Corn Cobs Sponsor Annual Fall Smoker

... Tonight in Union

First call for new Corn Cob workers to attend their annual fall smoker has been issued by Franklin White, club president. The informal gathering, open to barbs and greeks alike, will be held in parlor X of the Union at 7:30 tonight.

Athletic eligibility is the only requirement for workers of the organization. White will explain the duties and purpose of the Corn Cobs and the new workers will be introduced to the actives.

Col. C. J. Frankforter, faculty adviser, will give a short talk, reviewing the history of the club and its activities on the campus in years past. The entire meeting will be an informal gathering for the sole purpose of getting acquainted. Corn Cobs and their sister club, Tassels, are the chief organized boosters of school spirit, and aid the university in numerous other capacities.

All actives and workers who expect to sit in the Corn Cob section at the game Saturday should bring identification cards and $5.50 to the smoker.

Daily Ag College Editor Solicits Reporters Today

Any ag students interested in writing for an ag page on the Daily Nebraskan should leave their name in the finance office in ag hall, or contact Dale Wolf, ag editor of the Daily Nebraskan, some time today. Within the next few days a staff of reporters will be selected.

Groups Plan Homecoming Dance Oct. 10

The annual Corn Cob-Tassel Homecoming Dance will be held Saturday night, Oct. 10 in the coliseum. Jack Hogan and Janet Hemphill are co-chairmen of the committee planning the party.

Candidates for Pep Queen may file from Tuesday noon until Thursday at 5 p. m. Filing must be done in John K. Selleck's office. Candidates must have sophomore standing, an 80 average, and be carrying at least 12 hours at the time of the filing.

Daily Editor Draws Block Football Seats

Students who have purchased season athletic tickets in a block will discover this noon at 12:30 whether they will sit just above the box seats or just below the sky-line when the drawing will be held to assign student sections.

Bob Schlater, editor of the Nebraskan, will draw numbers in John K. Selleck's office in the coliseum. Groups will be given numbers, and locations of their sections will be chosen according to the order in which their numbers are drawn.

Registration Changes Made In West Gym

Last minute registration and sectional changes can still be made today in the west gymnasium of Grant Memorial. During this late registration period the precedent started during the regular registration period still holds true: more freshmen, fewer upper classmen.

Due to the large number of students taking Education 30 and Physics I and A, three new labs in these subjects have been scheduled. The new lab period in Ed 30 is scheduled from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. Monday. The Physics I lab will be from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m. Monday and Wednesday, and the Physics A lab will be from 9:30 to 12:30 a. m. Friday.

Absolutely no admission will be given in sections II and V in freshmen orientation, in labs B and C in chemistry I, or in section III in English I, for the classes are filled to over seating capacity at this time.

AWS Meeting Reviews Recent House Changes

New Rules Give Freshman Women 9 O'Clock Nights

A meeting conducted by Janet Curley, AWS president, and the AWS board will be held in Ellen Smith 5 p. m. Wednesday for all chaperons and house presidents. A review will be made of all house rules with emphasis on the special changes.

Some of the new rules to be enforced this year include 9 o'clock nights for freshmen women instead of the past ruling of 8 o'clock. Sophomores with no delinquencies after the official announcement of first semester grades will be given upper classmen privileges for the rest of the second semester. Contrary to rumor freshmen women with no delinquencies will not be given sophomore privileges second semester.

Deadline for group reservations is today at noon when $5.50 and an ident card for each person in the section must be turned into the student activities office in the coliseum. It is unnecessary for more than one student to represent a group.

G. W. Rosenlof Gives Address At Dedication

Dr. George W. Rosenlof, registrar and director of admissions, will give the principle address at the dedication of the new temple

G. W. Rosenlof... addresses lodge of Craftsman lodge No. 314, A. F. & A. M. this evening.

The ceremonies will begin with an inspection of the building from 5:30 to 6 o'clock, to be followed by dinner at 6:30 p. m. The grand lodge will take charge of the dedication ceremonies at 8:30 p. m., at which time Dr. Rosenlof will give his address.

