidates for membership whose names will appear on the spring elections ballot.

The meeting will be held in room 315 of the Union at 4 p. m. today, and discussion will be led by Thiel and Ruth Iverson, secretary, who will explain the organization of the Council and how it works. Thiel's subject will be "Principles and Objects of Student Government."

Demonstrating the workings and purpose of the committee, reports from the bookstore cap and gown committee, headed by Margaret Fowler, and elections committee, headed by Dick Harnsberger, will be presented before the forum.

Following the talks and discussion, the candidates will attend the regular meeting of the Council at 5 p. m.

Union's Quiz Series Begins This Saturday

Preliminary rounds of the Brainstormer's Quiz, sponsored by the Student Union, will be held Saturday at 1 p. m.

Each of the 38 entering teams will compete at this time in six groups of either six or seven teams. The groups will meet in the faculty lounge, music room, Computer's Club room, and in rooms 313, 315, 316 of the Union building. Participants will be notified of their meeting place.

Each team will be asked six questions, one on arts, one thought question, and one on either the far eastern situation or European developments. The remaining questions may cover any of the above or general knowledge of any kind. Miss Pat Lehr, Union social director, also advises that teams be up on their geography.

Bengtson Says UN Is Ready for War Program

"The University of Nebraska is ready to co-operate in the nation's war program!"

These were the words of Dean Nels A. Bengtson upon receiving a telegram from Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, pointing out that "America is counting upon the nation's college freshmen and sophomore classes to provide future officers for the United States navy."

The university has been "ready" since the day several weeks ago when a special committee appointed by Chancellor Boucher and made up of Deans O. J. Ferguson, C. H. Old-father and Bengtson completed the formulation of plans for curricula and special work in physical education to aid in the war program.

The plan, known as the "V-1 plan" is one by which freshmen and sophomores between the ages of 17 and 20 may enlist immediately as apprentice seamen but at the same time can stay in college and continue their regular courses at least until the end of their second year.

Nebraska's new program, as outlined by the committee, will go into effect with the beginning of the summer session. "We will be

N Club Names Royalty: UN 'Queen of Queens'

... At Fun Dance

There'll be a "Queen of Queens," a woman to top all Nebraska's feminine royalty, when the N Club votes upon one of the many members of this year's court to decide which will be supreme ruler.

Selected by "fair election, with discussion—there'll be no politics here," according to Bill Smutz, chairman of the dance committee, the coed will be presented to her subjects May 16, the date of the annual N Club dance to be held in the coliseum.

This noon at lunch, the N Club members will elect a group of six from which to select the final choice.

From the twelve contestants for Cornhusker beauty queens, the Typical Nebraska Coed, Pep Queen, Nebraska Sweetheart, Prom Girl, Pledge Sweetheart, Interfraternity Sweetheart and Goddess of Agriculture the "Queen of Queens" will be chosen to reign over the "fun party" in May.

Debate Team Member Wins Panel Award

Bill Rist, a winner from the Nebraska district in the panel discussion on inter-American affairs held here several weeks ago, was one of the six students to be seeded among 16 contestants, winners in their states, at the regional test in Kansas City Monday and Tuesday.

Eliminations were held Monday and finals last night. Representing seven states—Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, the 16 contestants were competing for the honor of being one of the eight United States students to make a tour of South America this summer. These eight winners will also engage in a discussion at Washington, D. C., which will be broadcast over a nationwide hookup.

Union Party Plans Must Be in Today

All ideas for concessions at the gala celebration of the Student Union's fourth birthday party, on May 1, must be turned in to the Union office today, it was announced yesterday by the Union Activities committee in charge of the Friday carnival night.

All organizations planning to enter are asked to include in the draft of their idea, not only the general plan, but also the admission fee, how many people are needed to run the concession, and to what charity the proceeds will go. Any type of concession is all right—an exhibit, a game, or something nonsensical.

All profits from concessions are to be turned over to worthwhile charities or funds, among those suggested by the committee being USO, Red Cross, Nebraska Student Foundation, Mortar Board Loan Fund, WSSF, and the Fort Crook Recreation Center.

Brigade Forms Two Parades On April 21, 28

Two military parades on April 21 and 28 have been scheduled according to an announcement of the military department.

The entire brigade will form both times at their usual stations at 5 p. m. on the afternoons of the parades. Both parades will follow the route of march used in last fall's parade on the campus.

On Ag Campus... Ag Extension Service Puts Emphasis on 4-H Clubs

When the President of the United States says, "4-H clubs are indispensable in wartime and mighty important in peacetime," it shows the position that 4-H clubs hold in the war effort.

A large part of the time and work of the ag extension service has been shifted to devote more attention to the 4-H clubs of Nebraska. Only a few days ago President Roosevelt gave 4-H clubs throughout the nation the "green light" to national 4-H mobilization. Governor Griswold inaugurated the mobilization in Nebraska with a radio address to thousands of farm and town boys and girls throughout the state.

Emphasis this year is on food production clubs and 4-H is one of the three key points in the war-time program of the Extension Service. About 23,000 boys and girls were enrolled last year and several thousand more are expected to be in clubs before many more weeks. Garden, poultry, dairy, beef, sheep, and swine clubs are getting special emphasis in the food production drive. Results are already coming in to indicate success.

Seven home ec majors have already accepted jobs as internes after they graduate this spring according to an announcement by Miss Margaret Fedde, chairman of the department. Each student and to which institution to which she was appointed are as follows: Maxine Copsey, Mills college, California; Alice Folda, Lincoln General hospital; Louis Frolich, Henry Ford hospital, Detroit; Alice Hoegemeyer, Barnes hospital, St. Louis, Missouri; Lucille Jack, Starling-Loving University hospital, Columbus, Ohio; Rosemarie Kotas, University of Minnesota hospital, Minneapolis; Dorothy White, Michigan State hospital, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Engineers Add Night Classes For Defense

Men, Women May Apply For Free, Non-Credit Limited Training Courses

Two new evening defense training courses in drafting, shop mathematics and in aircraft assembly inspection will begin at the college of engineering May 25, according to announcement made by Prof. W. L. DeBaufre, director of university defense training.

Women as well as men are invited to apply for the 15 week courses which will train them to be subinspectors for aircraft assembly.

Applicants for the courses must be high school graduates with two years of mathematics, 18 years old and in sound physical condition. The transcript of necessary high school records may be obtained from the director of defense training for this university.
