K-Klub Announces Sweetheart Election to Be Held at Show.

Here it is—with no ifs, ands, or buts—Nebraska Sweetheart will be elected at the door of the Kosmet Klub fall show. The final absolute decision was made by the members of the men's dramatic society and announced by Max Laughlin, president.

"It is the opinion of the Klub," Laughlin said, "that a general election of Nebraska Sweetheart would become merely a show between the two political parties. With an election at the door, anyone who is interested has the opportunity to come and vote."

Decision Pending.

This decision has been pending since the action of the bar party in circulating a petition calling for election of the Sweetheart at the polls Nov. 10. However, the petition was ineffective, Klub officials said, since every organization has the right to choose its own method of selecting honors sponsored by it. Student Council elections committee will supervise the voting.

With tryouts scheduled for tonight, the Klub has begun to set machinery in motion for the production. Twelve fraternal (See PETITIONING, Page 4.)

Mortar Boards Donate Nebraska Service Flag

Coeds to Hang Flag in Main Union Lounge

A large service flag presented by the Mortar Boards will soon hang above the fire place in the main lounge of the Union. The red bordered flag with a white center will display three stars, gold, silver, and blue, in order of the sacrifice of the students and faculty members represented by the stars.

This type flag is the new regulation service flag adopted by Congress and approved by the president and secretaries of war and navy. The flag will be presented at an appropriate ceremony, the date for which has not been set.

A book containing the names of both men and women, rank, branch of service, and years at the university, will be presented with the flag and placed on a table before the fireplace. Gold stars will be placed by the names of those people who have died in action, silver stars for those who have been wounded, and blue stars for all those who are serving in the armed forces.

Desire Information.

If any of the students or faculty members are missing in action as much information as possible will be recorded in the book. The names of those women students and faculty members which will be in the book will include all those serving in the Nurse's Corps, WAWS, WAACS and WAVES.

The last service flag was presented to the university by the Mortar Boards during the last war.

Several Mortar Board chapters over the entire country are giving these flags to their schools as one of their projects of the year.

The committee for presentation of the flag includes Ann Kinder, chairman, Betty Neuman, and Jean Christie Farmer.

Uni Play Adds 3, 3 Gets Complication

BY JANET MASON.

To say the least, complications resulted from the attempt of three young men and three young women to live together in the same apartment in the first University Theater play, "Out of the Frying Pan," which was sneak-previewed last night.

It seems that, altho the six were living together in all innocence, they were having considerable trouble persuading a few interested persons of this. One of the girls' father proved to be an interested person and created quite a commotion by arriving unexpectedly in New York and calling up his daughter to inform her that he was coming over immediately.

Dad Arrives.

As the boys are feverishly packing their belongings to move out, Mr. Colburn is heard at the door waiting for admittance. The hearty actors waste no time disguising themselves as plumbers but when the door is opened they receive a rather jolting surprise.

Mickey Finns, corpses and cops go together to make up a riotous second act, as the six apartment-sharers stop at nothing to get parts in the new Broadway play, to be cast soon. When the Broadway producer living in the apartment below is finally lured upstairs, the boys and girls stage a murder scene for them, with the help of a corpse, created by a Mickey Finn, some catsup and one of the girls' guest. When cops appear in the apartment the boys and girls decide that the scene went over well, especially when the girl is discovered on the floor, still under the influence of the Mickey Finn.

The unwinding of this complicated state of affairs makes an exciting and sparkling comedy to be presented Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Senate Race Highlights Election Today

Three-way Competition; Wherry, Norris, May In Close Political Battle

Overshadowing for the day such college politics as the honorary colonel, the Nebraska Sweetheart and the campus election is the general election today in Nebraska.

