

Have Dollar Minimum

Sororities, Frats Pledge Red Cross

With the pledging of sorority and fraternity groups, the annual Red Cross drive got underway last night.

Fraternities are giving a minimum of $1.00 per man with an average of $1.25 to $1.50 for the entire chapter. Sororities are pledging an average donation of $2.00 per member.

Sororities are asked this year to give more to the fund than the fraternities to make up in the total the depleted number of affiliated men who have already left for the armed services.

$2500 Goal

This year's goal, $2500, set up by the American Red Cross, is the largest goal in history. It will be used to meet the greatest needs in the history of the organization.

The Red Cross serves as a line of communication everywhere. It serves as the connecting link between the armed forces and their families. It aids with food, shelter, clothing, medical care and training to protect the Home Front.

Red Cross Services.

Services to the armed forces are many. The Red Cross cares for families of men in the forces. It provides recreation

Ticket Sales For Coed Follies Show Start Today . . . Performance Mar. 11

Tickets for the AWS-sponsored Coed Follies to be held in the Temple Theatre March 11, are now on sale. Jo Martz, chairman of the ticket drive, announced yesterday. Tickets are 35 cents apiece.

With the war uppermost in most minds, many of the skits and curtain acts this year revolve about this theme. Bowing to war rationing, the AWS board this year limited skit expenses to $15.

A style show, three curtain acts, five skits and the presentation of the TNC make up the program for the evening.

Enter Five Skits.

Skits entered are: Alpha Chi Omega, "Greek Myth;" Alpha Xi Delta, "Relax with the WAACs;" Delta Delta Delta, "Rosie the Riveter;" Kappa Alpha Theta, "Always a Cornhusker;" Sigma

Rifles Meet To Organize New Company

All Pershing Riflemen will meet in room 210 of Nebraska Hall this afternoon at 5:30, announced Cadet Captain Francis Cox, commander of the organization.

Weather permitting, the company will be organized and all non-com positions assigned for the remainder of the semester. All members, both active and pledges are requested to turn out for the formation.

New members, desiring to join the company should signify their intentions this afternoon or Thursday of this week.

Navy Program May Allow Reserves To Finish Year

Navy reservists appear certain of completing the college year as details of the navy policy toward college students, including formation of a new specialized training program, were announced yesterday.

T. J. Thompson, dean of students affairs, stated that the proposed program will affect 119 basic ROTC students who wish to transfer to one of the three branches, and all those students enlisted V-I classification.

National Examinations.

Qualifying tests to be given throughout the nation on or about April 2 will determine the personnel of the program, to go into effect July 1.

According to an announcement of the naval officers procurement office at Des Moines, the program will be designated as V-12, and will include college students already enlisted in the navy or marine reserves, and those enlisted in ROTC who have indicated a preference for the navy, coast guard or marines.

While on the college campus, the men will be in uniform under military discipline, with the rating and pay of apprentice seamen of the U. S. Naval Reserve, and housed and fed by the navy.

Specialized Student Training.

Students selected from the above groups will receive one and a third years of study covering four terms of college work of 16 weeks each. Students in specialized training including chaplain, dental, medical and engineering officer candidates, will be kept in

J. Hugh Stuart Wins Palladian Oratory Contest

James Hugh Stuart's oration on "Charity" won first place in the 17th annual James H. Cooper oratorical contest sponsored by the Palladian Gavel club Saturday night in the Temple.

A freshman law student, Stuart declared that "it is possible to feel charitable even though hating at the same time. If we can't have love in and after war we can have charity."

Henry Marvin, speaking on "Push," placed second in the contest and Bob Veach's oration entitled "You Should Know Better" took third. Marvin emphasized the necessity for conserving fuel and power in the future and Veach stressed the fact that Americans should keep up with the war.

Judges were Chief Justice Robert Simmons, Mrs. Borris Bowman and Mrs. Esther Bitney. Six men and two women participated in the event which has been won by coeds in the past two years. Majorie Johnston, winner of last year's contest, presided at the meeting.

Announcement of last year's essay, verse and short story contests was also made. Don Dobry, freshman took first place in both the essay and verse contest and second place in the latter, and Harriet Pryce won the short story contest.

County Chairmen Meet In Foundation Office

There will be a meeting of all county chairmen of the Student Foundation on Wednesday, March 3, at 7:00 p. m. in the Student Foundation office. A meeting of the executive committee will follow immediately.

Give Specialized Navy Training To College Grads

Educational administrators and personnel managers of large corporations or department stores will be commissioned in the navy, officials announced today, if they possess the required qualifications.

Candidates will be selected for special training until July 1, after which they will be in charge of navy specialized training programs at colleges and universities.

Applicants must be between the ages of 35 and 45, must have at least a baccalaureate degree and must meet all the general qualifications of navy officers. Applications in the Nebraska and Iowa area should be sent to Naval Officer Procurement office, 209 Old Federal building, Des Moines, Iowa.

It's Happening Everywhere . . . Creighton ERC Unit Leaves

. . . Pre-flight Students Move In

(The following story was written for the Daily Nebraskan by Hugh Fogarty, director of the Creighton university news bureau.)

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 27. (Special). A lot of students—in civvies and khaki—are beating the traditional March 1 moving date by a few days around Creighton university.

During the past week, 176 Creighton students have withdrawn from school to report to the army, and an undisclosed number of army air corps pre-flight students moved onto the campus today to begin a five-month academic and military course next Monday morning.

176 Go in Past 10 Days.

Of the 176 students who have withdrawn in the past 10 days, 116 are unassigned members of the Army Enlisted Reserve (the entire ERC unit) who have received orders to report March 8-10 at Camp Dodge, Ia. Those who remained at Creighton through last Friday completed one-third of the current semester, hence received one-third of their normal academic credits and received a refund of approximately two-thirds of their semester tuition and fees.

Sixty Creighton students have been called to the army air corps in the past two weeks, and 56 members of the navy V-1 program have been ordered to take physical examinations here next Monday and Tuesday, although the call did not indicate how soon the group would be ordered to active navy duty.

Air Corps Takes Over 2 Halls.

The air corps contingent which moved in today has taken over Dowling and Wareham halls on the Creighton campus. They will receive academic and physical training from regular members of the university faculty,

Mortar Boards Honor Three Senior Women

Senior women receiving Mortar Board awards Sunday at the annual Mortar Board tea were Sidney Ann Gardner, Shirley Khyn and Marydean Lawler.

Miss Gardner is a past president of Kappa Alpha Theta, president of Panhellenic and past president of Vestels of the Lamp. Shirley Khyn is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, past editor of the Awgwan and a member of the Coed Counselor board, and Miss Lawler is a member of Kappa Delta, senior member of the Coed Counselor board, and a member of Tassels.

The awards, which were presented at 4:30 by Dorothy Wierich, Mortar Board president, are all equal. They are given on the basis of scholarship, leadership and service during four years of college.

The tea, which was attended by about 400 women, is an annual affair held to honor high scholarship. Members of the board of women's organizations on the campus served, and faculty members who are Mortar Boards poured.

Music was furnished thruout the tea by Jane Jordan, Lela Mae Jacobson, a trio composed of Dorothy Huffman, Dorothy Struassheim and Ruth Ferguson, and Jacqueline Rasmussen. These girls are all members of Delta Omicron.
