

Forums Begin Today on Post War Planning

Dr. H. C. Vedeler Speaks at 4:30

A series of weekly open forums on post-war social, economic and political planning entitled "The Shape of the World to Come," will start today at 4:30 p. m. in the Union faculty lounge.

The first of the series will be, "Will History Repeat Itself?" led by Dr. H. C. Vedeler, visiting professor of European history. Dr. Vedeler will lecture the first half hour and devote the remainder of the time to group discussion.

Began in the East.

The "Powarp" (post-war planning) was started first in the east to stimulate student thought on planning for conditions after the war. As a test of the advantages of group discussion, about 50 of the faculty members here met Friday to hear three speakers give 10 minute talks on "What I Want for Peace." The open discussion that followed was highly successful in that it provided new thought and ideas.

The University Council of Religious Welfare and the University Council on Post-war Reconstruction are jointly sponsoring forums which will be lead for the most part by members of the university faculty.

Forum Leaders and Themes.

The dates, forum themes, and leaders are: March 10 "Global Trade," by Dr. E. S. Fullbrook, professor of marketing; March 17, "The Outlook for Society," by J. C. Hertzler, chairman of the department of sociology; March 24, "Re-making the Map," by Dr. Norman Hill, professor of political science.

March 31, "The Promises of Science," by Dr. W. E. Miltzer, associate professor of chemistry; and April 7, "Religion Prepares for a Just and Durable Peace," by Dr. Gerald Kennedy, pastor, Lincoln St. Paul's Methodist church.

Begin Three Speedup Plans At Omaha Uni

OMAHA, Neb. (ACP). Three different speedup plans for students who will enter the armed forces have been made available at the University of Omaha.

Pre-induction review courses in urgent military subjects are now being offered, plus stepped-up courses in the regular academic field. These may be finished in from six to eight weeks, making it possible to finish a year's work in some fields in one semester. Blocks of credit will also be offered each four weeks for boys called to the service.

Last summer a regular semester was added to the schedule. By taking classes three semesters each year, a student now is able to complete the four-year course in two years and eight months.

Kearns Speaks At General YM Meet Tonight

Ray Kearns, Presbyterian student pastor, will speak at the general Y. M. C. A. meeting tonight at 7:30. "Seeing Beyond the Years," is the topic of his speech.

This will be the first in a series of general meetings which will be held in parlor X of the Student Union.

The speech will be followed by a discussion of the entire group. Community singing is also included in the program.

All Y. M. C. A. members and university men are urged to attend.

Ray Kearns.

Girls in White . . .

These girls are a portion of the University women who have volunteered to roll bandages for surgical dressing. The quota for four weeks is 10,000 bandages. 6,500 of these must be done in the next two weeks.

Barb Students Unite For Red Cross Drive

Unaffiliated students have established a smoothly working organization for their part in the collections for the Red Cross drive. By dividing all the unaffiliated students into four separate groups with colonels heading each division, the organization has developed a workable plan by which each student may be personally contacted for contributions.

The Lincoln, or city, unaffiliated organization, headed by colonels Virginia Stuermer and Bob Law, includes almost one-fourth of the university student body. Captains have been assigned for every 10 to 15 students who live near them, and a personal contact basis has been emphasized in their drive.

Contact All Students.

Colonels Jimmy Howe and Ralph Fox head the campus unaffiliated organization which includes all organized co-op and rooming houses. These colonels have been conducting a house to house campaign to secure pledges for the Red Cross.

The third unaffiliated group includes all those who live on ag campus. Headed by Colonel Dorothy Anderson, this organization is also stressing the personal contact basis for collections.

Colonel Laura Lee Mundil has been placed in charge of all unaffiliated students living in the Women's Residence Halls. Captains have been assigned to each corridor in the three halls, and here too, personal contacts are being used for the Red Cross pledges.

Union Board Sponsors Brainstormers Quiz Show . . . March 10 to 13

Any three students can team together to show their general knowledge in the Brainstormers Quiz. Sponsored by the activities committee of the Student Union board, the quiz will begin March 10, and will be conducted in rounds, with the finals held on March 13.

Current events, art, literature and general knowledge questions will be given in this quiz which attracted over 100 contestants in last year's contest.

The questions will be given to teams of three (either three men, three women, or a mixed team), and three rounds will be run-off to eliminate the contending groups. Each member of the winning team will receive war stamps worth $5, and $2.50 in war stamps will be given to each member of the runner-up team.

Students who wish to participate in the Brainstormers Quiz must register at the Union checkstand by next Tuesday.

Navy Trainees Keep Activities

Trainees in the Navy's specialized college program will be allowed to participate in college athletics, carry elective college courses and join previously established college organizations and fraternities if they meet the requirements of the navy curriculum.

Officials have announced that the navy has entered into contracts with universities for the housing, feeding and training of students enrolled in V-12, the new classification. The contract will require universities to accept the stated number of men, who may be transferred to active duty on recommendation of college examiners.

Includes College Fundamentals.

Curricula will include fundamental college work in mathematics, science, English, history, engineering, drawing and physical training. Courses will be taught by university instructors except in the cases of specialized Navy training and administration.

Charge Violation Of Federal Code

No complaints had been filed against campus radio station UNEB late yesterday afternoon following confiscation of the station's equipment Monday evening by federal authorities.

The action was based on alleged violations of the communications code having to do with the licensing stations, according to U. S. Commissioner J. S. Logan who signed the search warrant held by Deputy U. S. Marshal O'Grady, who is now in possession of the equipment.

To Issue Complaint.

Logan said yesterday morning that he would swear out a complaint as a basis for the warrants. Meanwhile students heading the station, located at 1515 R, expressed fear that "perhaps they hadn't understood all of the technical details involved in running a radio station."

The U. S. Commissioner acted on a showing by A. Harry Becker of the Chicago regional office of federal communications. Complaints were filed by the monitor station in Omaha.

Broadcast School News.

James F. Manship, head of the monitor station accompanied Becker to Lincoln as did Victor Morrison of the Omaha office.

WAA Sponsors 'Play Day' Party For UN Women

WAA is sponsoring a universal play day for all university women this Saturday in Grant Memorial hall, beginning at 2 p. m. The organization promises a good time for all who attend. The program will consist of games and obstacle races, and a lunch will be served free of charge to all those who attend.

Everyone is invited—"so come in your slacks and prepare yourself for a good time," says Betty Newman, president of WAA.
