Daily Demons vs. Yearbookies?

Miss A. L. "Bullet" Becker
Yearbookie "Office"
Daily Nebraskan Storeroom
Student Union Basement

Dear "Bullet:"

We, the members of the publication staff you and yours so often try to emulate, do hereby:

(1) Challenge you to a football game, the place and time to be decided by the infamous Yelping Yearbookies;

(2) Do hereby request that you recall just a little of the past in accepting this challenge.

Namely: In the first place, the conduct of yearbook staff members in previous years has been, at this annual grid classic, deplorable. Take last year—final score Daily, 63; Yearbook, 2. Boy was that a riot! Starting with a four man team—including those two turf terrors, Peterson and Svoboda, the Daily, without effort, was able to overcome your 15 man team, mostly hired, and finish the game with three women in the line-up. The fourth team member was Peterson.

In the second place, the famous hatchet trophy, originally donated thru the generosity of Daily staff members, disappeared at half-time, when two Yearbookie pupae were seen leaving the campus in the general direction of that hole-in-the-wall to the south of our office. The fact that the Daily staff has been overwhelmingly victorious in every athletic relation carried on with the Cornhusker staff, is, in itself, reason enough for us to desire a breaking-off of this tradition.

However, since present conditions would make it appear that this is your last year on the campus "for the duration," we are willing to give you one more chance to establish a reputation which could be described in the printed word.

Finally, it may seem to you, "Bullet," that with "Dashing Dave" Walcott, "I'm D. T.'s" Catlin, "Hurdle" Hoff, old "Mush-mush" McBride, "Demon" Detweiler, et al, that your appearance (See CHALLENGE, Page 5.)

Chancellor Gives Advice To Students

Draft Legislation Offers Deferment for Collegians Until Summer of 1943

With debate on legislation to draft 18 and 19-year-old men starting in the senate this morning, students of the university "should use good sense and take

To Clear Up Rumors . . .

War Group Considering Universal Phys Ed Plan . . . For UN Women

With the entire student body, both men and women, heatedly taking pro and con sides on the question of university installation of a compulsory four-year physical education program for women, the Daily has attempted to trace and answer the numerous, vague rumors envading the campus.

As regards recent reports that the university intends to immediately adopt the four-year physical education program for women as is carried on at most universities, such a proposal has been made by Miss Mabel Lee, director of the women's physical education department for women.

This proposal is at present in the hands of the university War Emergency committee, whose duty it is to coordinate this university's aims and the nation's war educational efforts.

All war action of this committee is at present in a "state of flux," according to Mr. J. D. Clark, dean of buzard college and chairman of the war emergency committee. The proposal that is center of such campus fire is, therefore, pending until a definite stand holding true for all colleges and schools is taken by the government.

"For that matter," the dean went on to say, "probably no action will be taken upon any proposal involving a significant change in university arrangements until the government has definitely decided upon the program it desires, the colleges to put this program into effect in order to make them the most use to the nation in the war effort."

Before Miss Lee's proposed pro-

Chancellor Attends State Universities Association Meet

Chancellor C. S. Boucher left Wednesday evening for Chicago to attend meetings of the National Association of State Universities and Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities.

Boucher is a member of the military affairs committee of the Association of State Universities, and a member of the executive body of the Land Grant Association. While in Chicago, he will meet with officers and other members of the University of Nebraska alumni club there. He will return to Lincoln November 1st.

ROTC Cadets Wear Blouses

Beginning today all basic and junior advanced students will wear their blouses over the cotton shirt according to an announcement from the military department.

Students Divided On Phys Ed Plan

. . . Reporter Finds

BY PAT CHAMBERLIN.

To sound out student opinion on the establishment of a four-year compulsory physical education program which is at the moment before the War Emergency committee in the form of a proposal, the Daily sent out a snooper, socially known as an inquiring reporter.

Men as well as women were included in this survey with the idea that women generally interest men, even as men interest women. The net results of an afternoon's prowling about the grill are herewith set forth:

A Plow!

Jerry Anderson, sophomore, emphatically states: "If that's their idea of war work, give me a plow." What a sight that would be!

Louise Brugger, frosh, believes that "physical education is a waste of valuable time, because you spend most of your time dressing and undressing." Of course, there is an exercise element in dressing and undressing . . . Gail Jennings, another frosh, agrees right along with Louise since "you don't learn enough about it to make it useful."

Frosh also Dalis Davis thinks it builds you up, and if this war does keep up, we will need physically fit women to keep the country running. (Plug for women!)

Harold Taylor seems to have the cynical view of life as he states, (See PLAN, Page 8.)

Enthusiastic Crowd Cheers Huskers At Torchlight Rally; Holm Speaks

. . . Where's Victory Bell?

Despite six weeks examinations and chilly weather, a small but enthusiastic crowd marched faithfully down the usual rally route behind an almost forgotten Victory Bell last night.

Although the Victory Bell did not turn up until ten minutes after schedule, the crowd, yelling to keep warm, heard Elmer Holm promise a victory over Oklahoma Saturday. The rally was held last night because the team is leaving this afternoon for Norman.

Corn Cobs carried lighted torches which shot flames up colorfully. Rally committee members had difficulty all afternoon finding kerosene for the flares.

In front of the stadium, the crowd, led by head cheer-leader Jack Hogan had a chance to see almost all of the team who were introduced by Jerry Kathol, game captain.

Kathol promised a victory as did Joe Partington, center, who also spoke. On the stand were Joe Byler, Fred Metheny, Jack Hazen, Marv Athey and Forrest Bachman.

Although the crowd was smaller than at last week's impromptu rally, team members were appreciative. Half of football is student spirit, Kathol told the students.

The squad will entrain for Oklahoma late this afternoon because of difficulties arising the team may have to divide at Kansas City from getting train accommodations. As it is, in order to get to Norman for the game.

Sigma Xi Holds First Meeting Monday Night

UN Agronomy Professor Discusses Hybrid Corn Research at Ag Campus

Speaking at the first meeting of Sigma Xi this semester will be Dr. T. A. Kiesselbach, professor of agronomy, whose topic will concern hybrid corn. The gathering is scheduled for Monday at 7:30 in Morrill hall auditorium.

Ferris Norris, secretary of the UN chapter of the honorary science fraternity, said that visitors can attend this meeting. Dr. Kiesselbach is an authority on hybrid corn, having done much research on this type of corn at the agricultural experiment station here.

The agronomy professor plans to discuss hybrid corn in experimental and commercial production. Students interested in learning about hybrid corn are urged to attend.
