It takes a football game to get the alums back in full force and with them came Beta Bill Marsh, former Union director but more recently of the U. S. Navy. On hand to meet him was pinmate Maribelle Hitchcock, Theta of last year. . . Also back for the game and to see Alpha Sig Stan Scott is Kay Duncan, Pi Phi.

From what we hear that Phi Psi party which was held out at Ben Clark's cabin near Ashland Friday night was a really fun affair. The brothers all agree that it should be done more often. . . Margaret Reese, smooth little Alpha Phi pledge, is back in circulation again now that number one man, Duggie Doyle, has gone to Yale. . . Fletcher Conn, Sig Alpha here before the war, arrived today to see Wanda Crumbaugh, Alpha Chi.

We Tell All.

Now it can be told. AOPi Mary Allen and Delt Lloyd London have finally decided to call it steady as of Friday night. . . Pert little Alpha Phi pledge Joan Kinsey turned up at the Turnpike last evening with ATO Yell King Jack Hogan, and tonight she will be dancing to Ted Lewis with George Howard, Phi Delt pledge.

Back on friendly terms and dating again are Alph Chi Ruth Lund and Les Buckley of the silo house. . . SAE Bob Cooper has been bating a path to the DG house of late and all on account of pledge Mary Alice Lehr. . . Taking in Ted Lewis tonight among scads of others, will be Morrie Dingwell, Fiji and Theta pledge Barb Schlater. . . Mercedes Caldwell, Kappa and Sig Ep Bob Henderson are also planning a big night at the Turnpike.

Lost: Sigma Nu Pin.

Helen Gogala, AOPi is minus one Sigma Nu pin. She sent back to its owner in Iowa and is now open for dating, which is good news for the local gentry. . . Nebraska spirit really ran riot the other evening at the "Pike" when Jack Higgins, Mark Hargraves, ATOs and Ray Hutchins Kappa Sig got together and had their own private rally.

Getting straw in their hair with the rest of the Betas and their dates last night were Jeanne Rotton, Theta pledge and DG Nina Scott with Tom Hyland and George Townsend. . . Another Beta Theta combination which seems to be stirring up quite a bit of comment is that of Brick Murray and Merry Winter.

Don't forget to save next Saturday for the Corn Cob-Tassal Homecoming party. From all reports it's going to be better than ever.

Teachers Solve Professional Problems in New Workshop

Teachers college workshop, which is a new project offered to experienced teachers and administrators, affords them an opportunity to give special considerations to problems which have grown out of the teaching situation.

These problems are sometimes local in nature and sometimes similar to those faced by teachers in neighboring schools. Individuals may get suggestions from staff members, other persons in attendance, or occasionally individuals off the campus.

Facilities for the workshop have been provided in the law college, and each department in teachers college has a representative in the workshop. It is customary for these students to interview staff members who can be of help to them, and as many as six staff members may contribute to the solution of the person's problem. Last summer, some of the problems confronting teachers were counseling and guidance in rural schools; what to do for a pupil who stutters; how to make a rural school a community center; what to do for a boy who insists on running the school, and many others.

The workshop accommodates teachers and administrators at all levels—rural, elementary, high school, and college. The only requirement for admission is that the student have a professional problem that he wishes to solve. College credit is granted for workshop participation, and a student is required to spend as much time on the problem as if in a class awarding a similar amount of credits.

This summer workshop is a new educational service and while the project itself is about four years old, only two have been conducted at the university. Over 150 teacher training institutions conducted these workshops this past summer.
