

250 Engineers Attend Annual Banquet Tonight . . . Largest in History

Courtesy Lincoln Journal. COL. LOBDELL.

BY FRANKLIN WHITE.

What promises to be the biggest engineer's banquet on record will take place tonight at 6:30 in the student activities building at ag college.

"The committee has received excellent co-operation from everyone in arranging the banquet and enthusiasm is running high in the engineering college this year; even the freshmen know there is going to be a banquet," stated Fred Martinson, general chairman of the affair.

According to Bob Marcotte, chairman of ticket sales, twice as many tickets have been sold as ever before. More than 250 engineers are expected to be present and no more tickets are available.

Strictly of a military nature, the program will include Brigadier General Duncan as guest speaker, Lieutenant Colonel Lobdell as toastmaster, and Sergeant Smith as songleader. It is rumored that even Colonel Lobdell doesn't know yet all of his duties as toastmaster.

A number of entertaining surprises have been planned for those attending.

Also on the program will be the various award presentations. Among them will be the O. J. Fee award to the outstanding engineering seniors as presented by Sigma Tau, and the freshman award to the sophomore with the highest average during his freshman year also, as presented by Sigma Tau. A number of souvenirs contributed by various manufacturers will be given away to everyone.

Welcome Air Crew Saturday at Dance . . . In Union Ballroom

University Lincolnettes will compose an official welcome committee for members of the air corps college training detachment at a dance in the Union ballroom tomorrow night from 9 to 12 p. m.

Approved by dean of women and AWS, the dance is sponsored by the War Council and the Religious Welfare Council and is open to all soldiers stationed at the new library. Coed admittance will be limited by Lincolnette membership cards.

Music will be furnished by the Union juke box and dances will consist of two records thru so that dancers will have more time to get acquainted.

Refreshments will be furnished by the Religious Welfare Council at the east end of the ballroom. Couples will be allowed in the grill during intermission, but third floor will be closed during the entire evening.

Horne Tells Of Social War Work

As the third speaker of a series of social workers meetings in the faculty lounge of the Union, Mr. Louis Horne, of the Council of Social Agencies, addressed the group yesterday afternoon.

Explaining the agency's purpose as that of co-ordinating the work of all social agencies in the community, Mr. Horne described its powers and activities. It principal duties of late have been working in conjunction with the municipal defense council in activities related to the war, such as day nurseries.

War Community Chest.

Mr. Horne gave a description of the organization and divisions of the municipal defense council, and then shifted the discussion to the activities of the community chest during war time.

With the statement that every county in the United States will be organized similar to the way the Red Cross is organized in the next few months for the purpose of the new War Chest Campaign, which will take place next October, "Thus a more efficient and centralized fund campaign can be carried out," he stated.

UN Coeds Do Dressings For Red Cross

Red Cross surgical dressing classes will meet as usual Saturday from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 1 to 5 p. m. With 188 university women registered for the work, officials hope to have a full room tomorrow.

Required for the group work is a white garment and headdress to be carried, not worn, to the Red Cross headquarters. Nail polish and jewelry are forbidden. Those who cannot stay the full time may be excused early.

UN to Offer Two Terms In Summer School Session . . . One Month Each

Summer school at the university will begin in two months. The summer school bulletin, which may be obtained at the registrar's office, lists two sessions, the first to be held from June 1 to July 2, and the second from July 6 to August 6.

Courses offered for this 1943 session follow much the same plan as in previous summers, although the time schedule outlined in the bulletin will be changed because of the army men who will be taking work here thruout the summer, stated Dr. G. W. Ronsenlof, director of admissions. "Classes will be spread over more of the day, beginning earlier and ending later in the afternoon."

Education Courses.

Dr. Rosenlof emphasized the variety and number of teacher's courses which will be offered, because the rapid turnover of instructors in elementary, secondary and advanced education will require a large number of newly prepared teachers to be supplied by the university.

Such non-military courses as offered in bizad, agriculture and arts and sciences colleges will be given besides those listed in engineering, chemistry and pharmacy. "There will be no letting up of civilian courses," emphasized Dr. Rosenlof.

