First List Orders 35 UN Men to Active Duty

... Will Report March 25

In a step which will eventually affect over 340 university men, Seventh Service Command headquarters yesterday announced the beginning of activation of UN-enlisted reserve corps members, with 35 men listed in the first order.

Reservists effected in the order will report to the Fort Leavenworth, Kan., reception center March 25.

Following a previously established method of calling reservists alphabetically, the order includes the names of 32 first year and sophomore students and three senior or graduate men.

The following men, enlisted as privates, were included on the list:

Charles L. Ace
 Charles Adams
 Donald D. Adams
 Frederick W. Albers
 James J. Albracht
 Harold W. Andersen
 Glenn I. Anderson
 LaVern L. Anthony
 Paul A. Archer
 Harry S. Ashley
 Willard J. Bailin
 Kenneth A. Baird
 Haris W. Barber
 Robert J. Baylor
 Johnson G. Beam
 Bruce B. Beatty
 Leo J. Beck, Jr.
 Nathaniel W. Beezley

Donald C. Benning
 Robert W. Betke
 Forest D. Binder
 Kenneth L. Bishop
 Morris B. Bittner
 George A. Blackstone
 Leroy V. Blocker
 Kenneth W. Bogard
 Harold G. Boker
 Joseph R. Bolker
 Stanley E. Boyer
 Perry Branch, Jr.
 Robert E. Brandt
 Elliot C. Bratt
 Charles A. Brim
 Charles T. Brown
 Robert N. Buckley

Transcripts of academic and ROTC records of the men listed above, along with procedure orders and instructions will be made available in the dean of men's office, Administration, after 5 p. m. today, according to Dean T. J. Thompson.

Reservists effected in the first order may obtain half credit in one of two ways, Thompson pointed out: (1) by arranging with instructors to take examinations before departure; and (2) by correspondence after entrance into the army.

He emphasized the fact that men effected may drop out of school immediately if they so desire. Where no credit hours are granted, a full refund of tuition fees, and a part of the special fees will be made.

Announce Deferments For Specialized Work ... UN Lists Prerequisites

The call to active duty of students in the enlisted reserve corps has excluded certain groups of students in specialized work, who will not be called to active duty until the end of the current semester. It was earlier announced that all advanced ROTC students would remain in school at their present status, providing they maintain their scholastic eligibility. Medical, pre-medical, dental, pre-dental, and pre-veterinary students will be excluded who are:

1. In the Enlisted reserve corps.
2. Enrolled as full time students.
3. In good standing according to the prescribed standards of the institution which they attend, and
4. Are attending accredited institutions in these fields, either as pre-professional students or as professional students.

Sophomores.

Sophomore students may continue on until the end of the current semester provided they are pursuing one of the technical courses as listed below, and is

1. In the Enlisted Reserve corps.
2. Enrolled as a full time student.
3. In good standing according to the prescribed standards of the institutions which he attends.
4. Attending an accredited institution in these fields, either as a pre-professional student or as a professional student.

Juniors.

A student in the Enlisted Reserve corps who is pursuing an approved technical course will be continued on an inactive status until the end of the current semester provided is

Teams Must File For Quiz By 6 Tonite

... No Fee Needed

Deadline for registration in the third annual Union sponsored Brainstormers' Quiz is today. No entrance is required, but the names of team entrants must be at the Union office by 6 p. m. today.

Open to Students.

Entry is open to any team of three undergraduate or graduate students. Prizes will be $5 apiece in war stamps to each member of the winning team, and $2.50 apiece to each member of the runner-up team.

The test questions themselves will cover current events, arts, geography, biographies, and general facts. Any one member of the team may answer for the entire team. Time limit for answering the questions will be 30 seconds per unit of question. If team members do not appear within ten minutes after the appointed hour of a round, the team shall be defaulted.

Union board members Majorie May and Lee White are chairmen of the quiz.

Acclaim Art Review As One of Best In History

One of the best acclaimed shows of art in the 53 years of the Nebraska Art associations history opened Sunday in Morrill Hall.

