

Men's Scholarship Falls

Farm House Men, KAT Lead Lists

UN scholarship tumbled last semester, especially among the men, according to the regular report on the relative scholastic ratings of undergraduate groups, released yesterday by Dean T. J. Thompson.

Although the all-women's average was above half of last semester, the drop in the all-men's ratings was so great that the all-student average fell to 2.348 as compared to 2.424 for the second semester of last year.

The non-sorority average was 2.631 as compared to 2.536 last year; the all-sorority was 2.609 compared to 2.532. The non-fraternity was 1.190 this semester as compared to 1.291 last year; the all fraternity was 2.178 compared to 2.285.

45 Groups Rate High.

Three social fraternities, 13 social sororities, nine professional fraternities, seven professional sororities and all "other organized groups" topped the all-student average.

Kappa Alpha Theta, with an average of 1.840, higher than that of the first place winner last year, topped sororities. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Phi followed in that order.

Farm House, listed as a professional fraternity, was first among fraternities followed by Sigma Alpha Mu, Alpha Gamma Rho, also listed as professional, and Phi Kappa Psi. The Farm House average was lower than its average last year which gave the ag boys first place.

Complete ranking of the social fraternities and social sororities may be found at the column at the left.

Included on the program will be a short talk by Howard Blakeslee, Associated Press and World Wide science editor, and a skit by members of the Daily Nebraskan staff.

This is the first dinner of its kind planned by the journalism department and Theta Sig. Over 100 guests are expected from the (See JOURNALISM, page 2)

I-F Council Nominates For Positions

With nominations for offices made by the executive committee yesterday, members of the Interfraternity council will elect officers at a meeting at the Union today at 5 p. m.

Appointed interfraternity secretary-treasurer to succeed Ren Bukacek was Jim Van Landingham, Alpha Tau Omega. He was one of five undersecretaries working for the position.

Nominations for president are Bukacek, Kappa Sigma, and Jack Buzby, Sigma Phi Epsilon; for vice president, Louis Seybold, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Ralph Kryger, Phi Delta Theta; for the executive committee for which two men will be named Clifton Bloom, Sigma Nu; Walt Dunn, Alpha Sigma Phi; Alan Jacobs, Zeta Beta Tau, and Jack Paulsen, Alpha Gamma Rho.

Queen of Queens Nominee Number Four

"Vivacious" Beldora Cochran, five foot three and three-quarters inches, blue eyes and well, it really is—red hair, is contestant number four for the title of Queen of Queens.

Miss Cochran has made herself famous as a part of the Pi Phi trio and as a songstress by herself, having a major part in "East Lynn" here and singing over the radio each week while at Stephens.

—Lincoln Journal In school she is a fine arts major in teachers college and plans to teach school after graduation. She attended Stephens and KU before coming to Nebraska.

Ambition: To get a pilot's license. She has done quite a bit of flying and likes it well enough to incorporate it in her big ambition. Besides flying she likes riding and dancing. She doesn't like picnics—"really, I'd rather go some place."

Favorite color: Red. And her wardrobe is full of red hats, shoes and dresses. Miss Cochran does not have many sweaters and skirts, but prefers dressy dresses and big, off-the-face hats.

The only red-head in the group of contestants has been a state beauty queen while in high school, candidate for beauty queen and for interfraternity sweetheart at NU. In the meantime she has kept up an 83 average and has dated "considerably."

At present writing she is not going steady. But she has had a Sig Alpha pin from Kentucky and a Sigma Nu pin from Columbia. Asked why she doesn't consider going steady she said "I just love men in general."

A few of her idiosyncrasies are that she chooses Melvyn Douglas her favorite movie man, loves fur coats, likes her hair drawn back and when she laughs she almost closes her eyes.

Aviation Air Board Accepts Applications Tomorrow

The Aviation Air Force board will again meet here tomorrow morning at 8:30 a. m. to file all applications for the new aviation air force reserve.

The board, which held a convocation here two weeks ago is coming back to enlist college male students for the aviation force, after they have completed their normal college training. Reason for the two week interval was to allow applicants to procure the necessary identification data required for entrance into the forces.

Main objective of this new reserve is to obtain a very large number of aviation cadets which must be trained every year until the war is brought to a successful conclusion, and at the same time cause the least possible disruption in the nation's educational program.

Thruout the United States 31 special air force boards, consisting of one senior and one junior air force officer each, have been appointed for the purpose of visting 151 selected colleges and universities during the period stated in order to promote the enlistment in those communities of men between the ages of 18 to 26 in the Air Force Enlisted Reserve. Students enlisting in the reserve will not have to drop their ROTC training, and may continue with the advanced course in collaboration with the Air Force Enlisted Reserve.

Students registered in any class, in the university excepting graduating seniors, may apply for the course. Applications may still be had all day today if called for at the junior division office in University hall.

Publications Board Selects Staffs Today

Positions on The Daily Nebraskan, Cornhusker and Awgwan will be appointed this afternoon when the Publications Board meets. Those applying for these positions are asked to meet in the Com-muter's club room in the Union this afternoon at 1:30 p. m.

The positions to be filled on the Daily Nebraskan are: editor-in-chief, business manager, two managing editors, two assistant business managers, five news editors and a sports editor.

The Cornhusker positions are: editor, business manager, two managing editors, and two or three assistant business managers. Awgwan positions are editor and business manager.

Fine Arts Seniors To Appear in Recital

Five seniors from fine arts school selected by other music seniors will appear in a recital with the university symphony orchestra tonight at 8 o'clock in the Union ballroom.

Chosen were Louise Ide, Marian Percy, Nelda Michael, Virginia McNeel and Jean Knorr. They will participate in a program designed to present the better classics in the greatest variety of music form.

Miss Ide, flutist, will present Mozart's flute "Concerto in D Major." Pianist Marian Percy will play the recently popularized "Concerto in A Minor" by Grieg in its original form.

Saint-Saens' "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," one of the best known contralto solos occurring in the oratorio "Samson and Delilah," will be given by contralto Nelda Michael, and Miss McNeel will present Mendelssohn's "Concerto in E Minor," an outstanding piece for violin and piano.

The final number on the program will be Boellmann's "Fantaisie Dialogue," presented for the first time on the campus by Jean Knorr. The piece is an attempt to portray a musical dialogue between the organ and orchestra.

Open to the public, the recital is under the direction of Emanuel Wishnow.

C. P. Peterson Stresses Economy in War Lecture

Emphasizing the fact that the basic factors involved in the peace following this war will be economic, C. Petrus Peterson, Lincoln attorney and member of several legislatures, yesterday spoke on "Preparedness for Peace" at the last of the War Lecture Series this year in the Union ballroom.

"This war," Peterson asserted, "is a contest between North American economy, including the United States, Canada and Russia on one side, and Germany and what she can get from the conquered countries on the other."

In the new world it will be the survival of those who are capable of adjusting themselves to the environment changes. France was one nation which was not able to do this, and they have failed.

U. S. Failed Following War.

Our nation, the United States, has flirited little with scarcity, the lecturer continued. We failed miserably during the decades between the two wars to utilize our natural resources and industrial capacity.

"A hungry people," he said, "have never been peaceful."

But even so it is the United States to whom the world will look for leadership in the new peace. And then we will need to rebuild a nation and rebuild a world. With a problem of deciding about the access to raw materials, commerce of the world at large, and improvement of relationships, it will require great expenditures of the Americans to secure world peace, but it would require even more to fight a war. World peace requires the achievement of all the economic world powers—including the ability of Germany to (See C. P. PETERSON, page 2)