Union Flickers Bring Back Old Time Favorites

Sixth in a series of old-time cinemas, the Union Flicker show to be given next Sunday at 8 p. m. in the ballroom will present a bevy of all the favorite comedians of yester-years.

Fatty Arbuckle will start the evening off in Mabel's Jealous Romeo. Laurel and Hardy will slap-stick their way through Sailors Beware and Charlie Chaplin in his own humorous style will play a would-be fireman in The Fireman.

Teetering and balancing on top a skyscraper, Harold Lloyd will thrill his spectators in Step Lively. Harry Langdon, that poker-face sour-puss, will show how he spends a Saturday Afternoon.

Admission to the flicker will be free.

Professor Diagnoses Dog Case: Frustration

Jeff is just a little five and one-half year old red spaniel, but his master, Dr. J. M. Reinhardt, university professor of sociology, tells a story about him which might indicate that Jeff has written a new chapter in the story of Ganhi's fast.

On the evening of March 16, the seventh day of the Indian leader's fast, Jeff lay at his master's feet

Ames, Iowa, April 1.—Seventeen women have been awarded certificates for completion of the ambulance and motor corps training course at Iowa State college, it was announced today by Dr. A. R. Lauer, of the psychology department.

Give Army, Navy Tests Today at 9

Students who have filed formal application blanks for the army specialized training program and the navy college program will take qualifying tests this morning at 9 in social science auditorium.

Candidates for the programs will express preference as to the branch of service they wish to enter at this time. The tests will determine special aptitudes and general knowledge, and will be the basis for selection of officer candidate material for the army, navy, coast guard and marine corps.

No Obligations.

Those who take the tests do not obligate themselves in any way nor will status with local draft boards be affected. High school graduates, seniors in high school who expect to graduate this spring and college students not enlisted in navy V-1, V-5 and V-7. ERC students are eligible, but not obligated, to take the tests.

Programs offer training at the college level in a variety of skills and professions. Training courses vary in length from two to twelve (See TEST, Page 4.)

Linton Says 'No Science Needed After 3200 AD'

CHICAGO, (ACP).—The world no longer will need the aid of the scientist a dozen centuries hence, Dr. Ralph Linton, a visiting professor of anthropology at the university of Chicago, says, for by that time there will be no more scientific worlds to conquer and science will "know all the answers."

"Already there are indications the number of basic inventions is decreasing," Dr. Linton said. "Once we have tapped, for example, all the sources of energy, including atomic energy, there simply won't be any left to tap."

Union Check Stand Checks Anything-But Instruments

"Check this, please," is a usual request at the Union, but the articles which accompany the request over the counter are far from usual.

Bass horns, rifles, shoes, laundry bags, T-squares and drawing boards, gym clothes, drums, ROTC uniforms and even cats are a few of the items often checked.

Even Props.

One night all the props for a variety show were checked and often the shelves are lined with orchestra and band instruments.

Last Wednesday a cello was checked and when the owner came to claim it before the concert Sunday, the brave instrument was found lying on its side with its back cleaving to its strings. To quote the reproach on the Union employees bulletin board, "It looked like a buffalo had stuck his little foot through the side."

So, a new ruling says, in effect, (See INSTRUMENT, Page 4.)

Air Crew Officials Restrict Campus Crosswalk Traffic

The crosswalk running from "R" street to the campus between the new library and Teachers college, will no longer serve as a convenient short-cut for students, announced officials of the college training detachment yesterday.

Altho signs, pronouncing the property as a government reservation with no admittance to civilians have been placed at various intersections since the arrival of the trainees, lack of co-operation on the part of civilians has prompted more definite action, cited the commander of the detachment.

Several instances of further trespassing and loitering about the property surrounding the library were also enumerated by Lt. W. F. Marshall, who stated: "We hate to infringe upon the students' rights to conveniences, but these are government regulations."

UN Officials Agree.

The vacant lot just south of Teachers, extending to "R" street, is still available to civilians, however. The west entrance to Teachers can still be used by students, providing they turn directly north to the main sidewalk.

In agreement with university officials, sentries will be posted on all boundaries of the reservation at the start of next week. In an attempt to avoid any embarrassing situations, the executive office of the training detachment has asked that students and civilians co-operate with the sentries and not cause themselves to be challenged.