Coed Counselors Postpone Mass Meeting to Oct. 31

The mass meeting of the Coed Counselors, which was originally scheduled for today, has been postponed until Thursday, Oct. 1. It will take place at Ellen Smith hall at 7:30. All Coed Counselor big sisters must be at this meeting.

Student War Group Plans Year of Work Upon Defense Lines

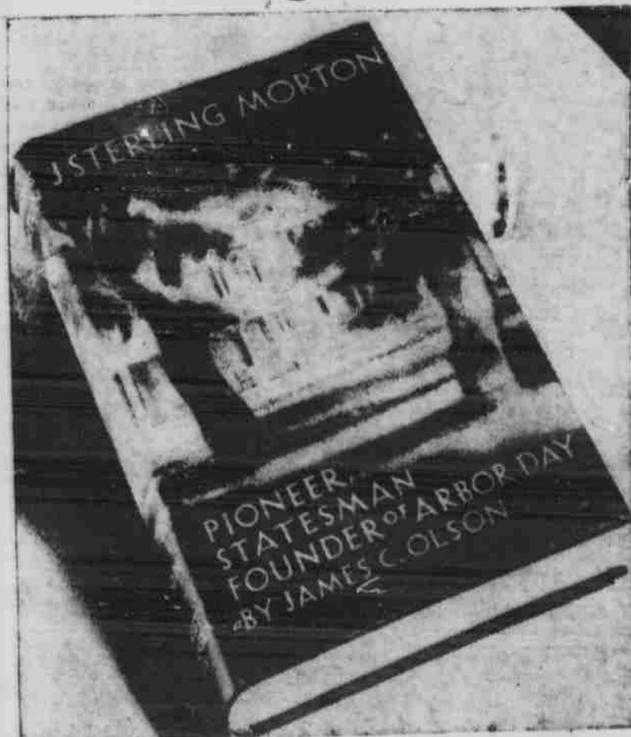

With big plans in store for the year, the Student War Council will hold its first meeting this Thursday at 5 p. m. in the Union, room 18, according to an announcement by Laurel Morrison, chairman. The War Council, organized last fall by the Daily Nebraskan and the Student Union, is the clearing house for all civilian patriotic drives and activities on the campus.

All student organizations are urged to send a representative to the first meeting so that the Council will be truly representative of the Nebraska campus. Plans for this year include first aid classes, home nursing classes, soldier entertainment, bond and

James Olson, UN Grad, Writes J. Sterling Morton's Biography

Courtesy Sunday Journal and Star. J. C. OLSON.

One of the most interesting things on the campus this week is the display in the library of items from the J. Sterling Morton collection. This display is in connection with the recent release of the book J. Sterling Morton by James C. Olson, a former member of the Daily Nebraskan staff. Olsen, the youngest person to receive the degree of doctor of philosophy from Nebraska, has spent three years doing research for the book, his doctor's thesis.

The display includes a land grant issued by President Lincoln in 1862, a letter from Mark Twain to Morton, and a note from President Cleveland. Also in the collection are Morton's personal diary, opened to Wednesday, April 10, 1872, the first Arbor day, and a letter informing Morton of his appointment to the position of secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of President Theodore Roosevelt.

The collection was donated to the university three years ago by Mark Morton, the only living son of J. Sterling Morton.

Get a Ring-side Seat... Cheerleader Try-Outs Begin Tuesday in Union

Ring side seats at the football and basketball games—no combat duty against the pheasant feathers in women's hats—no scars nor battered noses from violent football practice only to meet defeat on the slivery bench.

All interested upperclassmen who enjoy doing Wallace's exercise to N-E-B-R-A-S-K-A instead of "Jingle, Jangle, Jingle," report to Rag office anytime from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. Tuesday. (Last year cheerleaders cannot escape this ordeal either.) There the well-supplied vitamin enthusiasts will come face to face with a committee of Innocents. (Wear your sun glasses or make an appointment with the nearest optician for about 6:00 p. m., Tuesday). Eight to six of the best yellers and acrobats will be chosen to meet the well-aimed apple cores of the knothole section while leading the happy youths in Husker songs and cheer. Keep that school-girl figure. Be a Rah-Rah boy!!
