UN Campus Tries British War Menu

Organizations, Residence Halls and Union Serve Rationed Food Tomorrow

For three regular meals tomorrow, May 11, the entire campus including all organized houses, dormitories, ag boarding clubs, and the Student Union will go on "British rations," according to the plan of the Student War Council.

An attempt to make students more aware of the sacrifices undergone thruout the war by the British Isles and similar blockaded nations, this plan to put the campus on a one day's trial of war rationing never before has been tried on a university campus in this country.

Menus planned thru the cooperation of Miss Hortense Allen, residence halls food director, Miss Inez White, Union food director, and Miss Jessie Amos, food director of the ag college cafeteria, have been distributed to the houses. These menus are based on detailed reports from the British Supply Council, who were very enthusiastic about the plan.

In keeping with her sportiness, Alice sticks to sports casual clothes, her favorite outfit being blue cords and a rust jacket, with anklets and flats, of course. Gardenias are her favorite flowers. Just ask Ren!