The art department of the university received a gift from the federal government art project collections, which nearly filled the second floor corridors. The collection included about a hundred oils, watercolors, lithographs and drawings. Some of the artists represented in the gift are also represented in the galleries permanent collection, in the exhibition, or in both.

Interest for All.

The exhibit caters both to the experts and to those who know nothing about art but do know what they like. In the two galleries there are some of the most colorful, various, and satisfying pictures ever shown. One of the favorites was Peter Hurd's "Windmill Crew," which is full of bold color and sharp lift. Another favorite is "Mountain Road," by Doris Lee, which, with its tiny frame "night club" is complete with barber pole, beer signs, proprietor lolling in the doorway, his shack next door, and a waterfall, off to the right.

The painting by Jerry Farnsworth entitled, "The Head of Joe" is one of the best like portraits, and a painting of the head of Charles Weidman, the dancer, looks like rough sculpture. It is the work of Donald Forbes.

Include Negro Selections.

One whole wall is devoted to the painting by Negroes of Negro subjects ranging from "Women Taken in Adultery" with its amazing use of white as color, to the appealing little black boy whose portrait is titled "Here's My Foots, Dear Lord."

Darrel Austins' "Balancing Lady," a dark mysterious forest scene in which the acrobat balances herself on a slender tree limb is more fantastic than any painting exhibited. Millard Sheet's treatment of Alcatraz as viewed across the San Francisco bay is very different from his usual style, and Soltan Sepahy's contribution of a girl gathering milkweed pods is an exceptionally fine painting.

Two oils and two water colors from the Cecil Bell show here last month were held over.

Mrs. Walter White headed the committee that arranged for the living pictures which were posed Sunday as follows:

"Vaughan's Portrait of George Washington" by Gilbert Stuart, posed by Linus Burr Smith; "The Artist's Daughters" by Rembrandt Peale, posed by Mrs. Harold Stebbins and Mrs. George Lewis; "Whistling Boy" by Frank Duvenek, posed by Louis DuTeau; "Before the Window" by Mary Cassatt, posed by Miss Jean Osborn and Ann Rogers; the central group of "Prisoners from the Front" by Winslow Homer, posed by Lowe Folsom, Jim Baylor and David Andrews; "Jeanne Eagels as Sadie Thompson" by Guy Pene du Bois, posed by Mrs. Hoyt Hawke; "Jean in Blue" by Eugene Speicher, posed by Hazel Abel; "Portrait of Lafayette" by Samuel F. B. Morse, posed by Burton Folsom; "Self-Portrait" by Madame Diego Duncan; "Portrait of an American Flyer" by Peter Hurd, posed by Maj. R. W. Ryder.

Dr. Arthur Westbroob made arrangements for the music, which was furnished by Myron Cavender, organist.

Students Favor Tribute To Departing ERC Men

... Thru 'Daily' Survey

In response to the editorial appearing in Sunday's issue of the Daily, the suggestion of honoring the many who are leaving, with some sort of rally or all school dance was presented to various individuals, on and about the campus, to obtain their criticism or comment.

The reply was favorable in most cases; each individual justifying this statement, being desirous of showing appreciation to those leaving for the service, and to leave within them pleasant memories of their college life, as they leave the campus probably for the last time. Following practices of other schools, in which the ERC has already been activated, torch-light rallies followed by all school dances or an all student convocation where departing students could hear speeches, seemed the most popular.

Project Should Be Organized.

Mixed emotions and comments were prevalent as to what extent the celebration should be carried. All agreed that the project should be organized and directed by one or more of the campus extra-curricular organizations, such as Corn Cobs, War Council, or the Innocents society, as was cited in the editorial.

Herewith, upon the request of the reporter, are printed several opinions as voiced by students of the university. Polly Parmele, "Wonderful, I think they very definitely deserve it—It should be a really good rally or not at all." Bill Munson, "How about a little sympathy for the boys left behind?" Jim Nicola, "A tug of war between those who leave and those who stay would be proper, and who ever wins set the other side up." Bill Palmer, "It would not only be a lot of fun but would give the fellows an inspiration to see all the girls they're going off to fight for." Gordon Jenkins, "I'd think it a great idea—I'd be there." Paul Toren, "Why should we give them any bigger send off
