

War Council Meets Today at 5 in Union . . . To Form Program

Co-ordinating all university activities with the war effort will be the goal of the student war council, which holds its first meeting of the year tonight at 5 p. m. in room 18 of the Union.

Formerly, defense activities were handled through campus organizations and the defense council, but this office was succeeded by the war council, which now handles all phases of the project. Hoping for complete representation from all campus groups, Laurel Morrison, chairman of the council, has asked all houses and organizations to send a representative to the meetings. A program of wartime activities, including home nursing, first aid classes, salvage drives, bond drives, air raid precautions and any other plans brought by representatives at the meeting.

The war council will be a clearing house for all problems concerning the war effort on this campus.

Uni Theatre Needs Stage Hands, Actors

Students Meet at 5:30 Today To Hear Outline Of Production Activities

Freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors! If you have any acting talent or any desire to work back stage during play productions come to the meeting in the Temple Theater today.

At 5:30 in room 201 all theater activities will be outlined and the names of anyone interested in participating in these various activities will be recorded. Those students who are unable to attend the meeting at this time are urged to contact Mr. Zimmerman in his office, room 154 of the Temple.

At the meeting the three series of productions and eligibility requirements will be explained. One of the series is the University Theater which produces the paying plays that we will see thruout the year.

The second series is the studio series giving opportunities for serious acting in more classical plays. Last but far from least is the Union series of five productions which will be put on in the Student Union ballroom this winter. There are no eligibility requirements for this last series.

Student Foundation Plans Big Program

Student workers are needed for the Nebraska Student Foundation, organization which publicizes the university in the high schools, according to John J. Douglass, group chairman.

Plans for the Foundation program throughout the year were made at a meeting Tuesday night. Foundation speakers will address various groups in the state concerning the university. News letters about the school will be sent to county and high school papers and copies of the Daily and the Cornhusker will be sent to high schools in the state. A state-wide university student lobby is planned to appear on behalf of the school before the legislature.

Blackstone Edits Pamphlet.

George Blackstone, Foundation member, will edit a pamphlet on university needs and problems to be sent to a selected list of state officials, Douglas said.

JOHN DOUGLASS.

Emphasizing the need for workers, Douglass said the organization needed a chairman for publicity to be sent out of the state; chairmen for various counties in the state; and two district chairmen, one from the Lincoln district and the other from the western district. In addition, students are needed to make speeches publicizing the university before organizations and to write for the news letters, the foundation head said.

Not Pointed.

Applicants for Foundation work should fill out the form which appears on page two. Workers for the group may be in any class preside over the conference. Ruby M. Loper, assistant extension agricultural engineer, is serving as cultural engineer, is serving as mittee.

Members of the executive committee include state fire marshal A. E. Carter, A. K. Chestem, state chairman of the U. S. D. A. war board; L. D. Clements, state supervisor of vocational agriculture; Mrs. Mark Pierce, state president of the P. T. A.; R. H. Richardson, safety traffic engineer, and Walter F. Roberts, state coordinator of civilian defense.

To Prevent Accidents . . . Safety Council Convenes For Statewide Meeting

Using as one of their slogans "accidents aid the axis," the National Safety Council have called nationwide attention to the fact that home and farm accidents can paralyze the nation's war effort and have planned state conferences on public and private safety in an attempt to make people accident-conscious.

Part of this nationwide movement, the first Nebraska Home and Farm Safety conference will be held tomorrow in the Union, with the initial meeting scheduled for 9:45 a. m.

Governor Dwight W. Griswold will be one of the speakers at the closed luncheon for members of the executive committee, their guests, and invited representatives of organized groups. John Curtiss, Consumers' Public Power, will be the second speaker.

Governor Lauds Aims.

The aims of the conference were highly lauded by the governor in a statement made by him. He said:

"We are faced with several wartime problems—older people working too hard and too long, hurrying too fast; mothers unable to give as much time as usual to little children; shortage of good equipment coupled with a desire to produce more than ever before—these are only three of many conditions which may increase home and farm accidents.

"As governor, I wish to commend the efforts being put forth by Nebraska leaders in this safety program."

Lectures in Ballroom.

All lectures will be given in the Union ballroom, and students may attend any lecture, except the closed luncheon meeting.

On the morning program are included addresses on the relation of accidents to Nebraska's contribution in the war effort, on the importance of accident prevention as related to the current shortage of doctors and nurses. The main causes and methods of combating home and farm accidents followed by a group discussion will conclude the morning. An exhibit of accident prevention will be shown in the ballroom in connection with the last lecture.

The afternoon schedule of meetings which runs until 4:45 p. m. features safety precautions, first aid, and suggested activities and educational procedure for interest groups. Discussion and summarization will complete the conference.

Brokaw Presides.

W. H. Brokaw, director of the agricultural extension service, will and may be in other activities as the organization does not give activity points.

Outstate program this year will be under the direction of Ann Craft. State district chairmen are Lila June Howell, Donald Metz, Polly Petty, and Ann Arbitman.

The foundation was the brain-child of the Student Council and was founded last January. The body is directed by a central committee composed of six regents' chairmen, one for each regents' division in the state; a finance chairman and a publicity chairman. Under this central committee are more than a hundred county chairmen. The organization is financed by the Student Council, Corn Cobs and other student organizations.