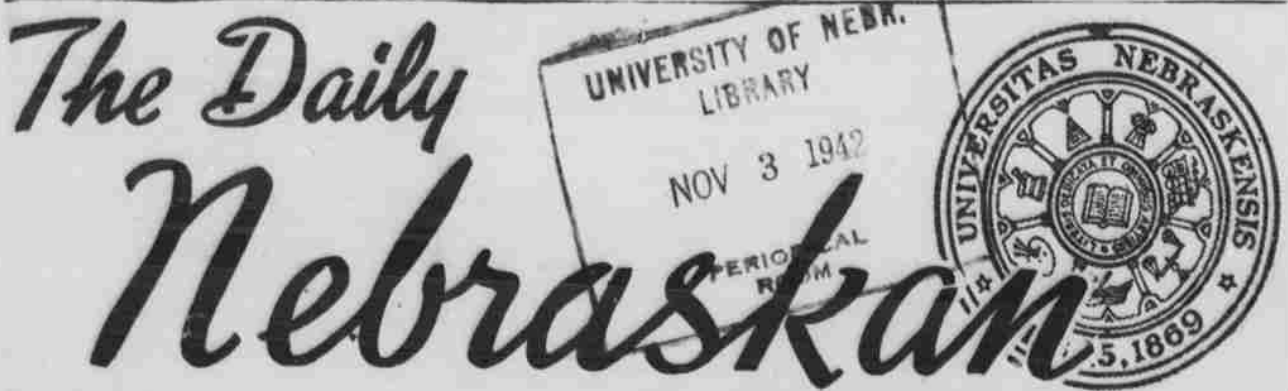

Chief student interest in the campaign has centered in the three way race for United States senator. Very spirited has been the battle between republican candidate, Kenneth S. Wherry, the furniture dealer, embalmer who has made the widest personal campaign; Foster May, democratic nominee who has made a wide appeal via his radio addresses with his newscaster experience and Senator George W. Norris who has returned from the senate to the state campaign with President Roosevelt's personal endorsement.

Ann Craft Reviews UN Cadet Corps

Reviewed by the new honorary colonel, Ann Craft, Nebraska's ROTC unit will hold its second parade of the year this afternoon at 5:30 p. m. As in the first parade the cadet officers will command the unit while the army officer instructors review the brigade. The starting point will be the same as in last week's parade.

Midway in the parade Ann Craft will be formally presented to the corps as honorary colonel by Col. Dick Arnold, cadet commander. The honorary colonel was chosen at the first mass meeting of the junior and senior ROTC cadets in the Union last Wednesday evening. Tradition in previous years had been to elect the honorary commander at an election of the entire student body and to keep her identity secret until the military ball.

ROTC Cadet Corps Keeps Streamlined

... Says Col. Murphy

University ROTC units, thru "a process of streamlining," have kept apace with modern military methods down thru the years," Col. J. P. Murphy, university commandant told faculty members at a dinner meeting in the Union last night.

"Our goal now," the colonel pointed out, "is to provide 12,000 trained reserve officers annually." This number is equal to a little over one-third of the 35,000 yearly requirement of the army, with the other officers coming from officer training schools.

College is Answer.

Declaring "we feel that in our contact with ROTC students thru the four year period we are providing the service with the best type of officer," Commandant Murphy said the answer to this demand for potential officers is the scholastic and social background provided by college, in addition to military training received.

The ROTC officials' expectations in graduates has been borne (See STREAMLINED, Page 4.)

A collection of posters of the allied nations is now being shown in the main-floor showcase of the library. A poster showing the flags of all allied nations is the head of the display. A copy of Inter-Allied Review, a monthly summary of the allied fight for freedom, is included.

The rest of the display is made up of posters of the countries of Australia, China, Canada, Ethiopia, England, and The Netherlands. A picture of a soldier of each of the countries is shown, and beside each is a pamphlet containing the story of the war efforts of the respective countries.

PART OF THE 'STREAMLINING'...these ROTC engineers, putting into practice their training, are erecting barb wire lines to halt advancing "enemy" troops.
