saved by each individual house and each of you, because subscription costs will be decreased considerably from what they are at the present time.

WILL THE INCLUSION OF A DAILY SUBSCRIPTION BE A START OF AN ATTEMPT TO MAKE SUBSCRIPTION TO THE CORNHUSKER, AWGWAN AND OTHER PUBLICATIONS COMPULSORY?

This is impossible because no additional fees for other publications will or can be added without the support of the student body. The university is opposed to putting a heavy load upon the students; in fact last year 75 cents for the Daily was considered as a maximum assessment. With this attitude there need be no fear that this program is the beginning of something much more extensive and something the students don't want. The fact that the Student Council has chosen the Daily Nebraskan as the one publication worthy of a universal program at the present time indicates that the other would have more difficulty is being included.

I know that money comes hard to most of us. When we buy something we want to get our money's worth. So you might well ask: IS 50 CENTS TOO MUCH FOR A DAILY PAPER? Well, if you go to a show it costs you 44 cents and if you include a coke in your evening's entertainment, the amount is almost equal to what it will cost you have the Daily Nebraskan five days a week for 15 weeks.

There is the matter of distribution. If universal subscription is given the nod by you, the Daily will be available in all main buildings on the ag and city campuses. In addition fraternity, sorority, co-operative houses, and all large rooming places will have papers delivered with no additional charge.

If you have any additional questions which you would like answered feel free to write or come in and talk with me. I have laid the cards on the table as only and clearly as I know how. The matter now rests with you when you go to the polls next Tuesday

Sincerely,
Paul E. Svoboda,
Editor-in-chief.

Quotable Quotes

By Associated Collegiate Press.

"Americans have always paid great deference to European culture patterns and the more uncritical among us have held a sense of inferiority. The average college graduate has had a greater knowledge of European culture than his own. The future will see a revival of interest in the cultural history of the United States. Close attention will be paid to American history, philosophy, literature and language. There will be a keener interest in American institutions, traditions and ideals. The well-balanced programs of secondary and higher education in the United States are likely to be characterized by a minimized emphasis upon European cultural antecedents and a greater emphasis upon American and Oriental culture patterns." Dr. Gordon S. Watkins, dean of the college of letters and science on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, foresees new stress on American culture.

Letterip

Dear Editor:

I see by the papers that the real reason for barb support of the Hare system is to gain a majority of the Student Council. Yes, this is the horrible truth. The barbs have the peculiar idea that there is no sense in supporting candidates and a platform unless a chance of winning exists. The Barb party wants control of the Student Council to put into effect its plans of social, housing, and political reform. They cannot gain that majority without passage of the Hare system amendment.

Here are the facts. If the Union Party elects three Council members in this election, they will have a majority next year, though the Barbs may elect nineteen. The iniquity of such a system is obvious. Opposition to the Hare system springs from the fact that parties would be represented on voting strength. If the Barbs have 60 percent of the vote, they gain 60 percent of the Council. I realize that this revolutionary proposal at a "democratic institution," like Nebraska is a shock to all fair-minded and patriotic students. Yet that is what the "tin gods" propose.

Now let us see some more facts. It is argued that each college has its particular interests and accordingly should be so represented on the Council. Yes, each college does have its particular interests, but the Student Council deals with housing, labor conditions, social programs, political elections, publication policies and these are all interests that cut across college lines. The word "interests" has two meanings, and so far, opponents of the amendment have confused the two in their arguments.

Next, it is urged that holdover members are necessary to experienced student government. But look at the proposed amendment. There is to be an election each semester with one-half the Student Council held over each time. There certainly is no loss of experience here.

Finally, the proposal gives to ag college a much fairer representation. The barbs realize that the university in reality is dealing with two campuses—a city campus and an ag campus—each with its own programs and functions. Under the present system, ag college gets one member to eleven from the city. Under the Hare system they will receive one to four.

We "sheep" are at last "looking beyond the ends of our noses." We are "ferreting out the real issues." And we are fighting for the Hare system.

Student Council,
c/o Student Body President,
University of Nebraska.

Dear Mr. President and Council Members:
Here at the University of California we are faced with the problem of the evacuation of many Japanese students. We of the student Executive Committee have known many of these people personally, in clubs, sports, and other student activities. Most of them have been born and brought up here and, in addition to being hard-working and intelligent, are just as loyal Americans as the rest of us.

Some of these students may come to your campus. We would appreciate it greatly if you would aid them in every way possible.

Sincerely yours,
Ralph Fisher,
Associated Students of University of California, President.

feature material, syndicated material, which must be purchased and which we cannot get at the present time because of the lack of money.

Thus the point that I wish to make is clear. In order to continue to publish, we must maintain our advertising. In order to maintain our advertising, we must increase our circulation. The only way to increase our circulation sufficiently is to adopt a plan of universal subscription. Therefore in order to continue to publish the Daily Nebraskan, we must adopt a plan of universal subscription.

These are the reasons that I would like to campus.

Sincerely,
Ben Novicoff,
Business Manager.

As long as the N Club has decided to name the "Queen of Queens" and since we have long ago given up all hopes for joining Nebraska's royalty, we have a nomination for the honor. —Jim Stillwell.

Jim Stillwell is a DU, but his beauty was not recognized on the campus until this year's Kosmet Klub show, and he was placed on the pony chorus. What a placement! What a man! What a woman!

In his dancing costume, padding, make-up, and wig, Jim Stillwell is the kind of a girl that makes fellows whistle. His legs are good; his body is trim; his face is cute. And what personality!

Just because he had not been discovered in time for the Nebraska Sweetheart, Typical Nebraska Coed, Beauty Queen, Drake Relays Queen, Prom Queen, Inter-fraternity Sweetheart, Inter-fraternity pledge Sweetheart and all of the other elections, should not disqualify Jim Stillwell from the "Queen of Queens" title.

Credit should go where it is deserved. And Jim Stillwell deserves the title.

If you don't think so, get a ticket close to the stage for the Kosmet Klub show and watch him in action. The boy's got IT.

Ferber's Name Omitted From New Sigma Xi List

The name of Roy Chester Ferber, jr., chemical engineering and mathematics, was unintentionally omitted from the list of new Sigma Xi members in Tuesday's Daily Nebraskan.

How to stop a drop of water!

A tiny pin-hole in a telephone cable can admit moisture, causing short circuits and service interruptions. But Bell System men have found a way of beating this trouble to the punch.

They charge the cable with dry nitrogen under pressure. Then should a leak develop, the escaping gas keeps moisture out. Instruments on the cable detect the drop in pressure . . . sound an alarm at a nearby station . . . indicate the approximate location of the break. A repair crew is quickly on its way.

To maintain and improve America's all-important telephone service, men of the Bell System are constantly searching for the better way. Pioneering minds find real opportunity in telephone work.
